The Bishop is elected by the General Council on nomination made by the Conference to which his first assignment will be made. He is consecrated by the General Council for life. Each Bishop shall be appointed for a term of four years, and shall be eligible for reappointment to the same Conference, or for transfer to another Conference, with the consent of that Conference, so long as the General Council deems it expedient to continue him in office, or until he reaches the established age of retirement.

He is set apart for this office by the imposition of hands of at least one other Bishop and at least three ministers of The United Church of Christ. This rite of consecration may be conducted either in the meeting of the Conference or of the General Council. In order to recognize that the responsibility of the Bishop pertains to the church-at-large, the authorization of his consecration is by the General Council. A representative of the General Council normally takes part in the laying on of hands.

III.

THE PRESBYTERY

1. Nature of the Presbytery.

The Church of Christ manifests itself in many separate congregations, and these need and desire the fellowship of mutual counsel and co-operation. Accordingly, contiguously located churches constitute a natural unit of organization. This is recognized in some form, more or less explicitly, under various names, by all the Denominations participating in the United Church of Christ.

To provide for the mutual concern and responsibility of contiguous local churches in The United Church of Christ if they be not fewer than ten in number, a Presbytery may be constituted. It consists of all ministers, not fewer than ten in number, and one Lay Member from each church within its District. The boundaries of each Presbytery are determined by the churches and Presbyteries concerned, with the advice and approval of the Conference.

2. Voting.

Decisions of a Presbytery are normally by majority vote, but if called for by the delegation from any local church of the Presbytery, votes may be taken by classification, Congregational, Episcopal and Presbyterian; a majority vote in each classification to apply to the churches of that classification (and no other classification), within the boundaries of the Presbytery.

3. Meetings.

The Presbytery meets at least annually and also when specially called at the request of at least five members. It elects its own Officers.

4. Functions.

The Presbytery is responsible for (a) recruiting, preparing, and ordaining ministers; (b) the oversight and aid of its ministers and churches; (c) the standing and the passing of the character of its ministers; (d) the election of Delegates to the Conference and to the General Council; (e) setting in order and promoting those things that pertain to the spiritual welfare and co-operative work of its constituent churches; (f) co-operation in establishing and dissolving pastoral relations between ministers and churches.

IV.

THE CONFERENCE

1. Nature of the Conference.

The Conference embraces a group of contiguous Presbyteries not fewer than three in number. It is the expression in a larger territorial area of the fellowship already manifest in the Presbytery. It expresses mutuality of interest, unity of life, and co-operation. The Conference in The United Church of Christ is comparable to the State Convention, State Association, Synod, Diocese, or Annual Conference of the several Denominations.

2. How Constituted.

The Conference is composed (a) of equal delegations of Ministers and Laymen elected by the Presbyteries on the basis of a ratio determined by the Conference itself and its Presbyteries; or, (b) at its option, with the consent of a majority of its Presbyteries, of all the Ministers and one Lay Member from each local church within the Conference. In either case the number of Members of the Conference of Congregational, Episcopal, and Presbyterian Classifications shall be in ratio to the number of churches of like classifications within the Conference boundaries.

3. Voting.

Decisions of a Conference are normally by majority vote, but if called for by the delegation from any Presbytery of the Conference, votes may be taken by classification, Congregational, Episcopal, and Presbyterian, a majority vote in each classification to apply to the churches of that classification (and no other classification), within the bounds of the Conference.

4. Meetings.

The Conference convenes at least once a year. Each session elects its Presiding Officer, who may be either a Minister or Lay Member, to be known as Moderator, to serve during that session of the Conference, and who is not eligible for re-election.

5. Election of Bishops.

Each Conference has a Bishop nominated or approved by the Conference, though not necessarily from its own membership. The Bishop is ex-officio a member of the Conference, with the right to vote.

6. Functions of the Conference.

The Conference is responsible within its boundaries for the administration and promotion of the work of the Church as a whole. Among its functions are: to review the records and work of the Presbyteries; in co-operation with the Presbyteries concerned to constitute new Presbyteries and, where necessary, to divide those previously constituted; to initiate such work with respect to the Presbyteries, the churches, and the people under their care as may tend to promote the edification of the Church and the extension of the kingdom of God; to elect Delegates to the General Council and to propose to the General Council for its consideration such measures as may be of common interest to the cause of Christ and to the Church as a whole.

V.

THE GENERAL COUNCIL

1. Functions.

The responsibility of the General Council is to foster and express the substantial unity of The United Church of Christ in faith, polity, purpose, and work; to consult upon and devise measures and maintain Agencies for the promotion of the common interests of the Church and the kingdom of God; to do and promote the work of the whole Church in its National, Inter-National and Ecumenical Relations and in general to perform on behalf of The United Church of Christ the various functions hitherto performed by such organizations as the National Convention, General Assembly, General Synod, General Conference, or General Council of the uniting Denominations.

2. Membership.

The General Council is composed of approximately 1,000 Delegates, Minister and Laymen in equal numbers, to be elected as follows: each Presbytery elects two Delegates—one Minister and one Lay Member; the remaining number of Delegates, Ministers and Lay Members in equal numbers, are elected by the Conferences on the basis of church membership, the ratio to be determined by the General Council. The number of Members of the Congregational, Episcopal and Presbyterian classification elected to the General Council by a Conference are in ratio to the number of churches of each classification in that Conference. The Bishops are ex-officio Members of the General Council with right to speak but not to vote.

3. Voting.

Decisions of the General Council are normally by majority vote, but if called for by any member of the Council, votes may be taken by classification, Congregational, Episcopal and Presbyterian, a majority vote in each classification to apply to the churches of that classification (and no other classification) in The United Church of Christ.

4. Meetings.

The General Council holds regular meetings biennially. Special meetings may be called by the Executive Committee. Each session elects its Presiding Officer, who may be either a Minister or Layman, to be known as Moderator, to serve during that session of the General Council, and who is not eligible for re-election. In addition to its Agenda for the transaction of business, it provides services of worship and a Program of inspirational, evangelistic, missionary, devotional and educational addresses for the edification of those present and of the whole Church. Provision is also made for the General Council to conduct a service of consecration of newly elected Bishops.

5. Responsibilities.

The General Council is responsible for co-ordinating and administering the general enterprise of The United Church of Christ as a whole, including evangelism, missions at home and abroad, ecumenical activity, Christian education, ministerial education, stewardship, publishing, ministerial pensions, social action; and to these ends, it creates such corporations and appoints such Boards, Commissions, Committees and Officers as may be needful. It recognizes and fosters organizations of men, women and youth within the membership of The United Church of Christ. The responsibilities of the General Council are discharged on behalf of the constituent local churches, Presbyteries, and Conferences.

6. The Appeal Agency.

For the determination of complaints and reference by individual members, churches, Presbyteries or Conferences an Appeal Agency is constituted consisting of eleven members: six Ministers and five Laymen, elected by the General Council, the term of office to be four years, and the membership to be distributed among the three categories.

7. Conference of Bishops.

The Bishops meet in conference at least once a year, and issue an address on "The State of the Church," setting forth suggestions of procedures and programs as well as an examination of matters spiritual. The Bishops when in conference consult together for the unifying of their administrations.

8. Executive Commission.

In the interim between General Council meetings an Executive Commission is constituted as the Administrative Agency of The United Church of Christ. It is composed of eight Bishops, elected by the Conference of Bishops, twenty Members elected by the General Council, ten Ministers and ten Laymen, two women elected by the Women's Society of The United Church of Christ, and four Members elected by the Council of Secretaries of the General Boards. The three categories are all to be represented.

Adopted as Amended April 30, 1956, see Journal, Page 366.

The following Program was unanimously adopted in its present form by a joint meeting of The Council of Bishops, the Council on World Service and Finance, the Co-ordinating Council, the Council of Secretaries and the President and Treasurer of the Woman's Division of Christian Service at Buck Hill Falls, January 21, 1956. It becomes, therefore, the Report of these bodies to The General Conference.

Introduction

The Christian faith is challenged by an aggressive atheism and a determined materialism in all parts of the world. Neither the strategy of defense nor the tactics of appeasement will suffice. Christianity envisions nothing less than the world-wide conquest of the minds, hearts, and wills of men in the name of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

Communism and secularism must be seen for what they are, namely, attempts to master the mind. Other powerful ideologies constitute a similar challenge. Historically, our day will be seen as a struggle for the minds of men. This is the essential fact.

This struggle is waged in a revolutionary epoch in which political, social, and economic spheres are involved and in which irreconcilable concepts of the nature of man are at war. The common people of the earth demand freedom and abundant life, and thus call for the end of colonialism and of imperialism and the abolition of poverty. They insist that power must be brought under democratic control and that justice must be established by the democratic process; they cry out for economic justice and racial brotherhood.

The Communist proffers revolutionary proposals alleged to be scientifically based and designed to abolish the exploitation of man by man and to set up a classless society. ACTUALLY, COMMUNISM CANNOT OBTAIN THESE GOALS FOR IT LACKS THE COHESIVE POWER OF LOVE WHICH IS ESSENTIAL TO SOCIAL UNITY.

Christians hold that Jesus Christ is Lord. He is to become the Ruler of the kings of the earth, King of kings and Lord of lords. The Communist sees religion, and especially the Christian religion, as an opiate, a means to be used by a ruling class to keep the poor in subjection. He holds that social emancipation necessitates fundamental readjustments in property relations. The Christian knows that man's needs, involving property as they do, root deeper and lie in the soul. It is not revolution nor even reform that takes first place; it is regeneration. A new spirit in the heart of humanity is basic. Man must be reborn. The Church proclaims a Gospel that creates new men in Christ Jesus. Through evangelism and education it would develop the mind that was in Christ.

This mind must be inspired by the teaching and preaching of the local church and must be revealed in the practices of the local community. The mind that was in Christ must become regnant in the thought of each succeeding generation of students in the educational institutions of the Church. It is nothing less than freedom itself that is at stake in the struggle for the minds of men.

Man now possesses weapons by which he may commit suicide. He is fearful that civilization may be cremated in the fires of a hydrogen blast. To insure a peaceful, just and brotherly world, man's mind must be reached and mastered by the mind that was in Christ Jesus. The Quadrennial Program proposed to The General Conference is based upon this conviction, and is therefore conceived in evangelistic and educational terms, designed to bring the full power of the local church and of the educational institutions of the Church to the realization of this objective: The Mind that was in Christ Jesus.

The long-range objectives of the Church are to be found in the Way, the Truth and the Life of Our Blessed Lord and in the subsequent revelation of God's will in the New Testament and in the spirit and practice of the early Church. More specifically, these objectives are set forth in the Disciplinary statements of purpose of the respective Boards and Commissions of the Church. For instance, the Board of Missions declares its long-range objective to be: ". . . to make the Lord Jesus Christ known to all peoples in all lands as their divine Saviour, to persuade them to become his disciples, and to gather these disciples into Christian churches; to enlist them in the building of the kingdom of God; to co-operate with these churches; to promote world Christian fellowship; and to bring to bear on all human life the spirit and principles of Christ." (1952 Discipline, Paragraph 1166) The Constitution of the Church and the Disciplinary provisions for the work of the Agencies of the Church constitute the organizational plan to realize the long-range objectives.

Experience has proved that planning cannot be projected wisely for periods of much longer than a Quadrennium. The Crusade for Christ was succeeded by The Advance for Christ and His Church which in turn was succeeded by a Quadrennium in which the Areas, Conferences, Districts, and local churches were called upon to face the issues of church extension, stewardship and the strengthening of the local church creatively and in terms of regional need rather than upon the basis of an over-all world plan. It now appears wise to propose a Quadrennial Program for 1956-1960. Thus, in effect, the Quadrennial Program is the long-range planning of the Church. It is based upon decisions taken in The General Conference and in keeping with the long-range objectives.

The Discipline of 1952 provides that the Co-ordinating Council "in consultation with The Council of Bishops, the Executive Secretary of each General Agency, and the President and Treasurer of the Woman's Division of Christian Service . . . shall formulate and present to the General Conference, for its action and determination, plans for a unified, ongoing Program for the Church, including long-range objectives." Paragraph 1115:3.

The Co-ordinating Council, The Council of Bishops, the Council on World Service and Finance, the Council of Secretaries, the President and Treasurer of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, and other persons, after due consultation, as directed, accordingly recommended that the Quadrennial Program 1956-60 shall be directed toward (1) the enrichment of the local church under the supervision of The Council of Bishops, and (2) the strengthening of our institutions of learning under the leadership of a Commission set up by The General Conference for that purpose.

A Review

A brief review of the Quadrennial Programs over the last three Quadrenniums and of the philosophy that undergirded them will give us a sense of direction.

The philosophy that has undergirded our successive Quadrennial Programs may be summarized, as follows: By selecting from time to time a particular need and challenge within the Church's total program and for a period interpreting it to our people and calling them to rally to its support, that particular interest is lifted to a new plane of effectiveness and continues its larger service after the special emphasis is ended. The experience of the last twelve years has proved that such emphasis does not curtail the work of other Agencies. We have learned, instead, that all are benefited by the increased effectiveness of one. "If one member be honored, all the members rejoice with it."

1. The first Quadrennial Program (1944-1948) was the Crusade for Christ. We ventured upon a five-prong thrust, including a fund of $27,000,000 for reconstruction and a Church-wide effort in behalf of Evangelism, Church School Enrollment, Stewardship, and at the end of a world conflict, an appeal for a New World Order.

The immediate results of the Crusade were evident. While the immediate achievements were significant, the impact upon the continuing life of the Church was more significant. Something was started. A new missionary strategy emerged. We have witnessed an increasing momentum in the missionary activity of the Church since the dramatic appeal of 1945. Our contributions to this cause have increased far beyond the Crusade level. In 1944, the missionaries under the Foreign Division and the Woman's Division numbered 1,227; in 1954, they numbered 1,513, and this in spite of adverse conditions arising out of a world in conflict. Following the Crusade's evangelistic emphasis, the Board of Evangelism has become one of the most aggressive Agencies of the Church. Since 1944, the Church School enrollment has increased more than two million. The Crusade laid the foundation for our present Stewardship emphasis and quickened the conscience of the Church concerning the evils of war and the Christian hope of peace and brotherhood among all people.

2. In the General Conference of 1948, there was deep conviction that the gains of the Crusade should be a base from which to launch a continuing advance. The Advance for Christ and His Church was the answer, and became the Quadrennial Program for 1948-1952. By careful planning and by making use of the Church's existing organization, the people in our local churches were instructed in our Christian faith and mission and challenged to give increasing and adequate support to the missionary program of the Church through Advance Specials and the Week of Dedication. The response was magnificent—even amazing. The amount contributed to the cause of missions through the Advance of 1948-1952 was considerably larger than the amount contributed to the same cause through the Crusade during the Quadrennium preceding, and we believe our people were more firmly established in the bonds of a common faith.

At the end of the Quadrennium, The General Conference of 1952 mindful of the experience of the two Quadrenniums preceding, wrote the Advance, including the Week of Dedication, into the law of the Discipline, thereby making it a continuing institution in the Church. By this legislation, our special missionary needs and opportunities are continually presented through the regular channels of the Church to every local congregation. A movement thereby became an institution. The Board of Missions is currently receiving nearly one-half its income from the Advance, and the support thus received continues to increase. Though the Advance and its dynamic missionary appeal have been lifted out of the category of a Quadrennial emphasis, it is essential to our expanding Missionary Program that it shall ever be considered an established and continuing feature in the ongoing life of the Church.

3. The General Conference of 1952 made the emphases of the present Quadrennium the Stewardship of Possessions the Youth Emphasis, Church Extension, and perfecting the organization of every local church in line with the legislation which The Conference had adopted. The Reports currently before the General Conference will indicate the progress that has been made in all these areas.

THE QUADRENNIAL PROGRAM

In the light of past experiences and present need, we recommend the following Quadrennial Program for 1956-1960:

I—The Local Church Emphasis

We seek a creative Christian Program which will cause each member of the Church to experience such dedicated and trained relationship to Jesus Christ and His Church that God can use him for a more perfect realization of His purposes in every area of personal and social living and that others may be brought to join in this active fellowship, prepared to co-operate with all Christians toward achieving Christian world community.

The need for such a Program centering in the local church is clearly urgent. Methodism, richly blessed of God, has grown mighty in strength and resources. It has approximately ten million members and as many more adherents in the United States of America and in half a hundred other lands. It has approximately 45,000 churches across the world through which it carries on its manifold ministries. It has more than 25,000 Ministers, 1,500 Missionaries, and hundreds of thousands of trained and consecrated lay workers devoted to its tasks.

The aggregate of its achievements in recent years is indeed impressive. A net gain in membership of more than 1,820,000 has been achieved since the time of Union in 1939. Nearly 1,200 new churches were founded in the United States in this last Quadrennium, and a vast expansion was effected in the physical facilities of thousands of local churches and other Methodist institutions. There has been notable advance in Church School attendance, and the tide has been definitely turned in Methodist Youth Fellowship enrollment and participation. Support of missionary and benevolent enterprises has reached an all-time high. The total giving of The Methodist Church for all causes during the Quadrennium now ending will exceed one and one-quarter billion dollars. The love and loyalty of the local churches have made this impressive record for Methodism possible.

However, pride of achievement must not blind us to our shortcomings. What Methodism as a whole has accomplished is tremendously noteworthy. Nevertheless, how much greater might those total results for the Kingdom be if every local church were brought up to its highest effectiveness and fruitfulness.

Too many of our local churches now function imperfectly. A far more impressive record could be written for Methodism as a whole if all our churches were fully organized according to the provisions of the Discipline and if all of them could be brought to a fresh vision of their potentialities as churches, a proper sense of their responsibility for reaching people, and a fuller dedication of their resources to the causes of the Kingdom.

The uncomfortable fact must also be faced that many of our local churches have dropped into a "status quo" condition or are actually losing ground year after year, while those whose records are most excellent are quick to confess that they are still falling short of their full potential for the Kingdom.

"To whom much has been given, of him much will be required." Strong as The Methodist Church is in numbers and resources, the extent and quality of all of the services of all our local churches must be lifted, if it is to meet its full responsibility to our world and our time in Christ's name. This requires improving the quality of Christian living of all of our pastors and people. We cannot go forward further unless we go deeper in spiritual empowerment and personal dedication.

With this in mind, we make these proposals for enriching and strengthening the local church:

1. Study and Analysis. THERE SHALL BE IN EACH ANNUAL CONFERENCE A QUADRENNIAL PROGRAM COMMITTEE ON LOCAL-CHURCH GOALS, CONSISTING OF THE BISHOP, THE DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENTS, ONE MINISTER FROM EACH DISTRICT, ONE LAYMAN FROM EACH DISTRICT, THE CONFERENCE LAY LEADER, THE PRESIDENT OF THE CONFERENCE SOCIETY OF CHRISTIAN SERVICE, THE PRESIDENT OF THE CONFERENCE YOUTH FELLOWSHIP, A REPRESENTATIVE OF EACH OF THE CONFERENCE BOARDS TAKING PART IN THE PROGRAM AND SUCH ADDITIONAL PERSONS AS THE COMMITTEE SHALL SELECT.

THIS COMMITTEE SHALL ANALYZE THE SITUATION within the Annual Conference with reference to the "production story" of all its churches. Stress is to be maintained throughout the Quadrennium on a Local Church Development Job. The District Superintendent, in his role as counselor, will think through with each church in his District the question of where it is now, the point of larger fruitfulness at which it might arrive, and how to get there. Techniques for doing this are to be provided.

2. Goals. UNDER THE GUIDANCE OF THE ANNUAL CONFERENCE QUADRENNIAL PROGRAM COMMITTEE, AND THE DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENTS, GOALS ARE TO BE DETERMINED FOR THE LOCAL CHURCHES OF AN ANNUAL CONFERENCE.

3. Emphasis:

- a. Christ and Ourselves—"First they gave themselves unto the Lord." 2 Cor. 8:5

There is to be concerted concentration on improving the quality of Christian experience, dedication and Christ-like living of all our ministers, members, and other constituents. Methods will be proposed for use in local churches to clarify and intensify what it means to be a Christian in this kind of a day, to bring about a full dedication consciously made or renewed, to establish holy habits and a Christlike code of conduct which will undergird and express that total dedication.

- b. Christ and Our Resources—"As each has received a gift, employ it for one another as good stewards of God's varied grace." 1 Peter 4:10

There is to be particular and persistent attention given to

(1) The systematic presentation of the life work opportunity and challenge in Church vocations at home and abroad, with prayerful cultivation of choice youth and young adults for such service;

(2) The marshaling and training of volunteer man power and woman power for more adequate and effective lay leadership and lay participation in and through the local church;

(3) The promoting in every local church of stewardship education and commitment, holding up the tithe as our minimum standard of giving;

(4) The improving of the functioning of the Official Board, the Commissions, the Church School, and other basic organizations of the local church;

(5) The encouraging of local churches to provide more adequate buildings and other facilities for Christian education, worship, and other essential ministers.

(6) THE RAISING OF THE LOCAL LEVEL OF PASTORAL SUPPORT, ESPECIALLY IN THOSE ANNUAL CONFERENCES, WHOSE SALARY LEVEL HAS SCARCELY REACHED THE SUBSISTENCE MINIMUM.

- c. Christ and Our Mission—"Ye shall be My witnesses unto the uttermost parts of the earth." Acts 1:8

Fresh measures are to be devised and employed

(1) To nurture in every local church a more vital appreciation of the duty and privilege of witnessing for Christ and His Cause;

(2) To help each local church to face the unreached opportunities and unmet responsibilities confronting Methodism in rural and isolated areas;

(3) To challenge the local church to sponsor new churches in rapidly growing suburban areas and new industrial developments and to give assistance to deteriorating sections of our great cities;

(4) To encourage each church to see that the doors of the local church open out UNTO THE WHOLE COMMUNITY,

AND unto the whole world and to encourage each local church to assume its full share of responsibility in the total program of the Christian World Mission.

d. Christ and Our Freedoms—"Ye shall know the truth and the truth will make you free." John 8:32

A continuing emphasis is to be maintained

(1) To work for the creation of a "responsible society";

(2) To interpret and apply the social implications of the Gospel, such as Freedom from want, insecurity and economic injustice;

WITH SPECIAL EMPHASIS TO CHURCHES IN THE UNDER-DEVELOPED COUNTRIES OF THE WORLD.

Freedom from the evils of liquor, gambling, and narcotics;

Freedom from inadequate care of dependent children, the aged and sicked;

Freedom from racial and class injustice;

Freedom from international disorder and war.

4. Recommendations:

a. That the carrying out of this Program to enrich and strengthen the local church be delegated to The Council of Bishops with the suggestion that The Council call upon all of the General Agencies of the Church for such assistance as The Council of Bishops deems necessary;

b. That the Inter-Board Commission on the Local Church be requested to budget an amount adequate to print and distribute material for this emphasis, as requested by The Council of Bishops;

c. That the Council on World Service and Finance be requested to make a reasonable increase in the promotion funds now made available to the Bishops in order to meet certain Area expense incident to the promotion of this phase of the Quadrennial Program.

d. IN CARRYING OUT THIS PROGRAM THE BISHOPS AND DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENTS SHALL LOOK TO THE PASTORS AND ESTABLISHED COMMISSIONS AND COMMITTEES OF THE OFFICIAL BOARDS TO ACHIEVE THE GOALS OF THIS PROGRAM.

II—THE HIGHER EDUCATION EMPHASIS

The Church Universal lives and labors under the compulsion of the Great Commission: "Go ye therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you." The Commission carries with it the persuasive authority of Him whom we confess to be the Head of the Church.

Our Lord's words are timeless, as pertinent to this era and tasks that challenge us as to the first century. The Church is in the world to capture the hearts of men and to make them faithful disciples of the Nazarene and also to capture their minds and establish them in the truth that leads to abundant and unending life. By missions and evangelism we extend the frontiers of the kingdom. By education we build the City of God. These are two phases of one magnificent enterprise.

We believe that an organized Church-wide effort to expand and strengthen the educational program of The Methodist Church in the United States of America is long overdue. We recommend the following plan for high-lighting the mission of the Church in the field of higher education and for strengthening our institutions of learning for more effective service. The same task of strengthening our institutions of higher learning in other lands where the demand also is imperative and the urgency pressing is entrusted to the Central Conferences in which they are located with the assistance of the Board of Missions through the Division of World Missions and the Department of Work in Foreign Fields of the Woman's Division of Christian Service.

1. There shall be constituted a Quadrennial Commission on Christian Education, composed as follows: The effective Bishops in the United States; TWO CENTRAL CONFERENCE BISHOPS, IF THEY BE IN THE UNITED STATES AT THE TIME OF THE MEETING OF THE COMMISSION; IF MORE THAN TWO ARE IN THE UNITED STATES, THE COUNCIL OF BISHOPS SHALL SELECT THE TWO WHO SHALL SERVE; four Ministers and six Laymen from each Jurisdiction, nominated by The Council of Bishops and elected by The General Conference; the President of the General Board of Education; the Presidents of the three Divisions of the Board and twelve Members of the General Board of Education, chosen by the Board or its Executive Committee; and, in addition, twenty Members-at-Large, chosen by the Commission on account of their experience and ability in the field of education and without reference to Jurisdictional boundaries; the Executive Secretary of the Division of Educational Institutions; the Executive Secretary of the Division of the Local Church;

the Executive Secretary of the Editorial Division, THE GENERAL SECRETARY OF THE DIVISION OF WORLD MISSIONS OF THE GENERAL BOARD OF MISSIONS. The Commission may elect Advisory Members, without vote, at its discretion. The Commission shall elect its Officers for the Quadrennium, and shall have general direction and supervision of the Quadrennial Educational Emphasis in accordance with the directives herein contained.

2. The expenses of the Commission shall be provided out of the World Service receipts of the General Board of Education. It is recommended that the Council on World Service and Finance take this item into account in its schedule of appropriations for the ensuing Quadrennium. The Annual Budget of the Commission shall be approved by the General Board of Education. The headquarters of the Commission shall be in Nashville, Tennessee. It shall have authority to employ such Executive and clerical assistance as it may judge to be necessary for the effective promotion of its work within the limits of its Budget. The Commission on Promotion and Cultivation shall have such responsibility in this field as may be mutually agreed upon by the two Commissions.

We are aware that there are few precedents to guide us in a Church-wide emphasis on Christian Education over a period of time. New trails must be blazed and techniques developed. Accordingly, we recommend certain specific directives, and to these are appended certain suggested procedures which are not mandatory. We believe that the Commission should be given considerable liberty to find its way and to determine its methods.

a. The over-all task committed to the Commission is to strengthen the bonds that bind our institutions of learning to the Church, to lead our schools and colleges to a thorough commitment to Christian standards and ideals, and to lead the Church in an effort to undergird them with adequate moral and financial support. The Commission's Program shall include the institutions of learning related to the Division of Educational Institutions, General Board of Education, including Theological Schools and Wesley Foundations. The Commission shall work in co-operation with the Division of Educational Institutions, the Boards of Education of the respective Annual Conferences, and the Boards of Trustees of the respective Institutions.

b. The Commission shall, by such procedures as it may determine, and in co-operation with the Division of Educational Institutions and with local Foundations, promote the work of the Wesley Foundations, assisting local Founda-

c. It is our conviction that if the distinctive service which our schools and colleges render the Church and society were made clear and convincing the moral and financial support they now receive would be materially increased. The Commission shall therefore especially address itself to the basic task of interpretation, to-wit:

(1) To interpret to our Church-related colleges and universities their place and function in the life of the Church and the obligation of these institutions to be Christian in teaching and in practice; AND IN THEIR POLICIES RELATIVE TO SERVING THE YOUTH OF THE LOCAL CHURCHES, THE CONFERENCES, AND THE AREAS FROM WHOM THEY WOULD RECEIVE SUPPORT.

(2) To interpret to our people of The Methodist Church the distinctive function of our institutions of learning in the Church and in society. The Church must continue to look principally to her own institutions for trained leadership. These institutions, dedicated to Christian ideals, must, as heretofore, be evangelists in the field of higher education to the end that the Christian concept of God and man may become the dominant element in American culture. The Commission shall, as far as practicable, make use of our existing Church organization in the prosecution of this task, setting up with the aid of Bishops, District Superintendents, Conference Secretaries of Education, College Administrators, Wesley Foundation Administrators, and others, Educational Conferences on the District and Annual Conference level; supplying speakers at Annual Conferences, Pastors' Schools, Convocations and other church gatherings; producing appropriate materials for our Church School publications, Conference and Area papers, and for the secular press. It is suggested that the Commission give consideration to the preparation of a popular study book on the Church and its institutions of learning for use in leadership training schools, Pastors' Schools, Church Schools, Men's Clubs, and elsewhere.

d. The Commission shall study the financial status of our Church-related institutions of learning and lead the Church in an effort so to undergird them that their efficiency, academic standards, permanence and support of Christian ideals shall be assured. The Commission shall devise such methods of credit for the local church as it may determine. The Commission shall not undertake a single nation-wide Financial Campaign for the benefit of all our institutions. It is patent to us that in the main these institutions must find support on a Conference, Area or Regional basis. The Commission shall therefore encourage institutions or groups of institutions, Conferences, Areas, or Jurisdictions to assume leadership in providing adequate support for our schools of all grades, and Wesley Foundations, and shall supply expert advice, possible plans of procedure, personal leadership and other assistance as the need may require and as the Commission may determine.

e. We rejoice in the appropriations made by the 1952 General Conference for our Theological Schools, Scarritt College, and The American University. Our entire system of theological education has been strengthened; the Program of Training for Christian service at Scarritt enriched; and the American University in the nation's capital has moved toward a position of security. These institutions stand in a unique relationship to the Church at large.

We recommend that the Council on World Service and Finance include a non-recurring item of $250,000 a year during the coming Quadrennium to establish a School of Inter-National Service in the nation's capital.

The sum of one million dollars thus made available in the Quadrennium shall be used to build the necessary structure and to establish an endowment necessary to maintain the School of Inter-National Service in perpetuity. The distribution shall be as follows: $375,000 for building; $500,000 for endowment; and $125,000 to cover the difference between the tuition and cost of operation during the first four years, until a student body of two hundred has been achieved. At that level, tuition and endowment income will balance the operating budget.

We recommend that authority be given whereby sums above mentioned may be adjusted within the total amount by the Trustees of American University with the approval of the Division of Educational Institutions of the General Board of Education.

We believe that such an undertaking sponsored by the whole Church would not only serve a specific need but would also serve to highlight the Church's renewed educational emphasis and thereby give impetus to the appeals of all our institutions.

The School of Inter-National Service, a school of the American University, shall be regarded as an institution of the entire Church, established by the Church as a basic contribution to religious liberty and to the maintenance of the Protestant tradition of freedom throughout the world. After careful studies as to curriculum, faculty, personnel, and administration, we believe the University, for the sum requested, can house and maintain in perpetuity such a school. It is assumed that the askings for World Service will be increased substantially and that this appropriation will not reduce the amount received by any World Service Agency but will come out of the increased giving which in itself will increase the receipts of all the major World Service Agencies.

3. To the specific directives above named, certain possible procedures are hereunder appended for the guidance of the Commission, the same being for the Commission's consideration without the force of a mandate.

a. It is necessary that on the Annual Conference level there shall be an Agency corresponding to the Quadrennial Commission on Christian Education, for the purpose of initiating and implementing any proposed campaign or policy. We recommend that this body shall be constituted by the Annual Conference and that representation from the Conference Board of Education should be included in the Commission's membership. In the event of two or more Annual Conferences co-operating in an undertaking or appeal, the Quadrennial Commissions of the participating Annual Conferences shall be jointly the implementing body.

b. The Commission may constitute from its membership a Committee to examine the charters of the respective EDUCATIONAL institutions related to The Methodist Church to determine the actual status of relationship. The bonds connecting a number of our EDUCATIONAL institutions with the Church should be strengthened. It is recommended that in instances where such strengthening is desirable the Commission shall encourage the Trustees of the EDUCATIONAL institutions concerned to take appropriate steps to alter their charters accordingly.

c. In an appeal to the membership of the Church for the support of our EDUCATIONAL institutions, at least two approaches are possible; (1) a financial campaign and/or (2) an apportionment transmitted annually by the respective Annual Conferences to local churches and accepted by the respective Quarterly Conferences, as in the case of World Service and Conference Benevolences. The nature of the appeal and the financial goals and apportionments shall be determined by the Annual Conference concerned in each undertaking, and the Quadrennial Commission shall adjust its procedures accordingly. In many cases, special financial campaigns are advisable and will, we believe, be undertaken. It does not appear, however, that periodic appeals will provide for the continuing financial needs of our EDUCATIONAL institutions. It is highly important that we develop in our whole constituency a conscience concerning the continuing support of our EDUCATIONAL institutions and that a procedure be established in all our Annual Conferences by which our people would contribute not less than an average of $1.00 annually per member for the support of EDUCATIONAL institutions related to the respective Annual Conferences AND NOT LESS THAN 30¢ ANNUALLY PER MEMBER FOR THE WESLEY FOUNDATIONS. If such a Program could be made effective among nine and a half million Methodists in the United States, we would witness the dawn of a new day in higher Christian education.

d. We recommend that the Commission give consideration to requesting the several Annual Conferences to set aside a certain percentage of the sums received for their schools and colleges, such percentage to be remitted to the Division of Educational Institutions and administered by it for educational institutions where there is special need, WITH DUE RECOGNITION OF THE SPECIAL NEEDS OF THE EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS HISTORICALLY OPERATED FOR NEGROES.

e. We recommend that the Commission give consideration to recommending to all our EDUCATIONAL institutions that each shall set aside out of funds received from the Church a certain portion for permanent endowment, thus establishing a backlog of security.

f. We recommend that the Commission give consideration to constituting a Committee to work out a procedure whereby an appeal may go to our people in every local church to leave in their wills a bequest in some amount for some EDUCATIONAL institution of learning in the Church.

g. We recommend that the Commission give consideration to constituting a Committee to promote a plan of appeal to the alumni of all our EDUCATIONAL institutions. If, for example, each alumnus should recognize his obligation to the college or university at which he received his training and should resolve to return to her, either by gift during his life time or by bequest, the cost of his education over and above the fees he paid, a new loyalty would appear and a continuing avenue of support would be opened.

For more than two centuries, the Methodist movement has been a stalwart patron of education. Its beginning may be traced to Oxford University. John Wesley, our spiritual father, was a scholar as well as an evangelist. His spiritual zeal would hardly have changed the religious climate of England and America in the Eighteenth Century had there not been coupled with it a trained and discerning mind. As the Methodist movement pushed westward over the American continent, it left in its wake schools as well as churches. The Circuit Riders were pioneers in building colleges and universities. Many of them remain, and they are the Church's indispensable asset. Such is our heritage.

The perils and opportunities of the present challenge us more insistently than the heritage of yesterday. We live in an age of moral confusion. Materialism and Communism defy the Christian concept of God and man. The centuries prove that the Church builds itself into the culture of a people through its institutions of learning. We look forward to the day when our institutions of learning, committed to the Christian ideal shall occupy as pivotal a position in the total program of the Church as missions and evangelism.

IN CONCLUSION

In recommending a Quadrennial Program for the four years ahead, it is assumed that certain causes that have been highlighted during previous Quadrenniums will for the indefinite future bear more abundant fruit, notably evangelism, stewardship, church extension and the missionary advance. We now set our feet on a new trail and direct our special effort to the enrichment of the local church and the strengthening of our institutions of learning. The thousands of local congregations where the people live and labor and worship together make the Church what it is. The enrichment of the local church is the enrichment of the whole Body. Our institutions of learning are the Church's indispensable bulwarks against the encroaching tide of secularism and unbelief. We dare not hope to win the long conquest unless our bulwarks are strong. A Program that, on the one hand, looks to the enrichment of the great Body of the Church and, on the other, builds the defense of Christian idealism and trains the leadership of tomorrow is fraught with unmeasured possibilities. Under that conviction and conscious of the trust that is committed to the Church, this Quadrennial Program is presented to The General Conference.

The Co-ordinating Council,

CHARLES W. BRASHARES, President

JOHN R. VAN SICKLE (*) Secretary.

SUBJECT:—SPECIAL DAYS AND GENERAL MATTERS
AMENDED May 2, 1956. See Journal, Pages 505-506, 509,
May 3, 1956. See Journal, Page 536.

Adopted May 3, 1956, see Journal, Page 559.

Elected by The General Conference of 1952, the Members of the newly-created Co-ordinating Council met in September of that year to effect its organization. As directed by Par. 1112, 1952 Discipline, the following Officers were elected Bishop Charles W. Brashares, Chicago, President.

Judge Ivan Lee Holt, Jr. (*), Vice-President.

Mr. J. Wesley Hole (), Los Angeles, Secretary. Mr. Hole () later resigned from the Council and Mr. John R. Van Sickel (*), Rockford, Illinois, was elected Secretary.

An Executive Committee was chosen including the three Officers plus Mrs. Mary Means Drake (), Nashville, Tennessee; Rev. E. H. Blackard, Asheville, North Carolina; Rev. Chester A. McPheeters, Detroit, Michigan; Mr. G. Wesley Lewis (), Pittston, Pennsylvania; Mrs. E. B. White (), Jacksonville, Florida; Bishop A. Frank Smith, Houston, Texas; Mr. J. P. Stafford (), Cary, Mississippi; and Mr. Paul G. James (*), Des Moines, Iowa.

The second meeting of the Council was held in July, 1953. At that time four major Sub-Committees of the Council were established. The Committees and their Chairmen:

Program—Rev. Chester A. McPheeters

Organizational Structure—Mr. J. P. Stafford (*)

Review—Judge Ivan Lee Holt, Jr. (*)

Property Matters and Methodist Foundation—Mr. Paul G. James (*)

Every member of the Council was assigned to one of these four Committees.

During the Quadrennium the Council held these meetings:

September 9, 1952—Chicago

July 28-29, 1953—Chicago

January 12-13, 1954—New York

May 4-5, 1954—Chicago

January 14, 1955—Cincinnati

June 29-30, 1955—Chicago

November 16-17-18, 1955—Chicago

January 21-22-23, 1956—Buck Hill Falls, Pennsylvania

The Co-ordinating Council's work was developed through long hours of Committee work at Council sessions, at special Committee meetings between Council sessions, and through extensive correspondence and study on the part of Committee Chairmen and individual Committee members.

PROGRAM

Pursuant to Par. 1115, Section 3, 1952 Discipline, "In consultation with The Council of Bishops, the Executive Secretary of each General Agency, and the President and the Treasurer of the Woman's Division of Christian Service, it shall formulate and present to The General Conference, for its action and determination, plans for a unified, ongoing Program of the Church, including long-range objectives. The financial objectives shall be recommended by the Council on World Service and Finance to The General Conference for its action," the Co-ordinating Council at its January, 1954, meeting initiated plans for consultation with the other groups regarding the Quadrennial Program. The following principle was adopted as a basis of thinking for the Consultation Conference:

"As we look forward to the Consultation we feel we should seek a dynamic Program which will cause each member of the Church to experience such a dedicated and trained relationship to Jesus Christ and to His Church that God can use him for a more perfect realization of His Purpose in every area of personal and social living; and that others may be brought to join this active fellowship prepared to co-operate with all Christians toward achieving Christian World Community."

In May, 1954, the consulting groups met with the Co-ordinating Council to begin general discussion of a New Quadrennial Program. A Committee of 20 on Program was established by the adoption of this motion:

"That it is the sense of this group that the members of the Sub-Committee on Program for the Co-ordinating Council shall, with four representatives from the Council of Secretaries, four from The Council of Bishops, Mrs. Frank G. Brooks (*), and one representative from the Council on World Service and Finance meet to discuss further the 1956-60 Quadrennial Program. That this Committee should develop a Specific Program to be brought before the larger group (The Co-ordinating Council and the other representatives and Bishops now in session) for action. The final editorial preparation for presentation to The General Conference of 1956 will be done by the Co-ordinating Council."

This Committee had numerous subsequent meetings and finally named an Editorial Committee of five persons—Bishop Oxnam, Bishop Harrell, Bishop Short, Rev. C. A. McPheeters, and Rev. H. L. Weiss—to serve as a Final Drafting Committee. The work of this Committee was approved by the Committee of 20 and, in turn, presented at a joint meeting of the Consulting groups in January, 1956, at which time the Quadrennial Program was adopted in its present form for presentation to The General Conference of 1956. At the request of the consulting groups in the January meeting, copies of the proposed Program were mailed to all General Conference Delegates and Alternates about March 1, 1956.

SPECIAL DAYS

Pursuant to Par. 1115, Section 4, 1952 Discipline, "It shall recommend to The General Conference, after consultation with The Council of Bishops and the Council on World Service and Finance, the number and timing of all Special Days which are to be observed on a Church-wide basis, except that The Council of Bishops and the Council on World Service and Finance may authorize a Special Financial Appeal in an emergency," the Co-ordinating Council after such consultation recommends that these days be observed:

SUGGESTED LEGISLATION

To Replace Paragraph 761, 5

The Week of Dedication shall be observed annually beginning with Ash Wednesday and culminating in the First Sunday in Lent which shall be designated as the Day of Dedication.

To Follow Paragraph 1552

World Order Sunday shall be observed annually in each local church on the Sunday of or immediately preceding November 11th.

So that the entire Paragraph shall read:

"Each local church may provide for the promotion of world peace through a Church Committee on World Peace, which shall report to the Official Board. World Order Sunday shall be observed annually in each local church on the Sunday of or immediately preceding November 11th."

ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

The General Conference of 1952 specifically directed your Co-ordinating Council in Paragraph 1115, Section 2, as follows: "It shall study the General Organizational Structure of The Methodist Church and recommend to The General Conference such changes as it considers essential to maintain effective and economical operation."

Pursuant thereto, your Council invited suggestions from all of the General Boards, Agencies and Commissions of the Church. Study, discussion and work continued throughout the quadrennium and as a result thereof your Council submits for your consideration the following specific recommendations:

1. General Agency Membership

The 1952 General Conference discussed the size of the membership on General Boards and Agencies and finally for reasons which The General Conference considered good adopted a new schedule of reduced memberships for each General Agency as outlined in the 1952 Discipline.

As our work progressed the Co-ordinating Council received proposals suggesting certain increases in the number of members on several of the General Boards and Agencies. These suggestions were given careful consideration, but, based on the reasons for the decision of the 1952 General Conference, we now recommend that the number of members on General Boards and Agencies remain the same for another quadrennium. We further recommend that needed adjustments be made within the limits of the present number of members on each Agency, particularly by electing Members-At-Large in such a way as to correct any inequities that may exist.

2. Tenure

The 1952 General Conference adopted an eight-year limit for the members serving on General Boards and Agencies, beginning with 1952. (Par. 1104.) The Council has received complaints from some General Boards and Agencies with respect to this limitation. Careful consideration has been given to the feeling existing in some of the General Boards that the wisdom and experience needed, particularly in the handling of funds and investments, is adversely affected by the eight-year rule.

Your Council, therefore, recommends that the word "eight" in Par. 1104 be changed to "twelve"; and that in order to provide for continuing Divisions, Boards, Commissions, and Councils, it is recommended that each nominating and electing body give special attention to rotation of its representatives on these Agencies.

Change Paragraph 1104

Line 3 substitute "twelve" for "eight" and add "In order to provide for continuing Divisions, Boards, Commissions, and Councils, it is recommended that each nominating and electing body give special attention to rotation of its representatives on these Agencies."

So that the Paragraph shall read:

"Tenure on any Division, Board, Commission, or Council except The Council of Bishops and The Judicial Council, shall be limited to twelve consecutive years; provided, however, that this limitation shall take effect from The General Conference of 1952 and shall not be retroactive. In order to provide for continuing Divisions, Boards, Commissions, and Councils, it is recommended that each nominating and electing body give special attention to rotation of its representatives on these Agencies."

3. M.C.O.R.

Inasmuch as M.C.O.R. has rendered great service during this quadrennium in the field of relief and rehabilitation and its continuance as a separate Organization has been requested by The Council of Bishops, the Council on World Service and Finance and the Board of Missions; we, therefore, recommend the continuance of the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief as a separate Organization, in its present form, by the retention of Paragraph 2009 of the 1952 Discipline.

4. Social Action Boards

The Co-ordinating Council has received and studied the suggestion that there should be a merger of the three Social Action Boards, namely, Board of Temperance, Board of World Peace, and Board of Social and Economic Relations. All three of these Boards oppose such a move at this time.

The Council recommends that there be a continuing study of the matter, especially as the work of these Boards develops through the next quadrennium. Awaiting the conclusions that may be drawn from future experience, the Council recommends that no action be taken to effect a merger at this time.

(See Journal, pages 913-914. Report No. 7 of the Standing Legislative Committee on Conferences, adopted May 7, 1956, reads as follows:

"An Annual Conference may, if it so desires unify into one Board of Christian Social Relations, the functions and concerns of any two or all of the following Boards: Board of World Peace, Board of Temperance, and Board of Social and Economic Relations."

See Journal, page 1005 for similar action taken by the Standing Legislative Committee on State of the Church on the same matter in the adoption Report No. 5 of that Committee. Editor.)

5. Survey Recommendations

Pursuant to Par. 1115, Section 8, 1952 Discipline. "During the 1952-56 Quadrennium it shall have power to consider and decide what, if any, action shall be taken in regard to those recommendations in the report of the Church Survey Commission which have not been specifically covered in legislation adopted by The General Conference of 1952," the Council reviewed all the recommendations of the Survey Commission. We found that almost all had been acted on directly or indirectly by the 1952 General Conference. In view of the considerable reorganization of the Church effected by that General Conference, and its overall effectiveness, the Council does not propose any action on the remaining recommendations.

PROPERTY MATTERS AND METHODIST FOUNDATION

1. Acquisition of Property

Paragraph 1115, Section 7, provides that the Co-ordinating Council "shall consider the plans of any General Agency proposing to acquire real estate or erect a building as prescribed in Paragraph 1107 and determine whether the proposed acquisition or erection is in the best interest of The Methodist Church. On the basis of that determination, it shall approve or disapprove the project."

Paragraph 1107 states: "An Agency proposing to acquire real estate or erect a building to house its administrative activities or related operations in the continental United States shall present its plans in the formative stage to the Co-ordinating Council for approval."

Pursuant to the foregoing, the Co-ordinating Council reports as follows with respect to the actions taken on applications for the approval of the purchase of real estate:

"January 12-13, 1954—The Co-ordinating Council disavowed jurisdiction with respect to the application for approval of the proposed purchase of property in Louisville by the Board of Missions for parking purposes.

May 4-5, 1954—The Co-ordinating Council disavowed jurisdiction with respect to the application by the Board of Education for authority to purchase certain property in Nashville for rental (investment) purposes only.

"January 13, 1955—The Co-ordinating Council approved the plan submitted by the Board of Publication for the erection of an office building in Nashville, Tennessee."

(Section "2. Methodist Foundation," with "Suggested Legislation" was deleted on motion of K. Morgan Edwards (Southern California, California-Arizona—W), duly seconded, see Journal, pages 544-546 and 559. Editor)

REPORT NO. 3. CO-ORDINATING COUNCIL
SUBJECT: PROGRAM JOURNAL

Adopted May 3, 1956. See Journal, Pages 559-570.

At the July 29, 1953, meeting the Co-ordinating Council received a Resolution from the Rock River Annual Conference directing its attention to the overlapping of periodicals, bulletins and leaflets concerning the Programs of the General Boards and Agencies, and the alleged failure of the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation to take any action under Paragraph 753.2 of the 1952 Discipline toward establishing a Single Program Journal.

Pursuant to Paragraph 1115, Section 1, of the 1952 Discipline: "On request of a General Board or other Agency, or of an Annual Conference, it shall review questions involving overlapping in activity or lack of co-operation among or within General Agencies, and shall make recommendations to the Boards or Agencies involved for resolving such issues . . .," and after lengthy and careful consideration by the Council Review Committee and itself, the Council declined to act on the Resolution at its January 14, 1955 meeting. It was the Council's opinion that it had no general authority under Paragraph 1115, because The General Conference had specifically acted on the matter in Paragraph 753. 2, which latter Paragraph the Council construed not to be mandatory.

The efforts of the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation to meet the directives of the 1952 General Conference with reference to Resource and Promotional Material are detailed in its Report to this Conference. The Co-ordinating Council is appreciative of the considerable progress the Commission has made toward the solution of this problem.

However, the Council at its November 16, 1955, meeting voted to recommend that The General Conference make mandatory the establishment of a Single Program Journal by the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation. It is the Council's opinion that in addition to reducing the number of periodicals and putting this material in a more convenient form for the use of church leaders, substantial savings could be effected by such legislation.

PROPOSED LEGISLATION

To become Paragraph 753. 2a.

The Commission shall publish a free Local Church Program Journal for Pastors and local church leaders. This Journal shall present to the local church for its use the Program and Promotional Materials of the General Agencies in a correlated manner and shall be in lieu of General Agency Promotional Periodicals. This does not apply to The Methodist Woman and The Methodist Layman.

PROMOTION AND PUBLICATION

(See Paragraphs 1584-1586, 1952 Discipline)

Adopted May 7, 1956. See Journal, Page 994.

To The General Conference of 1956:

The purposes of the Inter-Agency Commission on Cultivation, Promotion and Publication, as set forth in the "Discipline" of 1952, Paragraphs 1584-87, have been faithfully carried out throughout the quadrennium.

The four Agencies working in these related fields have maintained constant Inter-Staff co-operation.

The manner in which two of the Agencies composing this Commission are constituted, having in their membership representatives of all the others, has contributed to the development of close understanding.

This in turn has made harmonious operation easy and natural. It has also facilitated creative, unified planning.

So far as the members of this Commission are aware, there have been no instances of overlapping of function or duplication of activity requiring the advisory services of this Inter-Agency Commission.

Foreword

The Section of Ministerial Education, in cooperation with the Theological Schools, is given the responsibility to "continue the Study of the Ministry and report on the subject to each General Conference." (See Paragraph 1377, section 2, of the 1952 Discipline.)

Professor Frederick A. Shippey of Drew Theological Seminary and Professor Earl D. C. Brewer of the School of Theology of Emory University, have been asked to make this study, in collaboration with The Section of Ministerial Education. The thorough and extensive quality of their research is deeply appreciated.

The information in this study is revealing, challenging and encouraging. Leaders and educators of The Methodist Church will find valuable information for their guidance in the following pages.

PART I

The Ministry Today

Ministers in The Methodist Church today can be classified for purposes of discussion into three groups: Conference Members, persons On Trial and Supply Pastors. This suggests the pattern of treatment which follows. Sources of data will be given at the appropriate points as the discussion proceeds.

EFFECTIVE MINISTERS

Conference Members are those Ministers who have satisfied the requirements for Admission, have been received into Full Membership, and are serving currently under Episcopal Appointment either as Pastors or in Special Appointment. They are called "effective" and comprise numerically the largest group in the Methodist ministry. Obviously they belong to Annual Conferences.

This is the fourth quadrennial survey* which has been made of effective Methodist ministers. Materials assembled furnish a factual basis for considering chronological age, educational attainment, manner of admission and mobility of ministers. Wherever possible materials from previous Quadrennial Reports of the Commission on Ministerial Training are included and brought up to date. In order to implement the idea of continuity with the past, a comparison was drawn at several points with findings reported in 1948 and in 1952. However the current study goes beyond previous surveys in scope and content. New materials greatly enrich the treatment.

Chronological Age

Since many candidates for the Methodist Ministry enter the profession via Full Membership in an Annual Conference) at the age of twenty-three years and then retire automatically at the first Annual Conference session after reaching the seventy-second birthday, these terminal years were taken as basic to the present analysis. The intervening time period was divided into five-year intervals in order to make a comparison with certain data found in earlier reports.

These time categories describe the arrangement of materials in CHART 1. Materials for 1948, 1952 and 1956 are placed graphically side by side in ten triple columns for facile visual comparison. Evidently a "youth" movement is gaining in proportions within the Methodist clergy. Today 60.3 per cent of the Ministers are under forty-eight years of age. This represents an increase of 28 per cent in eight years. Whereas in 1948 one person out of two was found in the first half of his ministry, in 1956 three out of five are so classified. This ratio is probably influenced by the Ministerial Recruitment Program and the delayed accessions following the war period.

* Earlier studies by the Commission on Ministerial Training are these written by Murray H. Leiffer—A Study of Retirement and Recruitment in The Methodist Ministry, 1944; The Methodist Ministry in 1948; and The Methodist Ministry in 1952.

 See APPENDIX II for a discussion of methodological procedure.

MEDIAN AGES OF MINISTERS IN THE EFFECTIVE RELATIONSHIP
1948, 1952 AND 1956 COMPARED BY JURISDICTION

Jurisdiction	Jan. 1, 1948a	Jan. 1, 1952a	Jan. 1, 1956
Total Church	49.2 yrs.	48.6 yrs.	43.8 yrs.
Central	51.7 yrs.	53.0 yrs.	48.4 yrs.
North Central	49.3 yrs.	48.0 yrs.	43.7 yrs.
Northeastern	48.2 yrs.	48.8 yrs.	44.4 yrs.
South Central	52.3 yrs.	49.1 yrs.	44.2 yrs.
Southeastern	47.8 yrs.	47.9 yrs.	42.3 yrs.
Western	47.0 yrs.	46.2 yrs.	42.8 yrs.

Source: a. Leiffer, 1952, p. 21.

Attention is turned next to median ages of Ministers in the effective relationship for the years 1948, 1952 and 1956. By definition, a median is the middle item of a series or in this case it is the middle person in terms of age. The individual stands midway between the oldest and youngest clergyman.

Considering the general Methodist situation as disclosed in TABLE 1, one notes since the beginning of 1948 the median age has dropped from 49.2 years to 43.8 years. Modest decline in the earlier four-year period was followed by an abrupt dip during the most recent quadrennium. Possibly this trend toward a younger clergy is related to the increasing number of persons Received On Trial, Continued On Trial and eventually Admitted into Full Membership by Annual Conferences. In each category, a record number of candidates entered the Methodist ministry during the quadrennium just concluding. The figures are the highest since 1940. Evidently the remarkable influx of candidates has forced down the median age of Ministers. Among the six Jurisdictions South Central dropped 8.1 years, while North Central and Southeastern lowered the median age 5.6 and 5.5 years respectively. Southeastern and Western now boast the youngest median ages while North Central occupies third position. Central remains the oldest with 48.4 years. It is to be wondered how much the Central Jurisdiction has been affected by the Denomination-wide Ministerial Recruitment Program.

Age distribution among Jurisdictions reveals some striking contrasts. The materials are arranged into four-year units to conform to the quadrennial system of The Methodist Church. Jurisdictional data for effective Ministers are presented in CHART 2 and CHART 3.

What is conspicuous in the distribution for the Central Jurisdiction is the heavy concentration of persons forty-eight years of age and older. Above this midpoint in the possible working life of a Minister, there are more than one half (51.6 per cent) of the clergy. The Central has the highest figure and its leaders very properly are concerned. Further, let the reader note the large proportion of persons in the 64-67 age category. In contrast to the accumulation of older men, only 9.2 per cent of the clergy is found under thirty-six years of age. In other Methodist Jurisdictions three times as many Ministers, percentage-wise, are as classified.

An inspection of the age-distribution chart for the North Central and the South Central Jurisdictions discloses oddly kindred phenomena. Both report approximately 40 per cent (39.7 and 40.8 respectively) of their effective Ministers in the age levels of forty-eight and above. Likewise at the opposite polar extreme both territories have approximately the same number of persons, percentage-wise, under thirty-six years of age—27.2 and 28.3 per cent.

The remaining three Jurisdictions, Northeastern, Southeastern, and Western, contrast with one another. The first has the highest percentage (43.8) of Ministers forty-eight years and older. The others report 36.5 and 34.4 respectively. Noteworthy also is the smoothed out age distribution within the two Eastern Jurisdictions which contrasts sharply with the jagged Western configuration. As for clergy under thirty-six years of age, the Southeastern leads the way with 31.8 per cent, followed by the

Educational Attainment

Many people accept the principle that the amount of formal education is positively related to effectiveness in the ministry. Hence even a brief account of scholastic attainment engenders interest and sharpens the relevance of the present discussion. Materials summarized in CHART 4 reveal a distribution ranging across a six-point scale: High School or Less, some College, College Graduate, some Seminary, Seminary Graduate, and Graduate Study. Methodist clergy are found in these useful categories.

Only 2.0 per cent of the effective Ministers responding in the current Survey reported an education which terminated on the elementary or secondary level. At the opposite extreme twelve times as many persons concluded formal training in a university graduate school. Further, more than seven Methodist clergymen out of ten (72.8 per cent) graduated from a seminary. An additional 10 per cent received some theological training.

Among the Jurisdictions noteworthy variation appears when a comparison is made of persons who received some theological education or possess a seminary degree. The Central reports 57.2 per cent so classified in contrast with Western's 94.5 per cent. South Central approximately matches Southeastern (75.8 and 76.7 per cent respectively), while North Central and Northeastern rank together (88.0 and 88.1 respectively). Weakness in formal education among clergy is apparent in the Central Jurisdiction. The over-all percentage for Methodism in the present Survey is 82.7 per cent.

Theological education was procured either in one of the ten Methodist seminaries or elsewhere. The Denomination educated 77.8 per cent of its own clergy for the tasks of the ministry. However, approximately one effective Minister out of five received his theological training outside The Methodist Church. Among the reasons advanced are reluctance to travel beyond one's region, lack of funds and/or work opportunities, and personal preference. South Central Jurisdiction reported the lowest percentage (11.1 per cent) of Ministers trained outside Methodist seminaries.

Despite the likelihood that the present Survey leans somewhat favorably toward education, findings cited above are in substantial agreement with the general trends of The Methodist Church. Because better educational standards have been stressed within the Denomination in recent decades, Annual Conferences have raised steadily the requirements for Admission. Candidates have responded by achieving a higher level of training. Altogether the evidence points to the revolution in the Methodist educational standards for the pastorate which has occurred since the turn of the century. Today Methodism has an educated ministry. This is the desired and accepted pattern virtually everywhere.

Manner of Admission

How effective Ministers actually attained Full Membership in Annual Conferences is a vital consideration. According to the Discipline the relationship can be achieved in at least three ways: (1) under Seminary Rule, (2) by Conference Course of Study and (3) by Transfer from another Denomination.

Results drawn from current Survey disclose that 58.1 per cent of three ministers out of five were admitted under the Seminary Rule. This focuses attention upon a new pattern in The Methodist Church, one which naturally grows out of high educational attainment. An educated clergy utilizes this pathway into the Annual Conference. Indeed extensive formal training and the Seminary Rule go together. Approximately two thirds or more persons in the North Central, Northeastern and Western Jurisdictions enter into Full Membership in this manner. Slightly less than one half the personnel of the three remaining Jurisdictions followed this procedure. General findings are visually summarized in CHART 5.

A declining ratio of candidates is entering into Full Connection via the Conference Course of Study. Indeed the figure among effective Ministers is only 41.1 per cent according to the present Survey. Three Jurisdictions reported a third or less of their Members in this category, while the Central, South Central and Southeastern have approximately one half of the present clergy so characterized. But everywhere the figures are shrinking. This change marks the passing of an epoch in Methodism and is a harbinger for a new era.

Only 0.8 per cent have entered the Methodist ministry by transfer from other Denominations. Among Jurisdictions a slightly higher percentage was noted in the Central and the North Central. Almost all Methodist clergy derive from the Denomination itself. A thriving Denomination produces its own leadership.

The trends in the manner of Admission into Full Connection were studied also. Several years before unification, Methodism reached a point where numerically the customary manner of entering a Conference shifted from Conference Course of Study to the Seminary Rule. This is borne out in the present Survey where an analysis was made of the reception year into Full Connection as compared with manner of Admission. Prior to 1937 as shown in TABLE 5 more than one half (55.4 per cent) of the Admissions came from the ranks of those in the Conference Course of Study. Two decades later the figure had dropped to 20.0 per cent, or one out of five persons.

By way of contrast individuals brought in under Seminary Rule before 1937 total 43.4 per cent. Since 1936, however, this mode of receptions vaulted to 77.4 per cent, almost doubling in volume. More than three fourths of the clergy who were admitted in the last twenty years joined Methodism this way. Thus education at a theological school has now become a normal expectancy within the Denomination. This remarkable change which coincides approximately with unification reveals both a hopeful trend in ministerial education and the Church's desire to keep pace with the changing world.

Mobility of Ministers

Itinerancy within an Annual Conference is customary for Methodist Ministers. Occasionally a clergyman will even cross Conference boundaries. However, the aspect to be discussed here is Inter-Jurisdictional mobility. To what extent do Ministers migrate from one region to another? What meaning do such facts have? In order to investigate this phenomenon, data were assembled showing current Annual Conference Membership as compared with the Annual Conference in which the person's initial license to preach was granted. Findings are summarized at the Jurisdictional level.

It can be noted from a perusal of TABLE 6 that 17.1 per cent of the effective Ministers and persons On Trial were initially licensed to preach elsewhere than in the Jurisdiction of current affiliation. In short, approximately one minister out of six migrated to his present field of labor. Among the Jurisdictions, the percentage runs from 5.3 (Central) to 49.6 (Western). Note that every other Minister in the Western Jurisdiction was first licensed to preach in another region of the United States. The North Central Jurisdiction reported more than one out of five so classified. The Northeastern revealed a ratio of one out of six. Certainly no doubt should remain respecting the fact of the inter-regional mobility of Methodist ministers.

A surprising discovery is the pattern which mobility takes. While 47.7 per cent of the individuals who migrated went westward, more than one half settled east of the Rocky Mountains. Apparently there exists no runaway trend to the far west. Rather the westward shift includes those who relocated from Northeastern to North Central and Southeastern to South Central jurisdictions. Further, 26.3 per cent of the Inter-Jurisdictional mobility is eastward. Another 15.0 per cent is northward, followed by 11.0 per cent to the south. The pattern is a complicated one.

Probably a more adequate description of the migrations would treat them as a kind of unofficial and unregulated shuffling of clergymen which is produced by a variety of recognizable forces: poor health, friendship ties, "itching feet" and the deployment of manpower to serve newly developing areas. Every Jurisdiction is involved in the process. This Inter-Regional migration goes on without official cultivation. It has the effect of opening up all of the United States as a field of service to the Methodist clergyman. Undoubtedly this is one of the ways in which a cross-fertilization of ideas, practices and theological insights takes place. Mobility thus understood can facilitate denominational and ecumenical progress.

MINISTERS ON TRIAL

A brief discussion of persons currently On Trial adds significantly to a knowledge of the Methodist ministry. According to this study^o Methodist Ministers On Trial predominantly are young men. Materials summarized in TABLE 6A bear out this contention. The over-all figure in the age group of 20-35 years is 83.6 per cent. Six individuals out of seven are found in the category. Even a casual scrutiny of the Jurisdictions further discloses the relative youthfulness of individuals On Trial. Five Jurisdictions reported 80 per cent or more under 36 years of age. Only Central has a majority of persons On Trial whose ages exceed 35 years. All other Jurisdictions feature an emphasis upon young men. Persons On Trial represent a youth movement everywhere except in the Central Jurisdiction.

Evidently these persons are for the most part still receiving their formal education. Yet consider the fact that 94.7 per cent already are college graduates and beyond in educational attainment. This is an additional reminder that seminary education has now become the most common pathway into the Methodist ministry. It is a dominant finding of the present survey.

Concerning the expected manner of qualification for Full Connection in an Annual Conference, certain observations can be made. The data are summarized in TABLE 6A. Most persons plan to enter under the Seminary Rule. Indeed the over-all percentage is 82.3. This means that approximately six out of seven candidates are planning to meet the highest educational requirements for the ministry in The Methodist Church. They have accepted this academic requirement as a reasonable expectation. More than 90 per cent of the candidates in the North Central and Western jurisdictions (94.7 and 90.8 per cent respectively) are striving toward this goal. Elsewhere the Northeastern has 86.4 per cent while South Central and Southeastern report three fourths of the persons so classified. Only Central finds but one out of two planning to be Admitted under the Seminary Rule.

When will these candidates present themselves? According to present information 60.3 per cent plan to qualify for Full Connection in 1956 28.4 per cent in 1957, 8.4 per cent in 1958, and 2.9 per cent in 1959. However, this turnover is an endless process with new candidates ever appearing as older ones move into Full Connection. It is an unending story of youth seeking to serve in the Church.

PART II

The Supply Ministry

INTRODUCTION

A "Supply Pastor" is a minister serving a Methodist charge without effective membership in the Annual Conference in which the charge is located.

In recent years the Supply Ministry has become an increasingly large proportion of the total Methodist ministry. According to Table 7, the number of Pastoral Charges increased approximately 2,200 from 1941 to 1955, while the number of charges supplied or to be supplied increased by over 3,200. The Charges supplied or to be supplied increased from 22.3 per cent in 1941 to 34.0 per cent in 1950, but declined to 33.5 per cent in 1955. Yet the number of persons classified as Supply Pastors continued upward during 1955, moving from 5,918 to 6,234. It is by no means certain that the peak has been reached. This startling increase in the number of Charges served by Supply Ministers may be regarded as one of the most important, though disturbing, changes taking place in Methodism during the fifteen years following unification.

A questionnaire (see Appendix II, Exhibit B) was sent to all Supply Pastors whose names and addresses were available. (See the methodological note in Appendix I, especially Table B.) There were 2,838 valid responses, and this Report is largely based on an analysis of these questionnaires and appropriate data from previous studies.¹

Types

There are four major types of ministers serving as Supplies. These are: (1) Student Supplies who are in college or seminary; (2) Retired Ministers who serve Charges; (3) Approved Full-time Supplies who give full time to the ministry but do not meet the requirements for Annual Conference membership, and (4) Approved Part-time Supplies (other than students) who serve on a part-time basis while engaging in other occupations. An additional category, (5) other, was used in the questionnaire to cover special situations such as men serving in Conferences other than their own, Supplies serving on a temporary basis between Annual Conference sessions, ministers of other Denominations serving Methodist churches, and so on. Appendix V, Table A, shows the number of respondents by types and Jurisdictions.

Although strict comparability may not obtain, the percentage distribution of Supply Pastors by types for 1948, 1952 and 1956 is shown in Chart 7. In 1956, the percentage of students declined from the 1952 level and was slightly less than in 1948. The Retired Supplies scored a much lower percentage in 1956 than in the previous studies. A brief examination reveals that the method of securing addresses did not include the Retired men in the same proportion as the other types. It is likely that many of those receiving questionnaires did not return them under the notion that the study did not apply to them as former Conference members.

There has been a sharp reversal of the 1948-1952 picture with an increase to 45.7 per cent for Full-time Supplies. This, together with the continued increase in Part-time Supplies, makes up the "growing edge" of the Supply Ministry in Methodism, and, doubtless, in increased self-awareness, leading to a greater willingness to reply to the questionnaire.

It became obvious early in this study that these various types of Supplies exhibited widely differing characteristics. Supply Ministers comprise a complex group, joining under one label Student, Retired men, Part-time Pastors, and "Career" or Full-time Pastors. Each has specialized characteristics and problems. Thus, many of the data presented here will be differentiated by these types.

Age

Data are available in Chart 8 for a comparison of the age structures of student and "Career" Supplies in 1948, 1952 and 1956. The majority of students are under 32 years of age, with a tendency to move toward the 1947 picture where nearly two thirds were in the 23-32 age group and where there was a decline among the younger students. This may reflect delays in education due to military service and longer periods of training in seminary and graduate schools.

Among Full-time Supplies there has been a continued increase of those under 32 years of age with slight decreases in the other age groups, except the 63-72 category. This is a picture of persons entering the "Career" Supply Ministry at various age levels with an apparent tendency to enter under 32 years of age. Some of this latter group should have the expectation of qualifying for Conference Membership but two thirds of the "Career" Supplies are older than 32 years of age.

The age data for the other types of Supplies, 1948 and 1956, are seen in Chart 9. One third of the Part-time Supplies is in the 43-52 age group. There has been some increase in those under 42 years. "Other" Supplies show a marked increase in those under 32 years and approximate the age distribution of the Full-time Supplies more closely than the other types. Nearly one half of the Retired Supplies are under 72 years of age, this is an increase over 1948.

Evidently the "Career" Supplies are approximating the age structure of the effective ministry, with somewhat less emphasis on the increase in the younger age groups, and are thus exhibiting the characteristics of a parallel ministerial group. Certainly any tendency for Supply Pastors under 35 years of age, to be satisfied with their status at the Supply level should be discouraged and every encouragement provided for attaining Annual Conference Membership.

Sex

Since the issue of the place of women in the Methodist ministry is frequently raised, it is interesting to note the sex composition of the respondents. There were 142 women Supplies out of the 2,838 persons and the proportion was highest in the Central and lowest in the South-eastern Jurisdictions.

Education

The educational attainments of the Supply Ministry are of utmost importance. This is partially due to the significance of education in the definition of the Supply Ministry and partially to the recognized need for the best-possible In-service Training for "Career" Supplies.

As would be expected there are variations in educational level by type of Supply. Chart 10 shows that 23.9 per cent of all Supplies had high-school training or less while the range was from 2.5 per cent for Student Supplies to 37.2 per cent for Full-time Supplies in 1956. The Part-time Supplies were similar with 36.2 per cent while slightly less than one fifth of the Retired and "Other" Supplies had high-school education or less.

Less than college graduation was the educational level of 61.3 per cent of all Supplies, with the percentage ranging from 77.2 for Full-time Supplies to 38.5 for "Other" Supplies. In some Annual Conferences a college graduate may become a Conference Member, so this often serves as the "cutting point" for Supply status. Yet only 11.2 per cent of all Supplies were college graduates with very slight variation from 13.4 per cent for Student Supplies to 8.6 per cent for Full-time Supplies. It is noteworthy that the Retired men had about the same proportion of college graduates among them as Student Supplies. Indicating that the educational level of the Supply Pastor today is approximately the same as the Conference Member of the immediately past generation of ministers.

Some seminary training or other training was the educational level attained by 25.8 per cent of all Supplies with the range from Retired men (44.8 per cent) to Full-time Supplies (12.1 per cent). The "Other" Supplies had an unusually high percentage (44.3) of persons at this level of education, but examination reveals that many of these were graduates of trade schools and of other types of non-ministerial educational programs. This reflects the miscellaneous character of this group of Supplies. Nearly one half of the Student Supplies had finished college and are engaged in seminary or other graduate study.

It is possible to compare partially the educational changes from 1948 to 1956 for Students and "Career" Supplies. It should be noted that the 1948 data do not carry the "some seminary or other" and "no information" categories, and thus, are not completely comparable on a percentage basis. There has been a significant drop (from two thirds to one third) in the Full-time Supplies with high-school education or less. The percentage of "Career" Supplies with some college training more than doubled from 1948 to 1956. Those with college degrees or graduates of other types of schools remained fairly constant. In 1948 two thirds of the "Career" Supplies had high-school education or less, while by 1956 nearly two thirds had some college or more. It seems certain that some of this increase is due to counting attendance at training schools for Supply Pastors held in college or seminary situations as "some college" or "some seminary" in the questionnaires.

The percentage of Student Supplies in high school declined sharply from 1948 to 1952. About the same proportion of students are in college as in seminary or graduate work. The fact that four out of ten Student Supplies are college students, though this is a smaller ratio than in 1948, gives rise to the need for rethinking the Program of Supervision of this work at the college as well as seminary level.

In general, this picture of the educational attainments of the Supply Ministers shows an improvement over the past two quadrennia so far as Student and "Career" Supplies are concerned, with a tendency for the latter group to secure college training and gain Admission to Annual Conferences. This reflects the increased efforts of the Church to provide educational opportunities for Supply Pastors, especially the "Career" Supplies. The growth in the number of short-term schools for Supply Pastors and in the enrollment in them has been one of the major developments in In-service Training since 1948 and, especially, since 1952.

Ordination

Considerable interest is focused upon the Ordination of Supply Pastors. Much of the In-service Training Program has revolved around the preparation of Supplies for Ordination and for their improvement as Pastors.

An unusually high percentage (7.3) of respondents gave no reply to this question, according to Chart 11, and it is likely that some of these could be added to the 46.2 per cent who reported no Ordination. Thus, around one half of all Supplies in 1955 were unordained men. Student Supplies, naturally, had the highest percentage (69.5) not ordained, with the Retired Supplies the lowest (7.6 per cent). This must mean that in the past some unordained Supplies having reached retirement continue to serve as Supplies. Around one third of the Full-time and "Other" Supplies were not ordained, while one half of the part-time persons were in this category. Deacon's Orders were held by 15.9 per cent of the Supplies with a limited range from Retired men (5.7 per cent) to Students (18.2 per cent). Nearly one fourth of all Supplies had Elder's Orders with the range from Students (3.3 per cent) to Retired Supplies (68.6 per cent). Over one third (38.0 per cent) of the Full-time Supplies were Local Elders. Ordinations for 6.6 per cent of the Full-time Supplies were in other Denominations with the range from Students (1.0 per cent) to "Others" (15.7 per cent). This latter category includes Ministers of other Denominations serving Methodist churches. Nearly one out of ten of the Career Supplies were ordained in other Denominations. Most of these were men from sect-type groups whose educational level did not warrant recognition of their Ordination at the effective ministry level.

Around one half of all Supplies and nearly two thirds of the "Career" Supplies hold Ordination of some type. This development may be viewed, on the one hand, in terms of the increase in the number of Ordained Ministers capable of carrying on the functions of the office and, on the other hand, in terms of the increase in Ordinations based on educational attainments not high enough to qualify the Ordained Supply Minister to become a member of the Annual Conference. The Church has stressed the importance of the first but may not have faced the full consequences of the second.

There has been an increase in the rate of Ordination for Supplies during the past quadrennium as seen in Table 8. More than one half of the respondents gave no year of ordination with the variations corresponding generally to the evidence on unordained men. The majority of all Ordinations was dated since 1952. More than one half of the Ordained "Career" Supplies report Ordinations in the past four years. Three times as many were ordained since 1952 as from 1948 to 1951. The same trend obtains for the other categories except, of course, the Retired Supplies, most of whom were Ordained as members of Annual Conferences before 1920. Practically all the Ordained Students received Ordination since 1952 as might be expected. So far as these respondents are concerned, Ordination, excepting Retired Supplies, is a recent thing being predominantly a phenomenon of this past quadrennium. This results from legislation from 1948 and provision for Approved Supply Pastor training to meet requirements for Ordination.

Since over one half of the Supplies were not ordained, it will be helpful to supplement with data on the year first licensed to preach. Obtaining the Local Preacher's license is normally the first step taken by persons who may become Supply Pastors or effective Ministers. This is frequently done in the late teens or early twenties and a number of years may intervene between the first license to preach and Ordination. Also, many persons hold Local Preacher's licenses without becoming Supplies or Conference Members.

It may be noted in Table 9 that only 3.0 per cent gave no information on the year first licensed to preach, while this percentage was 56.9 for these giving no year of ordination. Over one fourth of all Supplies received the first license during this past quadrennium, 45.2 per cent for Students and 18.1 per cent for Full-time Supplies. A slightly higher percentage was licensed from 1948 to 1952. Thus, more than half (55.9 per cent) the Supplies were first licensed during the past eight years. This included nearly nine out of ten students and four out of ten "Career" Supplies. The first license was obtained before 1940 by less than one fourth (24.5 per cent) of all Supplies, by one third (34.7 per cent) of Full-time Supplies and by all of the Retired men. The Part-time and

"Other" Supplies follow generally the pattern of the Full-time Supplies.

Although Ordinations for "Career" Supply Pastors clustered in the quadrennium since 1952, the date of first license was distributed over many years with concentration over the past three quadrennia.

Mobility and Tenure

Obviously, the Supply Minister represents a transitional period for many of the persons involved. This would be especially true of Student and Retired Supplies. To discover the extent of this mobility, a study was made of the names of the Supplies listed in the Annual Conference Journals of the South Central and Southeastern Jurisdictions on a year-by-year basis from 1951 through 1954. These lists were compared by years to determine the number of times the same name appeared during the four-year period. The total number of names on the lists remained fairly constant for the four years in each Jurisdiction, according to Table 10. Of the persons listed in 1951 only 69.3 per cent in South Central and 66.5 per cent in Southeastern reappeared on the lists for 1952. This means that nearly one third of the Supplies were new that year. By 1953 only 47.9 per cent (South Central) and 47.4 per cent (Southeastern) of the original names reappeared for the third year. Finally, 36.6 per cent (South Central) and 34.8 per cent (Southeastern) of the persons who were listed as Supplies in 1951 remained on the lists four years later.

It may be assumed that the normal turnover would be higher among Students and Retired Supplies than other types. This was tested in the Southeastern Jurisdiction by isolating those known to be Students and Retired men either by matching the questionnaires with the names or by classification in the listing of names in some Annual Conferences. In this way 350 of the 1,518 persons in 1954 in the Southeastern Jurisdiction were classified as Students and Retired men. Their mobility was compared with the remainder of the Supplies, as seen in Chart 12. The high mobility among Students and Retired Supplies is especially noted in the large percentage (42.0) of names appearing for the first time and the small percentage (13.7) of names reappearing for the fourth time. This is contrasted with 23.6 per cent of the Career Supplies in the first year and 41.1 per cent in the fourth year. Nearly one fourth of the Career Supplies were in their first year while less than one half had a four-year tenure.

Another approach to this matter was made in the questionnaire by asking for the length of tenure of classification as Supply Pastor and the number of years serving Charges as Supply Pastor. There was a slightly more stable picture of tenure in the first than the second characteristic, and it has been chosen for analysis. According to Table 11, over one half of all respondents (51.8 per cent) had been Supply Pastors four years or less with a range from Student (78.6 per cent) to Full-time Supplies (34.5 per cent). Thus, nearly four fifths of the Student and over one third of the "Career" Supplies had a tenure of one quadrennium or less. Eight years or less was the tenure of nearly three fourths (73.1 per cent) of all the respondents. Almost no Students had remained Supplies longer than eight years. The Full-time Supplies had 59.0 per cent with tenure of eight years or less. In view of this rapid mobility, it is noteworthy that 17.0 per cent of the Full-time Supplies have had tenure as Supplies from 17 to 40 years. All these persons were Supplies before unification in 1940.

Here, again, the story is one of short tenure and rapid turnover in the Supply Ministry. Nearly six out of ten "Career" Supplies had a tenure of eight years or less. Although there is a small group of persons (9.7 per cent) who have been Supplies for more than four quadrennia, this only serves to emphasize the highly mobile and transitional character of this type of ministry in Methodism. It raises critical questions about the need to provide closer supervision of Student Supplies and early training and guidance of "Career" Supplies under the difficult conditions of rapid turnover of personnel.

Size of Community Served

It has long been assumed that the majority of Supply Pastors serve Charges located in small communities. This conclusion is justified on the basis of the data in Chart 13. More than one half (56.3 per cent) of all Supplies serve Charges in villages, hamlets and open-country places under 500 population. Four out of five Supplies serve in rural communities under 2,500 population and 87.2 per cent minister in town and country areas under 10,000 population. This means that only 7.7 per cent of the Supplies serve in cities over 10,000. There is a tendency for more Student Supplies and "Career" Supplies to serve communities under 2,500 and for more Retired Supplies to serve in cities. Also, evidence indicates that the majority of Supply Charges is not located in the rural-urban areas adjacent to urban centers. It seems especially serious that during a period of improvement in education and various other services to rural people a decreasing proportion of Methodist rural parishes is served by fully trained effective ministers.

PERCENTAGE OF COMMUNITIES SERVED BY SUPPLIES BY SIZE OF

Membership and Salary

The number of members in a Methodist parish, other things being equal, helps determine the type of Pastor appointed to the Charge. It would be expected that the Supply Ministry would serve charges of smaller memberships than the effective ministry. An examination of Chart 14 confirms this conclusion. There is a higher percentage of Supply Charges than total charges in Methodism with under 300 members. The reverse is true for parishes over 300 members. Thus, Charges with fewer than 300 members are more likely to be served by Supply ministers than those over 300 members. It may be observed that nearly one half (47.8 per cent) of the respondents served parishes with fewer than 200 members, while seven out of ten Supplies ministered to parishes under 300 members. The average-sized Methodist charge is around 400 members, yet only 10.6 per cent of the Supplies serve Charges larger than this average. There is a tendency for "Career" Supplies to serve Charges with slightly higher memberships, while Retired and Student Supplies cluster more around the smaller charges.

Supply Pastors serve Charges which pay lower salaries than Charges served by effective ministers. According to Chart 15 over one third of the Supplies in this study received less than $2,000 annual salary while nearly four fifths of them were paid less than $3,000. At the other end of the salary scale, only 1.1 per cent of the Supplies enjoyed an income of over $4,000 annually.

Although the data were collected on a different basis and, therefore, may not be completely comparable, it is interesting to contrast the percentage of Supply Charges and of total Charges in Methodism in terms of salary. The latter data of Chart 15 were tabulated from the General Minutes of 1952 and some increases in salaries might be expected to have occurred since then. Nevertheless, it is obvious that a larger percentage of the Supply Charges fall in the salary categories under $3,000 than of the total Charges. The reverse is true of salaries above $3,000 and the difference is accelerated in the higher salary brackets. A Supply pastor has little hopes of receiving an annual salary above $4,000, and the charge which pays $3,000 or more to the Pastor increases its chances of being served by a minister who is a Conference Member.

The close relationship between Supply Charges, low membership Charges and low salary Charges is apparent. It will doubtless call for more than an increase in the number of available trained ministers to break out of this circle. It would seem necessary, also, either to increase the number of members per Charge or the salary paid the pastor or both. This is to suggest that characteristics of Methodist parishes are important considerations in any realistic treatment of the policies involving the recruitment and training of Methodist pastors.

Conclusion

This is a picture of the Supply Ministers who responded to the request for information about themselves and their charges at the close of the 1952-1956 quadrennium. Supply Pastors serve one third of all Methodist Appointments. The percentage of Charges supplied or to be supplied has increased rapidly since unification. It is desirable to see a reversal of this trend during the next quadrennium.

The Supply Ministry is made up of widely differing sub-groups whose only common characteristic is that they are serving Charges without effective membership in the Annual Conference in which the Charge is located. A small proportion of the Supplies are Conference Members who have retired but continue to serve parishes. Such persons, if willing and able, should be encouraged to continue serving Charges for a few years after retirement. About one third of the Supply Pastors are students in college and seminary. Here the expectation is that these persons will rapidly move into the ranks of the effective ministry. Thus the Students at the "intake" side and the Retired men at the "outgo" side make up the most unstable part of the Supply Ministry. The "Career" Supplies constitute around one half of the Supply Ministry and this group of Full-time, and some Part-time Pastor, exhibits, generally, the age characteristics of the effective ministry. Although this "Career" group is highly mobile, it constitutes the most stable core in the Supply Ministry. Here is focused the problem of the so-called "two-class" ministry. A large number of "Career" Supplies are moving toward Ordination but not Conference Membership.

The majority of the Charges served by the Supply Ministry is small in salary and membership and is located in open country and rural towns. This easily leads to the conclusion that "marginal" charges, as well as the shortage of Conference Members, create a demand for a Supply Ministry. It seems certain that the standards used in creating and continuing Pastoral Charges, as well as the educational standards for Annual Conference Membership, are factors in the increase of the Supply Ministry. Certainly creative planning and action in both these areas will bring an increasing number of Methodist people, now served by the Supply Ministry, under the care of the effective ministry.

SOURCES OF MATERIALS UTILIZED IN THE REPORT

Population information was gathered from publications of the United States Bureau of the Census 1940, 1950 and special bulletins, including Series P-25, No. 108 and No. 110.

Denominational statistics, names and addresses were procured from the Official Journals and Year Books of Annual Conferences and from the General Minutes of the Annual Conferences of The Methodist Church, 1940, 1950, and subsequent years.

The following studies published previously were examined and utilized to some extent in the present report:

Murray H. Leiffer—A study of Retirement and Recruitment in the Methodist Ministry. Chicago: Methodist Publishing House, 1944.

—The Methodist Ministry in 1948. Chicago: Methodist Publishing House, 1948.

—The Methodist Ministry in 1952. Nashville: Methodist Publishing House, 1952.

In the interest of brevity these studies are referred to throughout the report as "Leiffer, 1944," "Leiffer, 1948," and "Leiffer, 1952" respectively. Wherever possible specific page references are given.

The remaining data were assembled by means of a Survey following the procedure described in APPENDIX II. Hence charts, tables and data not otherwise identified refer to materials assembled especially for this 1956 report.

APPENDIX II

A METHODOLOGICAL NOTE

Materials on the Methodist ministry assembled from the field for the present Survey were gathered by means of two mailed questionnaires. One questionnaire was designed for use by Effective Ministers and persons On Trial. A second questionnaire was designed for Supply Pastors. Each research instrument was passed through a series of revisions before its eventual adoption and use. The general mailings were delimited to domestic Conferences and to continental United States.

The methods used in collecting these materials do not justify the assumption that the data comprise a sample representing the total number of Effective Ministers, or persons On Trial, or Supply Pastors in Methodism. Surely the differential percentage representation by Jurisdictions (consult TABLE A and TABLE B) serves as cautions on this point. Thus no assumption is made here that this is a complete picture of Methodism's ministry. Rather the Report occupies itself with the task of making an objective analysis of the questionnaires noted in the paragraphs below.

A questionnaire (see EXHIBIT A) was mailed to 17,256 effective ministers of The Methodist Church. Responses came back from every domestic Annual Conference. After a detailed inspection of the materials it was decided to omit responses from Bishops, Chaplains stationed abroad and Missionaries outside the United States. With the Completion of this sifting process there remained 8,813 valid questionnaires. This constitutes a coverage of 51.1 per cent. Among Jurisdictions, as shown in TABLE A, the percentage of returned questionnaires ranges from 14.8 (Central) to 58.6 (Northeastern). However, responses from all except the Central Jurisdiction are 51.0 per cent or above.

Further, this questionnaire was mailed also to 2,941 persons On Trial during the year 1955 in The Methodist Church. After defective responses were deleted, there remained 829 valid questionnaires for a coverage of 28.2 per cent. Percentage of valid questionnaires returned within Jurisdictions as revealed in TABLE A runs from 8.7 (Central) to 34.5 (Southeastern). The five geographical Jurisdictions yielded returns higher than 21 per cent each, with Southeastern and Northeastern reporting more than one third of the persons On Trial.

Finally a questionnaire (see EXHIBIT B) was mailed to all Supply Pastors whose names and addresses were available in the 1954 Journals of Annual Conferences in the United States. As noted in TABLE B the questionnaires went to 6,231 persons or 78.7 per cent of the Pastors serving Supply Charges. Valid responses were returned by 2,838 persons for a coverage of 45.6 per cent of the mailing (or 35.8 per cent of the number of Charges supplied or to be supplied). A significant variation is noted within Jurisdictions. The lowest percentages of addresses and replies were secured from the Central Jurisdiction. The most complete mailing (94.5 per cent) was in the Western Jurisdiction. The highest percentage of replies (52.1 per cent) was in the North Central Jurisdiction. The best coverage of the Supply Charges in the replies (44.9 per cent) was in the Southeastern Jurisdiction.

SOURCE NOTES

(It is assumed here that full reference to the previous studies will have already been made. Also, some statement should be made to the effect that where no source notes occur for tables and charts they are based upon data growing out of the Survey.)

1. Three previous studies of the ministry have included information about the Supply Ministry. See Leiffer, 1944, p. 21; Leiffer, 1948, pp. 39-49; and Leiffer, 1952, pp. 23-29. In this Report data about Supply Pastors for 1948 and 1952 are based on the latter two studies.
2. In Charts 14 and 15 the 1952 data are taken from Source Book of Methodism in Town and Country, Board of Missions of The Methodist Church, 1955, p. 147 and p. 153.

REPORT OF THE NATIONAL FAMILY LIFE COMMITTEE

Adopted May 2, 1956. See Journal, Page 497.

The continuation of the National Family Life Committee of The Methodist Church was authorized by The General Conference of 1952. We are here before you to report and to tell you of our appreciation for the exceptional response of the Church to the Program as provided by this Committee.

The General Conference made provision for the relation administratively of the Committee to the General Board of Education. A word of gratitude to the General Agencies of the Church represented on the Committee, to the Board of Education for the help of its staff, particularly, for the work of Dr. Edward Staples is in order. The functioning of your National Committee of Family Life during these four years was made possible by the allocation of funds from the teaching and preaching mission of the Advance of the last quadrennium.

By means of this authorization and this support your Committee has been able to undertake a three-fold Program:

(1) To co-operate with the Joint Department of Family Life of the National Council of Churches and other organizations functioning in the Family Life field; (2) to give emphasis to the need for the increased preparation of the ministry in marital and family counseling.

The third and major project undertaken by your Committee was the National Conference on Family Life held in Cleveland, O., in October, 1954. Film, panel, group discussion, public message, presented to 3,000 Delegates the Christian way of living together in the home. The general theme of the Conference was "The Christian Family—The Hope of the World."

What Is Urgent Need?

Prior to the National Conference itself, 6,000 inquiries were sent to persons who represented a cross-section of American life. The basic question asked was, "What is the urgent need of the present day American family"? From these answers the Committee derived its directives and its topics for the Conference.

With all but one of the 102 Annual Conferences of Methodism represented at the Cleveland gathering, there was left no doubt about this being a National Conference.

Incredible things happened after the Conference closed and Delegates had returned to their homes. These Delegates have reported for the one and one-half years of post-Conference activity, approximately 10,500 meetings and conferences on Annual Conference, District and Local Church levels. More than 40 Annual Conferences have organized Family Life Committees. Note what some of the Annual Conferences have said about the National Meeting and its effect:

The Pacific Northwest Annual Conference reported that the 39 Delegates who returned from Cleveland aided in District meetings, attended by a total of 6,000 persons.

Tennessee Annual Conference (SE): "Our Delegates have helped in interesting our young families in a definite commitment to the Church Program."

New Mexico Annual Conference: "We have organized and trained teams in each District to conduct Family Life rallies in Local Churches."

Leaflet Circulation Jumps

Still another result; the sale of Family Life leaflets, following the two National Family Life Conferences held in Chicago and Cleveland, respectively, has increased from 703,000 in 1950 to 2,153,000 in 1955. The Christian Home magazine has had a marked increase in subscriptions over the same period of time.

Time does not permit more than a mention of the Juvenile Clinics held, plays written and presented, Family Life articles prepared for the press. These Delegates returned to Grovers Corners, to Seattle, to Pleasantville, to Boston and to the farthest corners of the earth to vigorously advocate Christian family living everywhere.

The joy of this endeavor in respect to the Conference and post-Conference activities is to be found in these beginning homes, represented by the 3,000 Delegates. These representatives of beginning homes came seeking a better way of living together in families and many found it. Basic to this better way of getting on together is the Christian idea of respect for one another, is the Christian idea of divine worth in family relations.

Sometime ago I heard of some small boys who built a club house in the back yard out of scrap bits of lumber gathered here and there. When they had built it they decided to sit down and write Rules for it, just as boys would. These were the Rules: "Nobody act big. Nobody act small. Everybody act medium." They had something there.

This National Family Life Committee from its inception in 1949, in Program Planning and Conference building, has kept its eyes on young Mr. and Mrs. John Doe, Jr. and their children. These young fathers and mothers are the most spiritually suggestible people of our whole religious venture.

The story of the Cleveland Conference is the story of entire families transformed; the story of families beginning to pray together; men and women, as parents, beginning to follow Christ with a new seriousness.

When you present religion to a beginning home you are at the heart of the matter. In many instances the National Family Life Committee, through its Program, did help the beginning home to begin right.

The Methodist Church has begun something in this field of family life that is moving in stride with America's growing interest in the home. The Methodist Church is not going to miss the timetable of social emergence of concern for the family life.

At a time when the family has taken on added importance because families are greater in number and larger in size; at a time when the general public and Social Agencies of the land are turning to the family as the one hope for the growth of sound persons to make a safe world; at a time when it is a settled conclusion that the family is the best concrete opportunity for religious growth and that we can best present the claims of our Lord to persons through the medium of family life; at a time when the home that is to be our salvation is itself under threat of the disturbing influence of the new mass media, the mobility of the home, the growing employment of wives and mothers, the tension of a troubled world—The Methodist Church is pressing toward the restoration of the religious life of the home, summoning the family to its divine vocation, challenging husbands and wives, parents and children, to practice their religion in their relationships one with another.

We members of the National Family Life Committee confess to a sense of high privilege in serving the Church in this important work.

7. PROMOTION AND CULTIVATION, COMMISSION ON

(See Paragraphs 750-755, 1952 Discipline)

Adopted April 28, 1956. See Journal, Pages 333-338.

It requires but a few minutes to report to this body of Delegates and visitors what has happened to The Methodist Church in its world-wide ministry of General Benevolence and why it happened. What happened might be described as the dawn of a new era; or the discovery of new resources through Methodist Union; or the resurgence of spiritual concern for our world today. In any event, something has happened to Methodism in the last sixteen years and something very special has been happening through Methodism in the last seven years and ten months in order to more than double her annual gifts for General Benevolences. The total giving to General Benevolences in 1948-49 was $11,155,883. In the year closing last May 31, seven years later, it was $22,474,697.

1. First, why has this amazing advance been made?

One reason is because the story is being told. More than 27,000 pastors are telling it Sunday after Sunday, and between Sundays in special seasons of dedication. A hundred thousand laymen know the story, or they are learning it rapidly, and share it with ten times that number of other men and women who are the leaders of Methodism's millions.

The Church Press is also a magnificent bearer of the Christian message to our world today. The Christian Advocate, and many other church publications, both national, Conference, District, and Local Church, vie with each other in telling the story of God's love for mankind and interpreting the events and opportunities of the hour in terms of Christ's message and ministry to the whole world. This is a spontaneous expression of growing life throughout the Church and its organizations.

The secular press receives and reports our story, as never before. Radio, television, and motion picture screen also are employed in behalf of the Gospel for the multitudes. These modern seed sowers are planting God's word in millions of minds and hearts faster and farther than Methodist Circuit Riders ever dreamed in the days of our Church's most rapid expansion.

Christ and His Church advance in America; in outpost stations; in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico; in Europe and Africa, and Asia; in South America and the Orient; Methodism is helping to "Gird the Earth for Christ" inside and outside iron and bamboo curtains; because the story of Jesus and his love is coming through. The increase in our General Benevolence giving may be measured by the extent and effectiveness to which "The Story" is told.

2. The second reason for the steady climb of General Benevolence giving is the team. We have a company of believers and doers who work together as one body in Christ. This teamwork brings victory to the whole Program of the whole Church.

There are sixteen Benevolence Agencies that administer World Service funds. There are ten other General Agencies of The Methodist Church that co-operate in the promotion and cultivation of our General Benevolence Program. There are four more General Agencies, custodians of the historical and prophetic character of Methodism. Together these thirty General Agencies constitute a combination of effective instruments.

As we see the total picture from the viewpoint of the Central Promotional Office, it is the close co-operation of these Agencies and the co-ordination of their responsibilities that accounts, in large measure, for the distinctive advance in all Benevolence Income in this quadrennium. The concern and devotion of the General Secretaries, and their Staffs, are reflected in a growing confidence that characterizes their teamwork. The General Benevolence Program of Methodism has gained immeasurably through co-ordination and co-operation effort in the last two quadrenniums.

3. The third reason for this unusual advance, and the most important of all, is the good soil in which good seed has been planted. The harvest has come because of the people who responded. In a few minutes you will see a picture of that harvest.

It is the product of 9,313,278 Methodists, inspired by 26,649 ministers, led by 573 District Superintendents, commissioned and directed by 37 Episcopal Leaders who have brought in the sheaves. The good seed in this good soil has brought forth 40, 60, 100 fold for the world mission of our world Methodism. That is why it happened.

"Christ to the world we sing!
The world to Christ we bring,
With one accord."

Now consider what happened.

1. We have one total General Benevolence Program for which the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation and The Advance Committee are responsible.

They include:

World Service which is basic; the foundation upon which all of our Benevolences is built.

Advance Specials which is described as plus giving or second mile serving.

Week of Dedication and Fellowship of Suffering and Service are sacrificial giving.

The Methodist Television is timely giving. It sees and seizes the opportunity to carry the message of Christ and His Church to millions.

The Bishops' Appeal for Korea was the Macedonian call, and Methodism answered.

2. Look now at the harvest in these fields during the present quadrennium.

(1) Following the 1948-52 quadrennium, in which World Service income had increased more than 33 1/3%, the Apportionment for the Current Quadrennium was advanced another 20%, to a goal of $9,660,000 annually. By consistent co-operation our Methodist churches accepted the challenge and now we are within reach of the objective, $38,640,000 by May 31, 1956.

The total received for World Service in three years and ten months is $35,827,586. This amount is over two million dollars more annually than in the last quadrennium. The Methodist Church is closer to its new World Service goal, at this point in the quadrennium, than it was to lesser goals in previous quadrenniums. We confidently believe that $2,812,414 will be received in April and May of this year in which event the total will be the largest ever given in one year to World Service and reach the quadrennium objective in full.

(2) The Advance Specials Program was initiated by The General Conference in 1948. No apportionments were set but it was estimated that voluntary acceptances and gifts of three million dollars annually, for that quadrennium, would be worthy of Methodism. The total received for General and Conference Initiated Advance Specials, 1948 to 1952, was $3,266,636 annually, or $13,066,542 for those four years.

In the three years and ten months of this quadrennium, to March 31, 1956, receipts for General Advance Specials only total $14,829,523. In addition, Conference Treasurers report more than $14,000,000 for Conference Advance Specials or a grand total for this period for nearly twenty-nine million dollars for all Advance Specials. Of course they will exceed thirty million dollars by the end of this quadrennium.

(3) There is a third category of General Benevolences. It includes Week of Dedication, Fellowship of Suffering and Service, Methodist Television Ministry, the Bishops' Appeal for Korea, and the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund. In three years and ten months our Methodist people have given to these other General Benevolence Causes $7,960,835. We estimate that another one-half million dollars will be added to this total by May 31, 1956.

(4) The total received for all General Benevolences, promoted by the Commission and The Advance, in the last three years and ten months (excluding Conference Advance Specials) is $66,578,779. If we include Conference Advance Specials, the grand total is over eighty million dollars, which does not take into account the General Benevolence receipts of the Woman's Division of Christian Service which exceeded eight million dollars last year.

It may be estimated conservatively that when this quadrennium closes, May 31, 1956, the total General Benevolence giving of our Methodist people will reach the highest figure since Union, $80,000,000, or twenty million dollars annually. It may be possible for us to realize how far The Methodist Church has moved forward in seven years when the General Benevolences income of 1948-49, which was $11,155,883, is compared with the receipts of $22,474,697 last year.

And this advance has been achieved through the congenial co-operation of all General Agencies and at a cost to the Central Promotional Office of 3.44% and for participating Agencies of 2.22%. This is only 5.66% overhead cost for promoting the entire General Benevolence Program of The Methodist Church in which approximately 23 million dollars are now raised annually.

3. We have a right to rejoice in this amazing harvest. But we must not forget that Jesus commissioned us to "Look on the whole field." He said: "The field is the world." It is nothing less than that. It is all of that. We haven't reached it all yet, and we should continue to advance until we do!

In conclusion it is appropriate that we pay tribute to the great leaders of our Church who have made the reaping of this harvest possible. Included in our Central Promotional list of those who made these achievements possible are: Bishop William C. Martin, than whom there is no finer leader in Methodism or Protestantism; Bishop Costen J. Harrell, the genius of The Advance program; Bishops Richard C. Raines, Hazen G. Werner, Lloyd C. Wicke, Dr. Thomas B. Lugg, all of them Christian Stewards of Methodism's treasures, and fifty other ministers and Laymen of five Committees or Departments operating under or with the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation.

At this General Conference we should pay special tribute to two men: the late Bishop Kern, who was with us four years ago when we reported on Methodism's Advance for Christ and His Church. Bishop Kern designed our Annual Week of Dedication observance which marks a new era in Methodism's call to the altar at the beginning of Lent and its voluntary gifts for Crusade Scholarships and emergency missionary needs.

But the larger program of Advance Specials is the product of the heart and mind of Bishop Harrell. Methodism could not have found a more competent and consecrated architect of the "second mile" approach to our missionary concern. Bishop Harrell has been God's gift to Methodism to bring new light to our understanding of its missionary task and to secure a greater response in our support of Christ and His Church around the world. In this Quadrennial Report to The Methodist Church we thank God for a great Episcopal Leader who has laid foundations upon which our Church may wisely build for years to come.

Surely this is a moment when all of us should rededicate ourselves to the Programs and Plans that are potent with bright promise for Christ and His Church today and tomorrow.

BOARD OF PUBLICATION

(See Paragraphs 11-23-1138, 1952 Discipline)

Adopted May 1, 1956. See Journal, Pages 383-385; 397-403.

This is a Report to The General Conference on a great dream of Methodism—veritably the evidence now to be seen of things long hoped for.

John Wesley's profound faith in the printed word was voiced more than a century ago by Bishop Asbury, who declared that, next to preaching, it is the most important means of spreading the gospel.

Just 130 years ago that belief took the form of the Christian Advocate. In the words of its prospectus, it was to be "an entertaining, instructive and profitable family visitor" to all Methodist homes. Since that time our Church has often restudied its publications, ever seeking to make them more effective in reaching and influencing our people.

It was in this tradition of progress that our Bishops declared at the 1952 General Conference:

"Methodism needs at least one periodical that speaks its voice and really reaches its constituency. Every official member in every Methodist Church ought to know what is going on in his Church, and what are the life-and-death issues in the present struggle for a Christian way of life.

"Beyond this official group there is a vast reading public which we are not reaching today. There will be need for Specialized Journals of one kind or another, but here we need a family paper coming into the homes of our people, available at a reasonable subscription rate."

The Episcopal message then declared:

"It may need a new name, a new format, a new promotional strategy, but whatever it requires, who are we to say in this great Church of ours that it cannot be done? Our people perish for the lack of knowledge, our causes limp because the news and the appeal never reach the man in the pew, our unity and morale suffer because ignorance of great issues and Christian duties leads to fear and suspicion and disunity.

"We call for A BOLD VENTURE for the creation of a Methodist periodical combining the best of modern craftsmanship and editorial skill and aimed at a circulation within twelve months of not fewer than one million copies. It can be done and we are the people to do it."

That ringing challenge was emphasized in the recommendation of the Church Survey Commission of 1952 which had concluded that the needs would best be served by "a Periodical for pastors and a Periodical for the family."

The 1952 General Conference accepted that bold challenge and referred the recommendation to the Board of Publication with authority to translate this great dream of Methodism into reality.

That has been done. Your Board of Publication has mustered the best in modern craftsmanship and editorial skill. It has sought not only the counsel of Pastors and Laymen and of members of Staffs of existing publications but Professors of Journalism and Editors of some of America's most outstanding magazines.

These efforts have culminated in plans to recast The Pastor and the Christian Advocate into new forms for our day: The New Christian Advocate, an Official Journal of Methodism for the leadership of the Church, and Together, a publication for Methodist families. Prospectus editions of both periodicals are before you as a part of this Report, so that Members of this Conference may glimpse the character these Magazines will take. They are undergirded by plans which have been approved with enthusiasm by the Board of Publication to which the 1952 General Conference assigned the responsibility for the "Bold Venture" in Methodist journalism.

Those plans were approved by The Council of Bishops, to whom they were presented at Atlantic City, December 6, 1955. And that approval has been re-echoed at this General Conference through the Episcopal Address.

The Board of Publication believes that, after these many years of preparation, Methodism now has the opportunity to meet the challenge for "A BOLD VENTURE" in religious journalism.

Not just mere magazines are The New Christian Advocate and Together. They have been conceived with insight and fashioned with skill to put into modern journalistic form the essence of the great passion for evangelism that marked the efforts of John Wesley. He was not content merely to influence those who selected themselves to come to church to hear him preach. He went into the highways and the byways. He spoke to throngs in abandoned quarries, in coal mines, and on hillsides. From his inspired efforts we inherit a great tradition of concern for others.

Modern Methodism must labor in that spirit if it is to achieve its destiny and to advance the cause that called it into being almost 200 years ago. To grow as a Church we must reach more than those who voluntarily expose themselves to Methodist influence. We must present in attractive form our message and our mission to members who are less closely linked to our Church than we desire.

We believe that one way to do this is through this "BOLD VENTURE" in religious journalism. In it we recognize a glorious opportunity to advance the cause of Christ. But if we are to realize its full potential of service our reborn family magazine, Together, must go into all Methodist homes—more than three million of them!

For the first issue the Bishops of the Church have set a goal of one million. And in the ringing words of their 1952 Episcopal message this calls for "the united, insistent co-operation of every Bishop, District Superintendent, Pastor and Official Board."

We, therefore, ask this Conference, through its action in adopting this Report, to appeal to Methodists everywhere to join wholeheartedly in this movement in high confidence that it will strengthen our Church at the local level and thereby greatly reinforce Methodism as an Agency to advance the Kingdom of Christ.

WILLIAM H. SWIGGART (*), Chairman;
FRED J. JORDAN, Secretary.

Your Commission recommends the following:

I—Changes in Legislation

Chapter VI, Sec. I.

Par 23. Following the word "thereof" in line 5 add the words: "or at such a time and place as designated by the electing Conference." Following the word "one" in line 7 add the words "or more."

The Paragraph shall then read:

"If an Episcopal vacancy should occur, by death, resignation, or otherwise, within the bounds of a Central Conference during the quadrennium, the Central Conference within which such vacancy occurs is authorized to elect a Bishop to fill the vacancy; provided that the number of Bishops holding Residential Supervision within the bounds of these Central Conferences shall at no time during the quadrennium exceed two in Africa, two in Latin America, four in China, five in Southern Asia (except as provided in Par. 602(4)), one in Germany, one in Northern Europe, one in Southern Europe, one in the Philippines, and one in Southeastern Asia."

Chapter IV.

Par 602. In line 4 following the word "Conferences" add the words: "and in fields outside the United States not included in a Central or a Provisional Central Conference." In line 6 change the date from 1952-56 to 1956-60; delete Section 1. Section 2 is renumbered Section 1; Section 3 is renumbered Section 2 and shall read as hereinafter stated; Section 4 is renumbered Section 3; Section 4 will be a new Section to read as hereinafter stated; Section 5 is new and reads as hereinafter stated; delete the word "mission" in the last line, page 161.

The Paragraph shall then read:

"For the purpose of providing Presidential, Visitational, and Residential Episcopal Supervision of territory embraced in Provisional Central Conferences, and in emergency situations in Central Conferences, and in fields outside the United States not included in a Central or a Provisional Central Conference, it is recommended that provision be made for the quadrennium 1956-60 according to the following arrangement:

1. The Central Jurisdictional Conference shall provide Residential and Presidential Supervision for the work in Liberia and is hereby authorized according to the provisions of Par. 8, Sec. 4 and Par. 439 to have one Bishop in addition to its membership quota (Par. 534) in order to provide for this supervision.

5. We recommend that The Council of Bishops provide Episcopal Supervision for the Taiwan Mission and the Hong Kong Mission.

Inasmuch as the territory in which is located the work for which the foregoing provides the Episcopal Supervision is not in any case included in the geographical boundaries of the Jurisdictional Conference which elects the Bishop or Bishops involved, therefore it is recommended that the said Bishops be directed to report on the supervision of their fields to The Council of Bishops as well as to the Central Conferences or Provisional Central Conferences to which they are related.

The Board of Missions is authorized to harmonize and make uniform the present agreements and practices with respect to the four Churches named above by extending to each of them any provision contained in the present agreement with any one of them, if such change is de-* sired by the affiliated autonomous church concerned and judged to be advisable by the Board of Missions.

(See Par. 1178 Sec. 2.) The Division shall meet annually at the time of the meeting of the Board, and at such other times as it may deem necessary."

Par. 1240. Sec. 3. Following the word "Board" in line 3 add the following words: "one half of the Bishops from Overseas who are on the Board of Missions."

We request that it not be required to read more than Section 3 of this Paragraph. Section 3 of Par. 1240 shall then read:

The Paragraph shall then read:

"There shall be a Commission on the Structure of Methodist-ism Overseas for the quadrennium 1956-60. Recognizing the difference in conditions that exist in various fields of the world, and the changes taking place in those fields, this Commission shall continue to study the structure and supervision of The Methodist Church in its work outside of the United States and its territories, and its relationship to other Church bodies; and shall prepare such recommendations as it considers necessary for presentation to The General Conference of 1960. The Commission shall be constituted as follows: four Bishops administering in Jurisdictional Conferences, four Bishops administering in Central Conferences, one Minister and one Layman from each Jurisdictional Conference, one person from each Central and Provisional Central Conference, except that when a Central Conference shall have a Church Membership of 200,000 or more, that Central Conference shall have two members on the Commission. All of these to be nominated by The Council of Bishops and approved by The General Conference. ganization, and annually at the time and place of the Board of Missions, and immediately before The General Conference of 1960. The expense of this Commission shall be paid from the General Conference Expense Fund."

The boundaries of the Conferences outside of the United States have been carefully studied and checked with those administering them. To replace the material that is now in Part IX of the "Discipline," Chapters III to VI, Paragraphs 1860 to 1891, there shall be the following:

FOREWORD

The following Report has grown out of a serious concern for the manning of our churches with well-trained ministers in sufficient numbers, long felt by the Church at large and particularly by Bishops, District Superintendents and members of the Association of Methodist Theological Schools (made up of the Deans and Presidents of our Methodist Seminaries) and in response to a mandate from The General Conference of 1952.

It was at the request of the Association of Methodist Theological Schools that The General Conference ordered a systematic study to be made covering three significant areas: (1) the optimum size of our Seminaries; (2) the possible need for an additional school or schools and the most desirable location for the same; (3) "the possibility and wisdom of designating any existing non-Methodist Theological Schools to receive Methodist sanction and support."

To make this Survey, a Study Commission of seven members was chosen by the Section of Ministerial Education, Department of Theological Schools, of the Board of Education, consisting of three Bishops, two Ministers, one Theological School Dean, and two representatives of the Board of Education. These were Bishop Paul N. Garber, Bishop Donald Harvey Tippet, Bishop Edwin E. Voigt, Dr. Eugene M. Frank, Dr. Paul Morrison, Dean Merrimon Cuninggim, Dr. John O. Gross and Dr. Gerald O. McCulloh. Bishop Tippet was elected Chairman and Dr. McCulloh Secretary. The Commission selected Dr. Charles T. Thrift, Jr., Vice-President of Florida Southern College, to direct the study and Professor Earl D. C. Brewer of Candler School of Theology and Professor Frederick A. Shippey of Drew, to serve as Technical Consultants.

Deans and Presidents of our ten Theological Schools were invited to join the Study Commission in the preliminary discussion of the personnel to be selected for the Survey and the kind of data needed. Later, but still during the early stages of the study, representatives from our Seminaries were asked to serve as Consultants to help set up the instruments necessary for securing the required data. Those who responded to this invitation were Professor Glen Trimble, Boston; Professor Frederick A. Shippey, Drew; Professor A. J. Walton, Duke; Professor Earl D. C. Brewer, Emory; Professor Murray H. Leiffer, Garrett; Professor Herbert Stotts, Iliff; and Professor Marvin Judy, Perkins School of Theology. In addition to the valuable assistance received from these consultants, helpful advice in the preparation of the study and the editing of the Report was given by Dr. Horace G. Smith, Dr. Ernest C. Colwell, Dr. John L. Seaton, Dr. Walter N. Roberts, and members of the Staff of the Division of Educational Institutions.

These consultants were not always of the same mind but their assistance was always constructive and helpful. For their valued counsel and creative criticism, the Study Commission is most grateful. No concurrence of opinion of the consultants upon the recommendations contained in this Report should be assumed. Responsibility for the recommendations rests with the Study Commission (and the Board of Education).

It will become apparent that the methods used have been of many kinds, and it is to be doubted that all the specialists in the field will be satisfied with all the methods utilized or pleased by all the findings.

The pattern of research included by intention several approaches to the fundamental questions explored. Two basic questionnaires were prepared, one for Methodist and another for non-Methodist schools. From the Methodist schools the study endeavored to secure detailed information on the corporate structure, physical plant, relationship to a university, student body, faculty, courses of instruction, library, finances, and relationship to The Methodist Church through Annual, Jurisdictional or General Conference.

Systems of accounting and of record keeping differed from seminary to seminary so that many of the findings had to be equated for purposes of comparison.

To carry the research into greater detail, a Study Committee consisting of the Chairman and the Secretary of the Study Commission and Dr. Charles T. Thrift, Jr., visited all ten of the schools, where interviews with administration, faculty, and students greatly amplified and clarified the responses to the questionnaire.

A briefer questionnaire was sent to non-Methodist schools in which Methodist students are enrolled. From this source the Study Commission endeavored to secure data on enrollment of Methodist students, the number of Methodist graduates, how many more (if any) Methodist students could be accommodated, the relation of field work for Methodist students to Methodist supervision, courses in Methodist History, Polity, and Doctrine, and the amount of financial support from Methodist sources.

The Study Commission is grateful to the Bishops of the Church for their response to a request to estimate conservatively, but as accurately as possible, the increased number of men needed during the next quadrennium in their various Areas.

A great deal of special attention was given to three of our seminaries, Westminster, Southern California, and Gammon. The reasons therefor are made clear in the Report and the Recommendations.

There has been no assumption that any one of our seminaries is a "typical" Methodist school. From the beginning of the study, the Commission recognized diversity and individuality in our several schools and this became increasingly apparent as the Survey progressed.

Neither the research team nor the Study Commission as a whole claims to have worked in complete detachment and both admit to the possibility of mistakes in judgment, interpretation, or in the reporting of factual items. However, the Study Commission has tried to make the Report as scrupulously accurate and honest and the recommendations as factual, realistic, and systematic as possible.

The Report we are herewith submitting is a greatly abbreviated one. A much more detailed study is available to any member of the Board of Education upon request.

With a heartfelt word of sincere thanks to the many who have contributed to the making of this Report, and with a fervent prayer that out of this study there may be crystallized ways and means for providing a ministry for tomorrow adequately prepared and in sufficient numbers to meet the spiritual and moral needs of our increased and constantly growing population, we respectfully submit this abbreviated Report together with our Recommendations.

Report No. 8

(Adopted, April 29, 1952; Daily Christian Advocate, April 30, 1952, p. 263)

Whereas, Since the growth of the Church and the growing need for trained ministers will place increasing demands upon the Methodist theological schools, and

Whereas, Since the schools themselves cannot make unlimited increases in size without endangering the quality of training which they offer,

Therefore Be It Resolved, That The General Conference provide that during the next quadrennium a systematic study be made:

1. Of the optimum size of our ten Methodist theological schools.
2. Of the possible need for, and desirable location of, any new Methodist theological schools.
3. Of the possibility and wisdom of designating any present existing non-Methodist theological school to receive Methodist sanction and support.

and that any move to establish new theological schools or to sanction and support existing non-Methodist schools be postponed until after this study has been completed.

I—METHODIST MINISTERIAL NEEDS

The Methodist Church faces a critical need for trained men in its ministry. This need, while primarily spiritual and educational, is also a matter of numbers. The Church must continue to have as its ministers men whose calling and authority are from God. To perform the tasks demanded of them the Ministers must improve their fitness for the high calling by adequate, general and professional education. No less important is the necessity of having these called and trained men available in sufficient numbers to serve more than 25,000 charges and other types of Appointment in our great and growing Church.

Replacement

In 1954 there were 1,129 Ministers removed from Annual Conference membership by retirement, death, withdrawal and location. During the same year 927 were received into Full Conference membership and 910 were Admitted on Trial. With only 910 being Received on Trial a decline must be expected in those received into Full Membership in succeeding years. Although the number of men needed for replacement had remained nearly constant for four years, the number Admitted on Trial declined from 1,158 in 1952, or 248 fewer men than two years before. While the total number of Full Conference Members had risen slightly (5.3% from 1950 to 1954, an average of 1.3% per year) there were fewer Ministers in Full Connection in 1954 than there were either at the beginning of this century (1900) or at the time of Methodist unification (1939). In four of the six Jurisdictions there was a decrease in Ministers under Episcopal Appointment from 1952 to 1954. A minimum of 1,200 men received into Full Conference Membership each year is necessary if the Church is to avoid a numerical decline in its ministry.

The accompanying graph shows the comparison between annual replacement needs and the number of graduates of the Methodist theological schools.

METHODIST MINISTERIAL MEMBERSHIP

Expansion

Ministerial needs for the expansion of the Church are more difficult to determine. The general population of the United States by 1965 is expected to reach 186,331,000. If Methodist membership is merely to maintain its 1954 percentage of the general population (5.69%) throughout the decade this will mean 1,400,000 more Methodists in 1965 than now. This equivalent growth of The Methodist Church with the general population may be equated to 3,500 new congregations of 400 members each, the average membership of a Methodist charge in 1954.

Table 2

Methodist Church in U. S.
Estimated Membership 1954-1965

The Methodist Church will not be satisfied with merely holding its own. Our Bishops were asked to make careful estimates of the new men needed in church expansion in their respective Areas for the 1956-1960 quadrennium. The estimated needs were listed in four categories, namely (1) new churches (500), (2) new men needed by reason of the separation of circuits into Charges (375), (3) new men for multiple ministries such as associateships and the like (450), and (4) new Special Appointments such as Chaplaincies, Professorships, Denominational and Inter-Denominational Officers (275). The total number needed is estimated to be 1,600 in addition to the 1,200 needed for replacement. The total annual ministerial need is thus seen to be 2,800 men. Methodism's heritage of evangelism, education, and pastoral care of its churches calls to the Church today to meet with renewed zeal and adequate leadership the expanding opportunities of the present and the growing future.

Minimum Needs Annually For Replacement And Expansion Compared To Seminary Graduation

Meeting the Need

To serve the Church in meeting the need for trained ministers the theological schools have made great strides in expanding their Programs. Enrollments have risen from 1,663 in 1942 to 3,046 in 1954. Faculties have been expanded from 108 in 1942 to 177 in 1954. The number of graduates has more than doubled from 316 in 1942 to 679 in 1954, yet it is still perilously inadequate to meet even the replacement needs.

Non-Methodist seminaries, accredited by the American Association of Theological Schools, graduated 153 additional Methodist men in 1954. The total number of Methodist seminary graduates and Methodist men graduated from accredited non-Methodist theological schools in 1954 was 832. As the number of Conferences requiring seminary graduation for Conference Membership increases the seriousness of this shortage of seminary graduates deepens.

The goal which The Methodist Church must accept and make every effort to achieve is 1,200 Methodist seminary graduates per year by 1960. Proposals for the expansion of our existing schools and the authorization of new schools to achieve this goal of 1,200 graduates annually are contained in the later pages of this Report.

The cost of theological education has risen even more rapidly than enrollments. Total current expenditure for 1954 in the ten Methodist schools was $3,131,804, an amount nearly double the expenditures in 1950 and six times the amount spent in 1942. Additional World Service funds should be made available to assist the schools in the Herculean task which the ministerial needs of the Church will impose upon them. Individual gifts and contributions from the churches will be needed by the schools to supplement General Church Funds in providing funds for the expansion of physical plants, facilities, scholarships, and all services if the requirements are to be met.

Ministerial Recruitment

Ministerial recruitment is clearly a part of the Church's Program of replacement and expansion. The recruitment of qualified candidates for seminary training must be accelerated apace with the adding of educational facilities in the schools. To recruit candidates for whom we do not provide training opportunities would place the Church in as indefensible a position as to expand the schools and not provide students to be trained.

Every church and home in the Methodist connection must be alerted to the need for ministers. A Recruitment Program is being developed which will build upon the co-operation of our church homes, the Youth Department, the Commission on Christian Vocations, the Pastors, the District Superintendents, the Bishops, the Conference Boards of Ministerial Training, the Vocations Counsellors in our Methodist colleges, the Wesley Foundations, and the Section of Ministerial Education of the Board of Education.

The idealism and devotion of our youth will respond, we believe, when the call to Christian service is clearly sounded. In 1954 approximately 3,500 young men in the Methodist schools, colleges and universities alone listed themselves as pre-ministerial students, most of whom were Methodists.

Preministerial Students in Methodist Undergraduate Schools

Information as to the over-all total of Methodist pre-ministerial students in all types of colleges is not available, but an approximation of the number can be arrived at by taking a projection from the percentage of men in Methodist seminaries who came from Methodist undergraduate schools. This figure was 46% in 1954. If the proportion holds true for the undergraduate level, and the Commission has no reason to believe it does not, then the 3,500 pre-ministerial students in Methodist undergraduate schools are only 46% of the total Methodist pre-ministerial students now enrolled in undergraduate Programs. The total number, therefore, is evidently approximately 7,600 Methodist pre-ministerial students in both Methodist and non-Methodist undergraduate colleges and universities. The percentages of theological students in 1954 who came from the various types of undergraduate schools is shown in the following table.

Table 5COLLEGES FROM WHICH THEOLOGICAL STUDENTS CAME IN 1954

* This total is larger than the 3,253 full-time and part-time students reported by the schools because some of the students had attended more than one type of undergraduate school.

TOTAL 3,587 *

From among the 7,600 Methodist pre-ministerial students in all types of colleges it may be expected that approximately one fourth, or 1,900 persons, might be ready for entering theological school each year. Careful guidance and selection among these may be expected to provide the 1,500 ministerial students the Church needs to have admitted to seminary yearly to achieve her goal of 1,200 seminary graduates annually by 1960. The theological schools of the Church have made rapid strides in co-operative recruiting. Further development in Unified Recruiting, Guidance and Admissions Programs will result in reducing the loss of qualified pre-ministerial students between college and seminary.

Recommendations

The Study Commission recommends that the goal of 1,200 theological school graduates annually be accepted by the Church to be achieved during the 1956-1960 quadrennium.

The Commission further recommends that a Unified Program of Ministerial Recruitment and Guidance be developed by the Department of Theological Schools in co-operation with the Annual Conference Boards of Ministerial Training, the Inter-Board Committee on Christian Vocations, the Methodist colleges and universities, the Wesley Foundations, and the Methodist theological schools, together with all other Agencies and resources for recruiting in the Church, and that a co-ordinated Program of Admissions be developed by the Methodist theological schools in co-operation with the Director of Theological Schools.

II—PRESENT SCHOOLS

To meet the need of the Church for a trained ministry we must look to three possible sources of supply, indicated by the 1952 General Conference Resolution: (a) an increased number of men from our existing ten Methodist theological schools; (b) graduates of new Methodist seminaries which may be established; and (c) an increased number from accredited non-Methodist schools. These three possibilities are to be considered in turn, in this and the two succeeding sections.

The investigation of the possibility of expansion led the Study Commission to seek to become thoroughly acquainted with the ten Methodist seminaries as they now function. The demands upon these schools are heavier today than ever before; the Study Commission commends these schools to the Church for the way in which they are meeting these demands. The difficulties against which they labor are large, so large that without the help which the 1952 General Conference provided all would have been seriously handicapped and some might actually have lost their accreditation. Their services to the Church, nationally, regionally, and locally, are great, rich in their diversity, and beyond measurement. As the accompanying figures show, most of these schools have already greatly enlarged their faculties and student bodies. In some cases the present enrollment is straining facilities and resources.

Any recommendations as to a further increase in size, therefore, must be made in full appreciation of what each seminary is already seeking to do with what it has. Only the overpowering need of the Church could justify further request for the kind of capital investment and current expenditures increases entailed by the suggestion that more students should be accommodated. These conclusions were arrived at on the basis of firsthand observation, and a careful collection and comparison of factual information, of all ten seminaries. Every aspect of each school's life and program was subjected to scrutiny: nature of organization, relationship to the Church, curriculum, faculty, student body, alumni, policies in respect to admission, orientation, scholarships, field work and graduate study, financial problems, the library, housing, and all the host of concerns with which a seminary must deal. Special strengths were uncovered here, weaknesses there, and these have been shared with the schools in question. Limitations as to the scope of this statement prevent a detailed Report of the Commission's information at this place. Suffice it here to say that comments to follow concerning a possible increase in size of existing schools are made in the light of this full body of information, a picture of Methodist theological education that provokes admiration for what is now being accomplished, distress at the handicaps still being encountered, and confidence in their future.

These reactions are not uniform from school to school for the simple reason that the schools themselves differ in numerous ways. Some schools are integral parts of universities; others are independent of such ties. There is no single pattern of school government, or of relationship to The Methodist Church. And the variety of policy and practice is immense in such matters as curriculum, choice of faculty, and selection and guidance of students. Without giving its commendation to every policy and practice, the Study Commission concludes that diversity of itself is a good thing, and that Methodist theological education is stronger because of it. Minimum requirements as to the organizational framework of a Methodist seminary are, to the Commission's view, desirable, and some are suggested in the following section on new seminaries. But these are not of such a nature as to call in question the fruitful variety of behavior now existent in the Methodist schools.

The issue of whether the present seminaries can increase their enrollment focuses attention on optimum size. Yet such a problem cannot be solved merely by reference to what an institution is; it inevitably involves posing the question as to what it ought to be. Thus the Study Commission found that its investigation of the ten existing seminaries forced its consideration of the more basic inquiry as to the nature of the task which a seminary is expected to perform.

A seminary's major task is to train men for the Parish Ministry. Granted that individual seminaries should pursue other important aims, such as preparing men for various specialized ministries, the one central aim for all alike should be the preparation of Parish Ministers. Then the determination of the seminary's task comes about by the discovery of what the local Minister needs to know and to be able to do. Today as in all days the Parish Minister must know the Word of God and the life of his people, the experience of the Christian community through the years and at the present time, and the relevance of that experience for individuals and for society. He must be able to act as Priest and Prophet, as Administrator, Teacher and Counselor, according to the best techniques of the time. Thus the seminary must offer work in the fields of the Minister's requisite knowledge and give him the necessary skills. This means that, as a minimum, the school must provide for the study of Old Testament, New Testament, Church History and Missions, Theology, Philosophy of Religion, Psychology and Counseling, Sociology and Social Ethics, Homiletics, Religious Education and Church Administration. Other disciplines, too, clamor for inclusion, and these ten may often go by other names or be sub-divided into more specialized concerns. The Study Commission holds no brief for this as a definitive list, and is prepared to sympathize with any reader who feels that some ultimate concern has been omitted. A summary of the curriculum offerings of our Methodist seminaries by Courses offered, Courses required, student enrollment, and credit hours produced is included in the more detailed Report, divided into thirty-three specific fields. The point is, simply, that, though a seminary may well need more, no institution worthy of the function of preparing men for the Parish Ministry can possibly provide adequate education with less.

The next step in the development of the Commission's thinking had to do with the nature of present-day scholarship. Men who are competent in theological education agree that it is hardly possible any longer for one person to be fully competent in two or more of these fields, and certainly not desirable for a Professor to teach in several of them. Thus the need to offer these fields as a minimum base for an adequate theological education suggests a minimum faculty of ten for a seminary. How many students can a faculty of ten care for adequately? A host of factors go into the answering of such a question: the desirability of intimate contact between student and Professor; the need of the Professor for adequate time for preparation, for research and writing; the need of the student for guidance in a variety of in-school experiences; the demands of worthy extra-curricular interests on both students and Faculty; the limitations of time and energy. In the light of these factors, educators agree that a student-faculty ratio of fifteen to one is the highest that should be countenanced. Ten faculty members, then, should not try to be, or be expected to be, responsible for more than 150 students.

In this fashion, therefore, the Commission arrived at the figures of 150 students and ten faculty members as the "basic unit" for guidance in searching for the optimum size of either existing or new seminaries. But caution must be exercised in the use of this basic unit. The figures are an approximation, and their application to any one institution will not be determinative, merely suggestive. Theological schools in the United States range from fewer than ten to more than two thousand in enrollment. Among Methodist schools the spread is from fewer than seventy full-time students to more than four hundred in the B.D., S.T.B., Th.M. curriculum. (Students enrolled in other Degree Programs account for the remainder in total enrollments.) A host of factors peculiar to each institution—the facilities it possesses, the demands of its specialized training programs, the very nature of its educational philosophy—convince the Commission that there is no single optimum size for all Methodist seminaries. Certainly the suggestion of this basic unit should not be taken to mean that, when a school is committed to an increase, it either can or ought to expand by roughly ten faculty members and 150 students all at once.

Yet with all these cautionary elements fully credited, the Commission believes that such a basic unit as has been suggested, which was arrived at as a result of its seeking to face fundamental questions about the task of the Minister and thus the nature of the training he should receive, points to several helpful conclusions: (1) No Methodist school ought to aim at being less than one basic unit in size. (2) No school ought to become more than approximately three, or perhaps in the extreme emergency of the Church, four units in size. (3) Though no school will be able to expand rapidly from one unit to two, or from two to three, the more gradual expansion that may be both possible and desirable should be of such nature as to keep the figures of the basic unit in view, and the student-faculty ratio it embodies in balance. (4) The Church as a whole ought to be mindful that 150-10, or 15-1, is a maximum ratio, applicable only when all local factors are propitious and facilities are adequate, that this is not now the case in any of the Methodist seminaries, and that in any event the maximum is not the ideal.

Recognizing the difficulties entailed by the recommendation to all of our schools, the Study Commission recommends that the present Methodist seminaries be requested to undertake an expansion representing a total of 1,300 additional students, thus bringing their total enrollment up from approximately 3,000 to approximately 4,300. The schools, when this enrollment goal is reached, would be graduating approximately 1,075 persons annually for the Church's Ministry. The suggested apportionments of this increase are given for the individual schools in the full Report, and have been discussed with each school. Acceptance of these figures by the seminaries is subject to such variables as the possibility for plant expansion, the securing of capital funds from other sources than World Service, the enlargement of annual gifts and other funds for an increased budget, and the availability of qualified applicants for admission and of competent teaching personnel. The rate of possible expansion will differ from school to school, for both the capacity and the liberty of any school's response to the Church's need are not the same, and in any event are not predictable. But the approximate goal should be set. The Commission believes that an expansion of 1,300 students is a reasonable aim in the light of the need of the Church, the present state of the schools and the character of theological education.

Table 8

Enrollment Goals for the Methodist Theological Schools in the 1956-60 Quadrennium

In the Methodist Theological Schools approximately 15% of the students are from other denominations. If this percentage continues in the expansion recommended, the number of Non-Methodists in Methodist Schools will approximately equal the 776 Methodists in accredited Non-Methodist Schools in 1954.

SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS

In three of the schools major changes involving location and/or organizational structure are contemplated. The Study Commission gave careful attention to the proposals in each of these schools. The summary statements which follow give some indication of the nature of these special considerations and show the grounds for the subsequent recommendations.

Westminster Theological Seminary

Westminster Theological Seminary, Westminster, Maryland, formerly serving the Methodist Protestant Church, at the time of unification became one of the Methodist Theological Schools, serving the entire Church. It was incorporated by the Maryland Legislature in 1884. The Seminary is now under the direction and supervision of the General Council of The Methodist Protestant Church through a Board of Governors elected by The General Conference. This Board is elected each quadrennium for a four-year term. The Board of Governors holds the property, elects the faculty, and exercises supervisory responsibility for the Seminary. The President of the seminary and the Bishop of the Washington Area are ex officio members of the Board.

Many factors combine to indicate the desirability of the removal of Westminster to a new location. The expansion of the Seminary itself, the expansion of Western Maryland College, the necessity for new buildings and facilities and the strategic opportunity open to a Methodist Seminary in the nation's capital have been cited as reasons contributing to the decision of the Board to move the Seminary to Washington, D.C.

Largely through the leadership of Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of the Washington Area and Bishop James H. Straughn (retired), who was formerly President of the General Council of the Methodist Protestant Church, negotiations have developed which have resulted in (1) the offer of a new site for the Seminary on the northeast corner of the American University campus in Washington, and (2) an agreement with Western Maryland College to purchase the present properties of the Seminary at Westminster.

The Study Commission recognizes the opportunities in the move to Washington and recommends that the proposal for the relocation of Westminster Theological Seminary be approved, and that Westminster continue to receive an allocation of World Service funds through the Department of Theological Schools in accordance with the action of the Section of Ministerial Education.

Southern California School of Theology

In 1885 the Maclay College of Theology was established as an affiliated college of the University of Southern California, with the support of the Southern California Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Since 1922 the School of Religion has operated as an integral part of the University, combining in its operation the functions of the original Maclay College of Theology. The Methodist Church has continued its concern and support for the School of Religion as one of the recognized Methodist Theological Schools.

From 1928, when the Board of Trustees of the University became a self-perpetuating body, no longer elected as previously by the Southern California-Arizona Conference, until 1952 the University charter provided that a majority of the Trustees must be members of The Methodist Church. In 1952 the University corporation amended its charter, eliminating reference to The Methodist Church. Since that time various efforts have been made by the Conference and the University to arrive at a working agreement regarding the operation of the School of Religion. In 1955 the Southern California-Arizona Annual Conference passed a Resolution requesting from The General Conference permission to establish the Southern California School of Theology as a Methodist Seminary, directly related to The Methodist Church and independent of the University of Southern California. In so far as possible it is intended that the new School of Theology shall continue the tradition of the Maclay College of Theology and the functions previously performed by the University of Southern California School of Religion.

Articles of incorporation were adopted by the Conference, the Board of Trustees has been elected, and Committees have been designated. Committees on location, faculty, and negotiation with the University of Southern California have been making specific plans for the new school. The Southern California-Arizona Annual Conference approved the asking of the planning committee for $80,000 to $100,000 annually for the school's support from the Conference.

Request for authorization of the school's reorganization and relocation as a Methodist Theological School will be made directly to The General Conference by the Southern California-Arizona Annual Conference.

The Study Commission recognizes the strategic importance of a Methodist Theological School in Southern California. Regular Reports have been made to the Commission concerning the progress of the reorganization and relocation plans. The Commission recommends to the Section of Ministerial Education that the proposal for the organization and establishment of the Southern California School of Theology be approved, and that the school shall continue to receive an allocation of World Service funds through the Department of Theological Schools as a Methodist theological school, subject to authorization of the school by The General Conference.

Gammon Theological Seminary

Gammon Theological Seminary, Atlanta, Georgia, was founded in 1883 for the purpose of providing trained Christian leadership for the great body of Negro people in America. Bishop Henry White Warren and Bishop Wilbur P. Thirkield were active in the establishment and early service of the school.

Recent growth in size at Gammon has paralleled a strengthening of the Academic Program. In the autumn quarter, 1955, the enrollment was 76, an all-time high for the school. Gammon is the largest Negro seminary in America. In 1954-55, 92 per cent of its enrollment were B.D. candidates.

Gammon's unique opportunity and responsibility for the immediate future, as the only accredited Negro theological school in the South, is to provide educational program and facilities of high quality for Negro ministerial students. Certainly some of the Negro ministerial students will enroll in theological schools in other parts of the country. However, more than half of the Negro Methodist theological school graduates are coming from Gammon, and the Church faces at the same time a shortage of Negro ministers and a decline in the number of Negro ministerial members.

Three questions confront the Church in respect to Gammon. They have been phrased by The College of Bishops of the Central Jurisdiction and President Harry V. Richardson of Gammon as follows:

- "1. In the face of approaching integration in American education and in The Methodist Church, will Gammon still be needed?
- "2. Is Gammon a product of segregation in The Methodist Church? Or, if separate Racial Divisions in the Church go, would Gammon go too? If the Central Jurisdiction is eliminated, will there be a place for Gammon?

"3. Should Gammon move from its present location to the Atlanta University Center?"

The answers to these and other questions will involve adjustment to the action of The General Conference and the negotiation of numerous financial and educational arrangements, whatever decision is reached.

The Study Commission recommends that a Committee be designated by the Section on Ministerial Education to work with the Committee of the Board of Trustees of Gammon in determining what should be the program and place of Gammon Theological Seminary in the immediate and also the longer reach of the future.

Recommendations

The Study Commission recommends:

That the ten Methodist theological schools be commended for outstanding and devoted service to the Church in ministerial education, especially for the enrichment and expansion of their Educational Programs during the 1952-1956 quadrennium;

That the ten Methodist theological schools be requested to expand their enrollments with the objective of providing educational opportunity for a total enrollment of 4,300 full-time equivalent B.D. students each year, an increase of approximately 45% over present enrollment levels; and

That proportionate increases in financial support from World Service funds be made to the Methodist theological schools on the basis of size, service and particular needs for the 1956-1960 quadrennium to the extent that such funds are available to the Department of Theological Schools.

The Study Commission further recommends:

That the reorganization and relocation plans of Westminster Theological Seminary and the Southern California School of Theology, be approved, and that these Schools be continued as Methodist Theological Schools approved to receive allocations of World Service funds through the Department of Theological Schools, subject to the approval of their reorganization and relocation plans by the University Senate in consultation with the Department of Theological Schools.

That the Section of Ministerial Education be requested to designate a Committee to study the ministry and the needs and resources in ministerial education for the Methodist ministry; and that this Committee be instructed to give special attention to the future program of Gammon Theological Seminary.

III—NEW METHODIST THEOLOGICAL SCHOOLS

Just as the Church faces a challenge of a growing nation with a Program of establishing new churches properly located to follow the mobility of its people, so she must give attention to the proper location of additional Theological Schools. Beyond the limits of advisable expansion of its existing Seminaries shown above, there is the need for the development of two new Theological Schools to enroll 250 students each by 1960.

The choice of the most strategic locations for new Seminaries by the whole Church, facing its ministerial education needs collectively, will help to avoid indiscriminate and expedient solutions to the problems of ministerial training which might develop in many localities without sufficient attention to educational standards. Our Church, confronted as it is by ministerial need of near-tidal-wave proportions, must provide new Theological School facilities. The availability of the schools to the various geographical sections of the Church is important for the future. In addition to the National and Inter-National character of the seminary community and its services, there are many values which accrue to the churches of a region from the presence of a Theological School in that area. Not only are there direct services rendered by the theological students through their field work appointments, services of faculty members, library resources, special lectureships and the like also are readily available to churches, Ministers and the larger community of the church. The existing schools have profoundly influenced the areas in which they have been serving through the years. Wise decision by the whole Church on where new schools may most strategically be located will greatly strengthen the total effectiveness of the Church across the nation as well as in those immediate areas served by the schools.

The Study Commission received proposals for new theological schools from a number of locations in various parts of the country. The data considered concerning each proposed new location included the following:

- (1) General population trends,
- (2) Methodist membership trends,

- (3) Per cent of Methodist membership in the general population,
- (4) Ministerial needs in the area,
- (5) The number of men in theological schools from the locality,
- (6) The number of pre-ministerial students in the colleges and universities within a specified radius,
- (7) The distance of the proposed locations from existing Methodist Theological Schools,
- (8) The number of Pastoral Charges in the area suitable for Student Pastorates,
- (9) Other Student Work opportunities,
- (10) Transportation facilities,
- (11) Educational and cultural opportunities in the immediate vicinity of the proposed location,
- (12) The desire of the Conferences in the locality to co-operate in the establishment of a school,
- (13) The availability of an educational institution to which the school could be intimately related and the willingness of that institution to co-operate in the development of a Theological School,
- (14) The evidences of financial resources sufficient to insure the successful establishment of a school,
- (15) The interest of the Bishop or Bishops related to the proposed locality, and
- (16) The distribution of the schools in an over-all pattern across the nation.

In light of these and other less formal considerations the Study Commission recommends the authorization by the 1956 General Conference of two new Methodist Theological Schools in the 1956-60 quadrennium. The two localities recommended are (1) the Ohio Area, and (2) the Kansas-Missouri-Nebraska Areas. The basic data regarding these two locations may be summarized as follows:

Resolutions Providing Support of the Proposals in Contiguous Conferences:

"The Kansas Conference HAS voted to provide an amount equal to a minimum of 20 cents per member per year for the 1956-1960 quadrennium. Bishop Ivan Lee Holt tells me that at the proper time he will present this matter to his Conference and he believes they will join the Conferences of the Kansas Area. This would mean a minimum support of $100,000 annually for at least four years for the seminary." Dana Dawson, Bishop, The Kansas Area.

Statement of the Resident Bishops by Bishop Dana Dawson:

"My colleagues in The Council of Bishops who live in this section share the concern which Bishop Ivan Lee Holt and I have in the proposed seminary."

Bishop F. Gerald Ensley, under date of May 25th, 1955, writes:

"I'm heartily in favor of establishing a Seminary in our corner of the vineyard. I'll be glad to support the project from what I know of it at the present time."

Bishop H. Bascom Watts, in a letter dated May 23rd, 1955, states:

"As you know I am greatly interested in the establishment of a new Seminary somewhere in this vicinity. I feel sure of its great need and that once under way it will meet with general acceptance and strong support. Please speak any word of encouragement from me to the Committee as you feel it is needed."

Bishop Matthew W. Clair, Jr., in a letter written in May, 1955, has this to say:

"Please express to the group my deep interest in the establishment of a Seminary in this section; and, my pledge to support it in any way I can."

Location and Affiliation

Decisions regarding the precise location and institutional affiliation of the new schools will be affected by many considerations inherent in the localities themselves. Because organizational plans for the schools will need to be adjusted to local factors, the Study Commission believes that the determination of the exact location and institutional affiliation of the schools authorized should be reserved to Area Committees in the Areas herein specified, the Department of Theological Schools of the Board of Education, and the University Senate. (See The Methodist Discipline, Par. 1392.)

Recommendations

The Study Commission recommends that authorization be granted for the establishment of two new Methodist Theological Schools to be developed during the 1956-1960 quad-rennium with the objective of enrolling 250 students each, one to be established in the Ohio Area, North Central Jurisdiction, and the other to be established in the Kansas-Missouri-Nebraska Areas, South Central Jurisdiction.

THE AUTHORITY FOR THE FINAL APPROVAL OF THE EXACT LOCATION, THE FINANCIAL PROVISIONS, THE TIME OF IMPLEMENTING THE DECISIONS AND THE CHARTERING OF EACH SCHOOL SHALL BE VESTED IN THE DEPARTMENT OF MINISTERIAL EDUCATION, DIVISION OF EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS OF THE GENERAL BOARD OF EDUCATION, WITH THE CO-OPERATION OF A COMMITTEE ON THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION TO BE DESIGNATED BY THE AREAS NAMED. THE AUTHORITY FOR DETERMINING EDUCATIONAL STANDARDS AND CRITERIA AND ALL OTHER MATTERS NORMALLY UNDER THE JURISDICTION OF THE UNIVERSITY SENATE SHALL BE VESTED IN THAT BODY, IN CO-OPERATION WITH THE COMMITTEE ON THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION TO BE DESIGNATED BY THE AREAS NAMED.

IV—NON-METHODIST THEOLOGICAL SCHOOLS

A third locus of training for Methodist ministers is the non-Methodist Seminary. The Church is already depending heavily upon such schools: in the academic year 1953-54 there were 776 Methodist students in accredited non-Methodist Seminaries, producing 153 Methodist graduates, in their various Degree Programs. In comparison, Methodist schools were training 482 non-Methodist students in the same year. Many of these were likewise enrolled in various Special Programs in addition to the usual B.D. course. (Details are available in the full Report.) Thus the debt of the Church to other Seminaries is large, and recognition of this debt is called for. As shown in Table 6, if non-Methodist enrollment in our schools is maintained as at present at approximately 15%, the expansion proposed for the Methodist schools would bring their non-Methodist enrollment to approximately 750 students.

One form of recognition should be the appreciation which the Church feels for such service. Another form is the interest which the Church should take in the kind and quality of training which the Methodist students are receiving. In some cases this training is of the highest quality; in others its inadequacy is pitifully apparent. Where well done, it usually includes Special Courses in Methodist History and Policy and supervision of field work in Methodist churches. Such provisions often represent considerable expense to the schools themselves. It is likely that the stronger non-Methodist Seminaries will continue to enroll a significant portion of the Methodist ministerial students, and may increase the number if qualified applicants are available, though many are now near or at capacity enrollment.

The General Conference directive envisaged "the possibility . . . of designating any present existing non-Methodist theological schools to receive Methodist sanction and support . . .," and instructed the Commission to look into the wisdom as well as the possibility of such a move. Its desirability is not universally accepted in the Church. Some feel that such support could only be at the expense of existing Methodist schools which themselves need all the help they can get. Others who desire the establishment of new Methodist schools are sometimes suspicious that this proposal would weaken their case. On the other side, however, are those who see this method as being a less expensive way of meeting the Church's need than the founding of new schools. Others who recognize that many Methodists will continue to go to non-Methodist Seminaries feel that by this proposal some guidance and co-operation can be maintained with such institutions, so that their training of Methodist students may become stronger.

The Commission has sought to collect and weigh all such opinions, pro and con, and has come to the conclusion that some type of sanction and support is called for and desirable, though it must not be to the detriment of the existing Methodist Seminaries. The limit of probable expansion of Methodist enrollment in accredited non-Methodist institutions is 1,000 students. Not more than 75% or 750 of these will probably be enrolled in the B.D. or equivalent program. Since this will be approximately the same number as the non-Methodist enrollment in the Methodist schools when expansion goals are reached, the number of Methodist B.D. graduates will be in the vicinity of the 1,200 needed annually for replacement and minimum expansion. In light of these figures, any support should be viewed not as competitive with other efforts of the Church to strengthen its own Program of Theological Education, but as an integral though quite limited part of the over-all plan to provide a trained ministry in numbers sufficiently large to try to meet the immense need.

Several methods of granting current sanction and support to non-Methodist Seminaries were considered by the Commission. The possibilities include: (1) a scholarship program; (2) per capita payment to the school for additional Methodist students; (3) provision for a Chair or a Department offering Courses in Methodist History, Doctrine and Polity; (4) special educational projects for Methodist students; (5) establishment of a residence for Methodist students; (6) allocation of Methodist funds on a contractual basis; and (7) a program of grants, with conditions similar to those now applying to Methodist schools in the use of World Service money. Various combinations of these seven were also examined.

After careful evaluation of these possibilities, the Study Commission submits the following recommendations: (a) that for the immediate future, during the period of critical shortage in Methodist seminary facilities, the Department of Theological Schools be given authority to make limited and temporary grants to selected non-Methodist Seminaries to provide assistance and encouragement for the training of additional Methodist ministerial students; (b) that the total of such grants to all non-Methodist schools shall not exceed $25,000 annually; (c) that only those schools on the approved list of the University Senate may be selected by the Department to receive such grants, the initiative in the choice of schools and services to rest with the Department; and (d) that the specific purpose to which these grants may be applied shall be limited to the provision of teaching personnel for courses especially relevant for Methodist students or to the strengthening of library holdings in subjects especially pertinent for Methodist interests.

Recommendations

The Study Commission recommends:

That the appreciation of The Methodist Church be expressed to the non-Methodist Seminaries for the educational opportunities afforded to Methodist theological students;

That the Director of the Department of Theological Schools be authorized to invite consultation with the Administrative heads of non-Methodist schools in the selection of faculty personnel, part-time or full-time, to be engaged for teaching Courses offered especially for Methodist students; and

That the Department of Theological Schools be authorized to initiate a temporary and limited Program of Grants to selected non-Methodist schools, in accordance with the recommendations of the Study Commission, for special instruction and services offered to Methodist students.

V—FINANCING THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION

In the early history of Methodist Theological Schools in the United States financial support came almost entirely from private gifts. As the need for a theologically trained ministry came to be increasingly realized, official action was taken by the Church at large in connection with support and sponsorship of the schools. In 1952 the Department of Theological Schools was formed within the General Board of Education as a part of the Section of Ministerial Education. Support for the theological schools was provided by 8.9% of the World Service Funds for general appropriation, with a ceiling fixed at $800,000 per year. Greater over-all advances in a United Program of Theological Education have been made in the past quadrennium than in any comparable period in the history of the Church. The accompanying graph shows the increases in library expenditures, faculty salaries, and total educational and general expenditures as compared with the increase in World Service support from 1949-50 to 1953-54.

The educational and general expenditures in 1953-54 for all ten schools, which include executive salaries and offices, administration and promotion, instructional salaries and services, library, and the operation and maintenance of the physical plants totaled $2,429,016. On the basis of 3,046 students reported in the ten schools this educational and general expenditure represents a cost of $798 per student, exclusive of scholarships and auxiliary costs for dining halls, dormitories and the like. The World Service Funds provided income equal to 30% of this amount. The remaining 70% came from student tuition and fees, endowment earnings, gifts, grants and other miscellaneous sources. The individual schools were responsible for all scholarship moneys, all capital increases, and additions to plant facilities in addition to the educational and general costs. Since the total expenditures continued to rise in 1955 and 1956, while the World Service allocations remained comparatively constant, it will be seen that the percentage of private funds necessary for the operation of the schools has risen sharply above that for 1954.

The recommended expansion of enrollments in the present theological schools to 4,300 represents an increase in educational and general costs to the schools, at the rate per student in 1954, from $2,429,016 to $3,431,400. If General Church support for the schools through World Service is maintained at its 1954 ratio of 30% of the educational and general costs, this will require $1,029,420, in World Service funds.

Over and above the expansion of the existing schools to 4,300 in enrollment the Church should provide Methodist theological educational opportunities for 500 additional students. The Study Commission recommends that this number be accommodated through the establishment of two new Theological Schools. In order that the Church may assist in providing adequate support for these new schools through the initial years when private gifts for capital and current needs are only beginning, and when student enrollments will be developing and income from student fees limited, General Church support for the new schools should be made available in the amount of $150,000 annual appropriation, OR $75,000 FOR EACH SCHOOL IN THE EVENT THERE ARE TWO OF THEM from World Service funds to be allocated through the Department of Theological Schools.

A total amount of $1,179,420 per year is indicated by our study to be the minimum General Church support which The Methodist Church must provide for educational expenditures in theological education during the 1956-1960 quadrennium. This represents an increase of $379,420 over the $800,000 maximum annually, appropriated by The General Conference of 1952.

Since the grants to non-Methodist schools recommended on pages 42-43 of this Report are to be temporary and limited to a total of not more than $25,000 in any year, the Study Commission suggests that such grants, where these are arranged for services to Methodist students requested by the Department of Theological Schools, be financed out of the reserve moneys designated for expansion which may accrue in the course of the development of new projects in theological education. No additional money is requested for grants to non-Methodist schools.

Increase in Current Support
Necessary for the Recommended Expansion in Theological Education

Recommendations

The Study Commission recommends that World Service appropriation in the amount of $1,179,420 annually be made to the Department of Theological Schools for allocation to the Theological Schools of The Methodist Church.

The Commission further recommends that such limited and temporary grants to non-Methodist Theological Schools as may be arranged in accordance with the recommendations of the Study Commission may be paid out of reserve moneys accrued within the Department of Theological Schools. The total amount so expended shall not exceed $25,000 in any one year.

Conclusion

The Program of Theological Education of The Methodist Church has been considered throughout the foregoing Report in a unitary rather than a piecemeal fashion. The recommendations have been drafted with the same sort of synoptic concern. Recruitment, enrollment, faculty-student ratio, plant facilities, and finance stand together as the component parts of a problem which must be faced with the pattern of location of the Theological Schools across the entire nation in mind.

Underlying the Report there is also the conscious intention to consider theological education as an integral part of the total concern and responsibility of the Church for its ministry rather than as an isolated problem. The structure of the recommendations has been designed to take cognizance of the Church's ministerial needs, the fullest possible use of present Seminary resources, and plans for enlarging those resources with a view to matching facilities and program to the magnitude of the need.

The proposals for expansion may seem more extensive than necessary to some readers. To others the acceptance of 1,200 seminary graduates per year as the goal for the quadrennium will appear to fall pitifully short of the 2,800 ministers required if the Church is to meet its full annual replacement needs and expansion possibilities.

The recommendations are such as to challenge Methodism to take significant steps forward. The Study Commission believes that the Methodist people will meet the challenge with the necessary faith and appropriate action. Our ministry, our educational institutions and our world-wide opportunities are parts of our living heritage. The acceptance of this inheritance requires that the Church, with vision, dedication, and sacrifice, provide adequate educational preparation for the Ministers of tomorrow.

Recommendations of The General Conference Study Commission on Theological Education

I. The Study Commission recommends:

That the goal of 1,200 theological school graduates annually be accepted by the Church to be achieved during the 1956-1960 quadrennium.

II. The Commission further recommends

That a unified Program of Ministerial Recruitment and Guidance be developed by the Department of Theological Schools in co-operation with the Annual Conference Boards of Ministerial Training, the Inter-Board Commission on Christian Vocations, the Methodist colleges and universities, the Wesley Foundations, and the Methodist Theological Schools, together with all other Agencies and resources for recruiting in the Church, and that a co-ordinated Program of Admissions be developed by the Methodist Theological Schools in co-operation with the Director of Theological Schools.

III. The Study Commission recommends:

That the ten Methodist theological schools be commended for outstanding and devoted service to the Church in ministerial education, especially for the enrichment and expansion of their educational programs during the 1952-1956 quadrennium;

That the ten Methodist theological schools be requested to expand their enrollments with the objective of providing educational opportunity for a total enrollment of 4,300 full-time equivalent B.D. students each year, an increase of approximately 45% over present enrollment levels; and

The proportionate increase in financial support from World Service Funds be made to the Methodist Theological Schools on the basis of size, service and particular needs for the 1956-1960 quadrennium to the extent that such funds are available to the Department of Theological Schools, AND THAT EXISTING SEMINARIES SHALL BE GIVEN SPECIAL CONSIDERATION SO THAT THE GROWTH AND SERVICE OF SUCH SEMINARIES SHALL NOT BE HALTED NOR HINDERED.

IV. The Study Commission further recommends:

That the reorganization and relocation plans of Westminster Theological Seminary, and the Southern California School of Theology, be approved, and that these Schools be continued as Methodist Theological Schools approved to receive allocations of World Service Funds through the Department of Theological Schools, subject to the approval of their reorganization and relocation plans by the University Senate in consultation with the Department of Theological Schools.

That the Section of Ministerial Education be requested to designate a Committee to study the Ministry and the needs and resources in ministerial education for the Methodist ministry; and that this Committee be instructed to give special attention to the future program of Gammon Theological Seminary.

V. The Study Commission recommends:

That authorization be granted for the establishment of two new Methodist Theological Schools to be developed during the 1956-1960 quadrennium with the objective of enrolling 250 students each, one to be established in the Ohio Area, North Central Jurisdiction, and the other to be established in the Kansas-Missouri-Nebraska Areas, South Central Jurisdiction. The authority for determining the exact location and type of organization for each school should be invested in a Committee on Theological Education to be designated by the Area named, the Department of Theological Schools of the Board of Education, and the University Senate.

VI. The Study Commission recommends:

That the appreciation of The Methodist Church be expressed to the non-Methodist Seminaries for the educational opportunities afforded to Methodist theological students;

That the director of the Department of Theological Schools be authorized to invite consultation with the Administrative heads of non-Methodist schools in the selection of faculty personnel, part-time or full-time, to be engaged for teaching courses offered especially for Methodist students; and

That the Department of Theological Schools be authorized to initiate a temporary and limited program of grants to selected non-Methodist schools, in accordance with the recommendations of the Study Commission, for special instruction and services offered to Methodist students.

VII. The Study Commission recommends:

That World Service appropriation in the amount of $1,179,420 annually be made to the Department of Theological Schools for allocation to the theological schools of The Methodist Church.

VIII. The Commission further recommends:

That such limited and temporary grants to non-Methodist theological schools as may be arranged in accordance with the recommendations of the Study Commission may be paid out of reserve moneys accrued within the Department of Theological Schools. The total amount so expended shall not exceed $25,000 in any one year.

WORLD SERVICE BUDGET RECOMMENDATION

In compliance with Paragraphs 741-744 of the 1952 Discipline, the Council on World Service and Finance presents to the 1956 General Conference of The Methodist Church the following Report:

The Council on World Service and Finance is pleased to report that The Methodist Church has responded splendidly to the increased World Service Budget for the 1952-56 quadrennium. The request was for an over-all increase of 22.23% above the amount apportioned for 1948-1952. Here is the record for the first three years of the quadrennium:

World Service Apportioned

Annual	$ 9,660,000.00
Total for three years	28,980,000.00

World Service Paid

1952-53	9,316,506.37
1953-54	9,620,625.42
1954-55	9,761,407.78

Total for three years	$28,698,539.57
-----------------------------	-----------------

Unpaid	$ 281,460.43

It is probable that the further increase of this year will be sufficient to pay in full the total apportioned for the quadrennium.

The Apportionments for the 1952-1956 quadrennium were based on a plan to equalize the giving of the Annual Conferences to World Service. Conferences received Apportionment increases ranging between a minimum of 10% and a maximum of 35%. The Apportionments were based on membership, total giving (apart from building and improvements and payments on indebtedness) and World Service giving. Adjustments within the foregoing pattern resulted in an actual Apportionment of $9,525,089.00. The splendid response of the Church is indicated by the fact that the second year of the quadrennium exceeded the amount actually apportioned, and the third year surpassed the basic apportionment of $9,660,000.00. A further increase of 3% above last year's giving for World Service will pay in full the total Apportionment for the quadrennium. Our Methodist members have responded generously.

The World Service Budget is basic to the total Connectional Program of Methodism. Four years ago the Program Planning Committee, composed of the Bishops, the Executive Secretaries, the Council on World Service and Finance and representatives of the Woman's Division of Christian Service adopted this statement: "We regard the World Service Fund as basic in the Church's Financial Program. World Service Apportionments represent the minimum need of the General Agencies of the Church, and the payment in full of these apportionments by Local Churches and Conferences has prior claim over other Benevolent Appeals." This is a true statement. While the Board of Missions received over half of its income during the fiscal year 1954-55 from sources other than World Service on Apportionment (namely from Advance Special Gifts, the Week of Dedication, and the Bishops' Appeal for Korea), the other World Service Agencies, which provide Program help for all local Agencies, are almost totally dependent on World Service on Apportionment for their operating Budget. (The Special Offerings of the Board of Education do not go into the operating Budget of that Board.)

In preparing this recommendation the Council on World Service and Finance gave careful consideration to the following:

(a) The annual askings of the several World Service Agencies as presented to the Council totaled $17,439,722.18. The Council carefully studied the several requests and found that all were proposing worth-while and desirable extensions of their Program.

(b) The General Conference has placed upon World Service Agencies the responsibility for directing the Program of the Church on the general level and for helping and encouraging the Local Church. The support for these General Agencies comes almost entirely from World Service. The single exception to this is the Board of Missions which receives substantial amounts from General Advance Specials and the Week of Dedication. The General Advance Special Gifts are almost all designated, however, and the cost of promoting and administering these gifts must come from the Board of Missions' share of World Service.

(c) The general and generous response to the Program of General Advance Special Gifts and the Annual Conference Initiated Specials indicates the desirability and the necessity for their continuance.

(d) Whereas in previous quadrenniums the World Service on Apportionment giving increased steadily each year, there is now evidence that World Service giving in many Local Churches and Annual Conferences is being paid on the basis of the Apportionment and that surpluses are being channeled into one or more of the Special General and Conference Funds. Hence Apportionments need to be made, as nearly as possible, in such amounts as will enable each World Service Agency to do the work or render the service authorized by The General Conference.

(e) At the same time the Apportionments must be within the limits of a defensible plan of objective Apportionments to the Annual Conference.

Having given prayerful and sympathetic consideration to all the involvements concerned, the Council on World Service and Finance recommends to The General Conference that the annual World Service Budget for the 1956-1960 quadrennium be fixed at $12,200,000.00.

The Council on World Service and Finance recommends that all World Service money beginning with June 1, 1956 be distributed in accordance with the following schedule:

I. Prior claims shall be made on the World Service on Apportionment Fund for

(a) The expense of the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation, $420,000.00

(b) The World Service Budget share of the costs of the Central Treasury, $110,000.00

(c) The Council on World Service and Finance, $20,000.00, and the Budget for the Committee on Wills and Bequests, $25,000.00.

These Budgets shall be subject to adjustment by the Council on World Service and Finance after the responsibilities assigned to the Council by The General Conference have been determined.

II. Fixed sums shall be paid annually from the World Service receipts as follows:

To the Board of Pensions	$200,000.00
To the Woman's Division of Christian Service
pensions for deaconesses	45,000.00
To the American University	100,000.00

To the School of Inter-National Service 250,000.00

The Treasurer shall pay one twelfth of the foregoing amount each month to the Boards, Division or Institution indicated, except that the monies for the School of Inter-National Service shall be released for the approved projects only as certified to by the Division of Educational Institutions of the Board of Education.

III. The balance of the receipts for the regular World Service Program shall be distributed according to the following ratios:

Board of Missions	61.43%
Board of Education	14.46%
Theological Schools	11.33%
*Quadrennial Committee for Higher Education	.46%
Board of Evangelism	2.22%
Board of Lay Activities	1.81%
Board of Temperance	1.81%
Board of World Peace	.91%
Board of Social and Economic Relations	.82%
Board of Hospitals and Homes	1.13%
Television, Radio and Film Commission	1.81%
American Bible Society	1.13%
Scarritt College	.68%
	100.00%

* Limited to $50,000.00 in any one year. Overage, or if Committee is not formed, funds shall go to Section of Theological Education.

Based upon the foregoing percentages and assuming the $12,200,000.00 is paid in full, each Agency will receive approximately the following annual mounts which represent an increase for each Board & Agency:

Board of Missions	$ 6,775,000.00
Board of Education	1,595,000.00
Ministerial Education	1,250,000.00
Quadrennial Committee for Higher Education	50,000.00
Board of Evangelism	245,000.00
Board of Lay Activities	200,000.00
Board of Temperance	200,000.00
Board of World Peace	100,000.00
Board of Social and Economic Relations	90,000.00
Board of Hospitals and Homes	125,000.00
Television, Radio and Film Commission	200,000.00
American Bible Society	125,000.00

Scarritt College	75,000.00
	$11,030,000.00
Prior Claims	575,000.00
Fixed Payments	595,000.00
Total	$12,200,000.00

The Council on World Service and Finance, in presenting this Report, desires to point out that the previous Apportionment of $9,660,000.00 called for a per capita annual gift of $1.06. The new recommended Apportionment of $12,200,000.00 would equal an annual per capita gift of $1.31. This is a recommended Church-wide increase of 25c per member. The Council on World Service and Finance is convinced this is an attainable increase which will greatly strengthen and expand the work of our World Service Agencies.

The Council on World Service and Finance states most emphatically that it does not consider the sum of $12,200,000.00 an adequate sum for the work of the World Service Agencies. It therefore calls upon all Annual Conferences and all Local Churches to consider their Apportionments as a base below which they will not fall rather than a ceiling above which they will not go. The figure of $12,200,000.00 is given the Church as a minimum challenge. Your Council expresses the sincere hope that the effort will everywhere be made to enlarge the services of the Church through the help of greatly increased giving to Methodist World Service.

Your Council on World Service and Finance further urges that all money raised in the name of World Service and for the Program of World Service be transmitted each month by the Local Church (Benevolence) Treasurer to the Conference Treasurer who in turn shall transmit monthly the World Service share of the funds he receives to the Central Treasury, as authorized in Paragraph 804 of the 1952 Discipline.

SPECIAL REQUESTS TO ANNUAL CONFERENCES

I. The Quadrennial Program

The Quadrennial Program as presented by the Coordinating Council deserves our whole-hearted support. The Program has two emphases:

A. The Local Church Emphasis.

This aspect of the Program stems from the Bishops, working with and through their District Superintendents.

The recommendations call upon the Council on World Service and Finance "to make a reasonable increase in the promotion funds now made available to the Bishops in order to meet Area expense incident to the promotion of this phase of the Quadrennial Program." This has been provided in the Budget increase of the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation.

Local aspects of the Program will call upon Annual Conferences for promotion Funds. We commend the principle of Annual Conference participation in this promotion.

B. The Higher Education Emphasis.

This quadrennium has placed an emphasis on higher education with a suggested goal of 50¢ per Church Member for schools and colleges and 15¢ for the Wesley Foundations. The new Quadrennial Program calls for a goal ANNUALLY of at least $1.00 per member for our Educational Institutions AND 30¢ PER MEMBER FOR WESLEY FOUNDATIONS (See Journal, page 360, Editor) and for a Church-wide emphasis which should result in campaigns for funds on an Area or Conference level. It also calls for a Quadrennial Commission on Christian Education. In anticipation of the authorization of this Commission, the Council on World Service and Finance has set a ratio percentage for this Commission which will produce $50,000.00 as the new Apportionment is paid in full. This Report as herewith presented sets an upper limit of $50,000.00 in any one year from this source. Any amount on ratio above this sum will be added to the funds of the Section on Ministerial Education.

While the general financing of the Higher Education emphasis is provided from General Funds, the carrying out of the Program will involve Financial Campaigns on an Area or Conference level. The Council on World Service and Finance urges that each Annual Conference study carefully its responsibility to its schools, colleges and Wesley Foundations, and set Campaign Goals consistent with the needs of its Institutions and the financial ability of the Area or Conference.

II. Need for Church Extension

A tremendous sum of money has been expended on new buildings during the quadrennium. However, if Methodism is to assume its share in the responsibility for providing facilities for new communities similar sums must be raised in the forthcoming quadrennium. The generous response of the Church is indicated by the fact that $288,032,657.00 was paid for buildings and improvements during the first three years of this quadrennium as compared with the $209,-895,164.00 raised for these purposes in the corresponding years of the previous quadrennium. Much of this money is for established congregations, instead of being for new or struggling congregations, but it is indicative of the interest and concern of our Methodist members.

We recommend continuation of a strong Program of Conference Advance Specials to keep the growing edge of Church Extension active and aimed at meeting the needs of new congregations and missionary situations.

We further recommend that 10% of the undesignated money raised by the Annual Conference for its Home Missionary Program be sent to the Division of National Missions for its Home Missionary Program in those Conferences which are unable to carry their total missionary need.

III. Recognition of the Television Ministry

The past quadrennium has witnessed a tremendous increase in mass communication. Chief in growth has been the television. Realizing the importance of a television ministry conducted by the Church, approval was given by The Council of Bishops and the Council on World Service and Finance for a Church-wide appeal for a Methodist Television Ministry. While the response has been inadequate for the need, the increase in receipts of this second year of appeal over those of the first year is most encouraging.

RESOLUTION

Whereas the Church has given evidence that it wishes to support a Television Ministry.

Whereas many television stations are desirous of using Programs such as can be furnished by our Television, Radio and Film Commission, and

Whereas the Television Ministry is one of the thrusts of the total Church as well as the Local Church to reach into the homes of our nation,

Therefore, Be It Resolved That this General Conference authorize a World Service Special Gift Fund to be known as the Television Ministry Fund, the same to be raised as follows:

1. Promotion of the Fund shall be by the Central Office of Promotion and Cultivation in consultation with the Executive Secretary of the Television, Radio and Film Commission or a Special Committee thereof as may be determined by the Commission, and the appeal for this Fund shall be channeled through the Bishops, District Superintendents, and Pastors with the aid of the Conference Commission on Promotion.

2. Each Annual Conference may appoint a Television Ministry Committee to work on the Conference and District level with the Methodist Television, Radio and Film Commission in interpreting to the Local Churches the need for the Television Ministry Funds and the effective utilization of the Television Ministry programs.

3. No Apportionments shall be given the Annual Conference, District, or Local Church.

4. A special "Television Ministry" voucher shall be issued.

5. The Council on World Service and Finance is authorized to provide a space for recording the same in the Pastor's Report to the Annual Conference.

6. All funds for the Television Ministry shall be channeled through the Conference Treasurer to the Central Treasury.

7. If the Television, Radio and Film Commission deems it desirable, the designation of special projects within the Television Ministry Program may be authorized.

BISHOP CLARE PURCELL, President;
GEORGE B. MCKIBBIN(*), Secretary.

REPORT NO. 2. COUNCIL ON WORLD SERVICE AND FINANCE

APPORTIONMENTS TO ANNUAL CONFERENCES

AMENDED—Adopted May 3, 1956. See Journal, Pages 582-588.

Paragraph 749 of the 1952 Discipline reads:

"The Council on World Service and Finance shall after careful study prepare an equitable schedule of Apportionments by which the total World Service Budget (Par. 742) shall be distributed to the several Annual Conferences and shall present the same to The General Conference for its action and determination."

Your Council on World Service and Finance has given careful consideration to the Plan of Apportionment of the World Service Budget to the several Annual Conferences. We find there has been a very general acceptance of the Plan adopted four years ago and that most of the Annual Conferences have paid the amount apportioned. During the fiscal year 1954-55 enough Annual Conferences exceeded their Apportionment that a total of $236,318.78 was received in excess of the actual Apportionment of $9,525,089.00, and $101,407.78 in excess of the basic $9,660,000.00 on which the Apportionments were made.

The Plan adopted was the result of experimentation with and the study of almost a score of possible methods of distribution. It was, and continues to be, our endeavor to formulate a Plan which will be equitable despite the differences to be found in our extensive Denomination.

The Plan adopted in 1952 was simple, defensible, and equitable, though not perfect. Time has proven it to be workable. Accordingly, the Plan for 1956-1960 will follow in general that Plan, with some variations. Our recommendations are:

Our Recommendations Are

1. That the Apportionment for World Service for the 1956-1960 quadrennium be set at $12,200,000.00 annually.

2. That each Annual Conference shall have the right to fix its acceptance, after the Apportionment has been presented and explained by the Bishop and the Annual Conference Commission on World Service and Finance.

3. We recommend that the World Service Apportionment be distributed to the Annual Conferences on a decimal derived from the following factors:

(a) One third on the basis of total membership.

(b) One third on the basis of total non-building giving (i.e. total for all purposes less amounts paid for debts, buildings, and improvements), and

(c) On third on the basis of World Service giving on Apportionment.

The figures for computing the decimal shall be those covering the first three years of the quadrennium. The figures for (a) and (b) shall be taken from the General Minutes and for (c) from the Reports of The Council on World Service and Finance.

4. We recommend, however, that for this quadrennium the Schedule of Apportionments shall be so adjusted that no Annual Conference shall be apportioned an increase of less than 20% more than its Adjusted Apportionment of the past quadrennium and no Annual Conference shall be apportioned an increase of more than 35% above its Adjusted Apportionment of the past quadrennium, provided, however that no Annual Conference shall receive an Apportionment totaling more than 120% of its Decimal Apportionment of this quadrennium.

5. We recommend that those Annual Conferences whose Adjusted Apportionment is less than the decimal make an earnest effort to increase their giving until they reach the decimal.

6. That the Apportionments for World Service shall become effective immediately upon the adjournment of the 1956 General Conference.

METHOD OF ESTABLISHING WORLD SERVICE APPORTIONMENTS*For Information Only

The proposed World Service Annual Apportionment of $12,200,000 has been distributed among the Annual Conference on a decimal derived from the following factors:

1. One third on the basis of the average church membership for the Conference years 1953, 1954, and 1955 as revealed in the General Minutes.

a. The average membership for the above mentioned years is 9,229,297.

b. The decimal for this one third of the Total Apportionment is arrived at by dividing $1/3$ of the Total Apportionment ($4,066,667) by the average total membership.

c. The resulting decimal is .440625867 for the membership $1/3$ of the Apportionment.

2. One third on the basis of the average non building giving (i.e., total paid for all purposes minus paid on debt and paid for buildings and improvements) for the Conference years 1953, 1954, and 1955 according to the General Minutes.

a. The average non building giving for the above mentioned years is $227,705,972.

b. The decimal for this $1/3$ of the total apportionment ($4,066,667) by the average non building giving figure.

c. The resulting decimal is .017859290 for the non building giving $1/3$ of the Apportionment.

3. One third on the basis of average World Service giving on Apportionment for the fiscal years 1952-53, 1953-54, and 1954-55 according to the Annual Reports of the Council on World Service and Finance.

a. The average giving for the above mentioned years is $9,565,675.

b. The decimal for this $\frac{1}{3}$ of the total Apportionment is arrived at by dividing $\frac{1}{3}$ of the Total Apportionment (\$4,066,667) by the average World Service Giving.

c. The resulting decimal is .425131211 for the average World Service Giving $\frac{1}{3}$ of the Apportionment.

The adjusted Annual Conference Apportionments were arrived at by the following method:

1. When the Decimal Apportionment is less than 20% above the amount apportioned annually for the 1952-56 quadrennium, the present Apportionment is increased TO 20%.

2. When the Decimal Apportionment is more than 35% above the amount apportioned annually for the 1952-56 quadrennium, the present Apportionment is limited to a 35% increase.

In using the above method, each Annual Conference is given a minimum increase of 20%, or a maximum increase of 35% over the present Annual Apportionment: the percentage of increase being dependent upon the amount of the Decimal Apportionment.

The following is the method of determining an Annual Conference's adjusted World Service Apportionment, using Illinois and Missouri Annual Conferences as examples: (See Tables 1 and 2)

The Annual Apportionment for Illinois Conference for the 1952-56 quadrennium is $231,008. As each Annual Conference is to be given a minimum increase of 20% the adjusted Annual Apportionment is $279,320 (20.91% increase).

The Annual Apportionment for Missouri Conference for the 1952-56 quadrennium is $26,914; as no Annual Conference is to receive an increase greater than 35%, the adjusted Annual Apportionment is $36,334.

The above described methods of arriving at the Annual Conference Adjusted Apportionment are, however, subject to the following amendment:

THE EPISCOPAL FUND

(See Paragraphs 769-776 of the 1952 Discipline)

The Council on World Service and Finance presents to The General Conference the following recommendation concerning the Episcopal Fund Budget for the quadrennium beginning June 1, 1956.

I. Bishops Elected by Jurisdictional Conferences

1. The Salary of an effective Bishop shall be $12,500.00 per year.

2. The allowance of a retired Bishop or Missionary Bishop shall be $4,500.00 per year.

3. The allowance for the widow of a deceased Bishop or Missionary Bishop shall be $2,750.00 per year provided that prior to the death of her husband she had been his wife for a period of at least fifteen years while he was in the effective ministry of The Methodist Church as a Bishop or a Traveling Preacher. The allowance for the widow of a deceased Bishop or Missionary Bishop, who, prior to the death of her husband had been his wife for a shorter period than fifteen years while he was an effective Minister of The Methodist Church, shall be determined on the basis of that fraction of the said fifteen years during which she was his wife. (See Par. 776, 1952 Discipline.)

4. The Council on World Service and Finance shall determine the amounts to be allowed for the support of minor children of deceased Bishops and for children who are, at the time of the Bishop's death, of evident mental or physical incapacity to provide for their own self-support.

5. For an Episcopal Residence furnished an effective Bishop, where the Residence is held for The Methodist Church by a Board of Trustees there shall be allowed annually the sum needed to cover the cost of maintenance; provided however, that during the period when an Area or Conference is paying off a lien against an Episcopal Residence the fair rental value of the Residence may be paid to the Trustees monthly; the total for the year not to exceed $3,000.00. When a Conference or Area Committee furnishes an Episcopal Residence, or a Residence is secured by the Bishop himself, there shall be allowed annually the sum needed to cover actual rental cost, provided this shall not exceed $3,000.00 per year.

6. For Secretarial and Office Expense each effective Bishop shall be allowed annually a sum as needed but not to exceed $5,000.00.

7. Cost of "Official Travel" of each effective Bishop shall be paid upon presentation of an itemized statement of expense. "Official Travel" shall be interpreted to include all Official Travel within the assigned Area including the cost of long distance telephone calls, telegrams, and postage and such Official Travels outside the Area for the work of The Methodist Church as are not paid for by the General Boards and Commissions. The General Boards, Commissions and Committees of the Church shall pay the travel expense of its Episcopal Membership on the same basis as the travel of other Members. Travel outside the Area for addresses and lectures for which honorarium is received is not "Official Travel."

8. Bishops elected by a Jurisdictional Conference and assigned to Areas outside the United States shall be paid the expense of travel of the wife and minor children to the Area headquarters. The travel expense of the Bishop will be paid to one meeting of The Council of Bishops in the interim between General Conferences. One round-trip passage for his wife will be paid in each quadrennium. Travel expense of minor children will be paid when returning to the United States for college.

9. Travel expense incurred by a retired Bishop resident in the United States in attending the meetings of The General and Jurisdictional Conference, of the semi-annual meetings of The Council of Bishops and of the Annual Meeting of his College of Bishops shall be paid from the Episcopal Fund.

10. The Council of Bishops shall determine and schedule the travel of its members on Official Visits to Overseas Conferences. The expense of such travel is to be paid from the Episcopal Fund.

11. When the necessity arises, The Council of Bishops may send one of its number to organize and/or to hold an Overseas Annual Conference or Conferences and Central Conference or Conferences with the expense for the same paid from the Episcopal Fund.

12. The Council on World Service and Finance may authorize, upon certification of need by The Council of Bishops, a Budget providing for the employment of a special stenographer and the other additional expenses incurred by the Secretary of The Council of Bishops in the performance of the special duties of this office.

II. Bishops Elected by Central Conferences

1. The Council on World Service and Finance, in compliance with Paragraph 574 of the 1952 Discipline, shall make to the Bishops elected by the Central Conferences, or to the Treasurer of the Central Conference Episcopal Fund when so authorized, such remittances as the Council on World Service and Finance shall determine. Consideration shall be given to the representation made by the Central Conferences concerning the needs of each. Each Treasurer of a Central Conference Episcopal Fund shall furnish the Central Treasury with an annual Certified Public Accountant Audit of the funds received and distributed by him. Annual adjustments of balances remaining in the Central Conference Treasuries shall be made by the Central Treasury.

2. The Council on World Service and Finance shall determine what sum shall be paid from the Episcopal Fund for the support of Minister or the widow of a Minister who, having been elected by a Central Conference to serve as a Bishop for one or more terms or for life, shall have reached the time of retirement. Where Term Episcopacy has been established, the Pension provided from the Episcopal Fund shall be made only after a Minister, elected as a Bishop by a Central Conference, shall have reached the age of retirement as set by the Central Conference or shall have been retired for physical disability. In no case shall automatic retirement take effect before this sixty-fifth birthday.

3. Travel expenses will be paid each effective Bishop of a Central Conference attending the sessions of The General Conference and the meeting of The Council of Bishops held in connection therewith, and one other meeting of The Council of Bishops, during the ensuing quadrennium. AUTHORIZED TRAVEL SHALL BE ON THE SAME BASIS AS THE TRAVEL OF A BISHOP ELECTED BY A JURISDICTIONAL CONFERENCE.

4. Travel of any Bishop elected by a Central Conference coming to the United States for an official meeting shall be reimbursed for travel expenses to the seat of the meeting and return, and his expenses in the United States shall be paid for not more than one week previous to the official meeting and for not more than one week following the adjournment of the official meeting. Bishops wishing to stay in the United States for a longer period for cultivation purposes may make such arrangements with the Board of Missions.

5. In the special case of Overseas Bishops staying after The General Conference for the meeting of the World Methodist Conference, your Council recommends:

1. That we request The Council of Bishops to name the Overseas Bishops who, in their opinion should attend the meeting of the World Methodist Conference, and

2. That the expenses of the Bishops named shall be borne by the Episcopal Fund.

3. Travel for one round trip to the United States during the quadrennium will be paid the wife of an effective Bishop of a Central Conference.

III. Reserve for Pensions of Retired Bishops

The Council on World Service and Finance requests authority from The General Conference to set aside from the current Episcopal Fund a sum of not to exceed $1,000,-000.00, and less if deemed advisable, the same to be carefully invested in compliance with the Prudent Man act so the interest therefrom may be added to the principal during the 1956-60 quadrennium. This money is to be a further step in the funding of an adequate reserve for the payment of the Pensions of retired Bishops, their widows and minor children. Furthermore, the Council on World Service and Finance requests authority to bring to the 1960 General Conference a completed Plan for the funding of an Episcopal Pension Reserve Fund.

IV. Increase or Decrease During Quadrennium

The amounts above authorized in I and II are subject to increase or decrease during the quadrennium, if, in the judgment of a three-fourths vote of the total membership of the Council on World Service and Finance, economic conditions make such a change necessary.

V. Travel Expense Vouchers

Any and all travel expense of the Bishops will be paid only upon the presentation of an itemized statement.

VI. Apportionment for the Episcopal Fund

The Apportionment for the quadrennium shall be a sum equal to two per cent of the cash salary (not including house allowance) paid to the Pastor or Pastors of each Charge throughout the entire Church. The Council on World Service and Finance shall be authorized to increase or decrease the rate of Apportionment during the quadrennium as may become necessary or advisable, providing that the rate shall not be increased above 2½ per cent.

The estimated annual requirement for this Fund during the ensuing quadrennium is $1,429,075.00. The estimated return upon the foregoing proposed apportionment is $1,370,000.00.

The Council on World Service and Finance is directed to alter the provisions of Section VI so as to conform to any legislation that may be adopted by this General Conference.

VII. Determination of Validity of Claims

The Executive Committee of the Council on World Service and Finance shall act for the Council within the authority conferred upon it by the Council, in determining the validity of any claims upon the Episcopal Fund which may be presented during the ensuing quadrennium.

VIII. Episcopal Reserve Pensions Fund

The following Resolution was presented:

JOINT REPORT OF THE COUNCIL ON WORLD SERVICE AND FINANCE, AND THE COMMITTEE ON PENSION LEGISLATION RESERVE FUNDING OF THE PENSIONS OF BISHOPS.

The General Conference of 1952 directed the Committee on Pension Legislation to study and report to The General Conference of 1956, "in co-operation with the Council of World Service and Finance, a Plan for the Reserve Funding of the Pensions of Bishops and the widows of Bishops." (Par. 1665 - 7 Discipline of 1952).

The Committee on Pension Legislation and the Council on World Service and Finance each elected four members to serve on a Special Committee, which Committee was directed to give consideration to the formation of a Specific Plan and to report its findings and recommendations separately and independently to the aforementioned Committee on Pension Legislation and the Council on World Service and Finance.

With the counsel and assistance of actuaries, experienced in the field of Reserve Pension Programs for Ministers, the Special Committee approved and recommended a set of general principles together with a Specific Program by which these principles could be activated. These recommendations were reported separately to the Committee on Pension Legislation and to the Council on World Service and Finance.

With minor adjustments and amendments, the recommendations proposed by the Special Committee were adopted by the Commission on Pension Legislation and the Council on World Service and Finance as follows:

1. That a Contributory Reserve Pension Fund be established for Bishops of The Methodist Church elected by a General or Jurisdictional Conference.

2. That each such Bishop in active service be required to contribute annually thereto an amount equal to 3% of his cash salary.

3. That the aforesaid contribution required of each such Bishop shall be deducted at the source from the salary of the Bishop and remitted thereby to the Fund.

4. That the Pension Benefit derived from the contributions required of a Bishop shall be regarded as part of the total amount of Pension payable to said Bishop as it may be determined from time to time by The General Conference.

5. That the entire cost of such Bishops elected in 1956 and thereafter, exclusive of the annual personal contributions required of said Bishops, shall be amortized by annual payments to the Fund to be paid during the first quadrennium after their election.

6. That on June 1, 1956, an amount, not to exceed $1,000,000.00, be paid from the Episcopal Fund to a Reserve Pension Fund for Bishops to provide a first payment toward the cost of the reserve funding of the Pensions for such Bishops as were elected to the Episcopacy prior to The General Conference of 1956 and for their surviving widows.

7. That the remainder of the amount needed to provide the reserve funding for the Pensions of such Bishops elected prior to 1956, and for their surviving widows, exclusive of the annual personal contributions required of said Bishops, be amortized during such period as may be determined by the Council on World Service and Finance.

8. That the schedule of amortization as provided above be fixed, and if necessary that it be adjusted from time to time, so that in any Conference year the total Annual Apportionment to the Pastoral Charges for the Episcopal Fund as required for all purposes thereof shall not exceed the percentage approved by The General Conference as the Apportionment for the Episcopal Fund.

A careful study of the recommendations as set forth above indicates that consideration has been given to the solution of two major problems in devising the procedure essential to the conversion of the present Pension Plan to a Reserve Pension Plan for the Pensions of Bishops and the widows of deceased Bishops.

The first problem relates to the determination of specific rules and regulations in accordance with which the Reserve Plan must be administered in the future. These rules and regulations include provisions for the method of determining the amounts of the several benefits, the method of financing the costs and the requirement, if any, concerning the amount of contribution by the Bishops and the method of collection.

The second problem relates to the determination of the method and procedure in changing from the present to the Reserve Funding Plan. It is recommended that The General Conference authorize the Council on World Service and Finance to determine, within limits, the timing and selection of the procedures necessary to achieve fully the goal.

Therefore, the Commission on Pension Legislation and the Council on World Service and Finance, by concurrent Resolutions, hereby recommend:

That the 1952 Discipline be amended by revising Par. 770 by adding a new Section, as follows:

1. "The Pensions for the support of retired Bishops elected by a General or Jurisdictional Conference and the surviving widows and minor dependent children of such deceased Bishops shall be provided by means of a Contributory Reserve Pension Fund to be held and administered by the Council on World Service and Finance in consultation with the General Board of Pensions.

(a) The amounts of the annual Pensions payable to retired Bishops and to the surviving widows and minor dependent children of deceased Bishops shall be determined by The General Conference, on recommendation of the Council on World Service and Finance.

(b) Each Bishop in active service shall be required to contribute annually to the Fund an amount equal to 3% of his cash salary.

(c) The Treasurer of the Episcopal Fund shall be authorized and instructed to withhold from his salary the amount of the Bishop(s) required contribution and to pay said amount to the fund.

(d) Any and all benefit derived from the contributions required of a Bishop shall be regarded as a part of the total amount of the Pension payable to said Bishop upon his retirement and to his surviving widow and minor dependent children.

(e) The remainder of the cost of the Reserve Funding of the Pensions payable to retired Bishops and to the widows and minor dependent children of deceased Bishops shall be provided from the Episcopal Fund in accordance with such program and procedure as may from time to time be determined by the Council on World Service and Finance with the approval of The General Conference."

2. That the Council on World Service and Finance be authorized and directed to proceed as rapidly as possible to convert fully the present Pension Program for Bishops and the widows and minor dependent children of deceased Bishops to the Program of the Reserve Funding of the Pensions of Bishops and of the widows and dependent minor children of deceased Bishops.

The Report includes only items authorized in the 1952 Discipline. These are recommended to The General Conference.

EXPLANATION OF ITEMS IN BUDGET:

1. The expense of the 1960 General Conference is budgeted at $440,000.00, this being the estimated cost of that meeting.

2. The General Conference Committee on Entertainment and Program has requested an additional $20,000.00 as an assist to the Local Committee on Entertainment.

7. The expense of The Judicial Council is an authorized expense upon the General Administration Fund.

11. Under General Expense is included the General Administration Fund share of the Central Treasury, and other items which may be authorized as having a rightful claim upon this Fund.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That the amount budgeted for The Judicial Council be an annual sum of $5,500.00, it being understood that if this amount is insufficient in any one year, such additional funds as may be necessary shall be drawn from the General Conference Expense Fund.

2. That the authorized travel allowance for attendance upon the 1956 General Conference be as stated in the Plan of Organization and Rules of Order of the 1956 General Conference.

3. That the several interests included in the Annual Budget of the General Administration Fund shall draw upon the Administration Fund receipts as needed each year, within the limitations of their Budgets and as funds are available for the same; provided that if inflation or deflation during the quadrennium radically changes the cost upon this fund or the receipts for this fund, adjustments may be made within the total framework of the Budget as may be deemed necessary upon a two-thirds affirmative vote of the members of the Council on World Service and Finance.

4. That an Annual Conference which in any year overpays its Apportionment for the General Administration Fund shall be given credit for the same in the succeeding year and any Conference which fails to pay its Apportionment in full for any one or more years shall have the deficit added to the Apportionment of the succeeding year.

5. THAT WHEN ALL THE APPROVED ITEMS TO BE INCLUDED IN THE GENERAL ADMINISTRATION FUND HAVE BEEN DETERMINED, THE COUNCIL ON WORLD SERVICE AND FINANCE IS AUTHORIZED TO APPORTION THE SAME TO THE ANNUAL CONFERENCES, USING AS THE FACTOR THE AVERAGE NON-BUILDING TOTAL GIVING FOR ALL PURPOSES FOR THE YEARS 1952-1955.

REPORT NO. 5. COUNCIL ON WORLD SERVICE AND FINANCE

The Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund

Adopted May 3, 1956. See Journal, Pages 600-606.

(Paragraph 778 of the 1952 Discipline)

Complying with Paragraph 778 of the 1952 Discipline, the Council on World Service and Finance presents herewith a Budget for the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund and recommendations as to the distribution of this Fund.

Careful consideration has been given to the askings of the National Council of Churches in the U.S.A. and to the World Council of Churches. These Agencies provide the channels through which The Methodist Church works co-operatively with National and World Protestantism. Your Council recognizes the obligation of The Methodist Church to carry its full share in the leadership and support of these Agencies.

During this past quadrennium each Agency has progressed in the development of a National and World sense of Christian solidarity. In this time when our world is filled with distrust and suspicion, these Inter-Denominational Agencies are vital agencies in pointing the way to the establishment of the Kingdom of God on this earth.

Your Council is aware of the need of each Agency for a much larger Budget than is here provided. Urgent requests have come from several of our Methodist Agencies to transfer to this Fund activities now being supported by them. Other World Service Agencies have requested allotments from this fund for important new projects. All of these activities are worth while and challenge Methodist support.

At the same time your Council has reviewed the requests of our World Service Agencies. Needs totaling $17,439,-033.18 were presented. The Council has estimated that $12,200,000.00 represented a realistic asking from our churches. This is an overall increase of 26.29%. The increase for the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund, as here presented, is 31.88%. The Budget follows:

EXPLANATION OF BUDGET

The National Council

Washington Office: By Inter-Denominational agreement and with the support of the Co-operating Bodies, a Washington Office has functioned for the past eight or more years. This office keeps the General Agencies of the Co-operating Churches informed about national legislation and other government activities in which they are interested. The recommendation is for $4,500.00.

The Joint Department of Stewardship and Benevolence: This was a function of the former "Federal Council of Churches" and was supported from funds of the Council. The Methodist Church does not have united in one Agency a comparable organization. Some of the functions of this Joint Department are performed by the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation, some by the Council on World Service and Finance and some by the Board of Lay Activities. The designation of $5,000.00 is a reasonable appropriation for this important department of the National Council.

The United Church Canvass: For the past quadrennium the United Church Canvass has been supported by the General Administration Fund. Now that the United Church Canvass is a part of the National Council, it is proper that it have a place in this fund. Our Methodist share from these general funds is recommended as $2,000.00.

General Purposes Costs: Amount recommended—$165,-139.00. This sum is paid to help (1) support the General Administrative Costs of the National Council and (2) to provide the Methodist share of Special Program and Service projects which may develop during the quadrennium. (Definition of "General Purposes" follows the Budget.)

Broadcasting and Film: The directive for paying this comes from the Television, Radio and Film Commission. The total recommended is $60,000.00.

Travel—Members of the General Board: The General Board of the National Council meets bi-monthly. Within the limits of the funds appropriated, the travel is paid for the Methodist members. The annual amount to be made available is recommended as $10,000.00.

The World Council

Administration: The Methodist share of the administrative costs of the World Council is $96,891.00.

Travel: The travel expense of the Methodist members of the Executive Committee is paid from this appropriation, the recommended amount being $10,000.00.

Headquarters Building: It is highly desirable to house the World Council in its own building. The Methodist share will be withheld until the building is satisfactorily financed. An annual amount of $18,000.00 is recommended.

Travel—Assembly in 1960: It is recommended that $5,000.00 be set aside annually to assist in the travel of Methodist Delegates to the Assembly in 1960.

DEFINITION OF "GENERAL PURPOSES"

The General Undesignated Income Account of the National Council of Churches was established to receive contributions from member Denominations and other sources which are either specifically designated for general use or, lacking any instruction, are therefore considered to be "General Purposes" of the Council.

The "General Purpose" Funds have in the past been allocated to and expended by the Council's Program Units and General Secretariat under annual authorizations of the General Board. Subject to future authorizations, the term "General Purposes" will include the following Program and Administrative Activities:

1. To cover the cost of the General Secretariat;
2. To defray expenses of the General Assembly, the General Board and their Committees;
3. To fulfill commitments to two Program Units, the Division of Christian Life and Work and the Division of Christian Education, which at the time of the merger turned over their undesignated income sources to the National Council for general solicitation with the provision that they would receive back annually an equitable share of general income;
4. To stabilize and strengthen Program in Units not having the member Denominations;
5. To assist Program Units in meeting their central service costs;
6. To strengthen basic, General Program throughout the Council, especially at points where the activities of several units are involved and where restricted sources of any one or all together are at present inadequate;
7. To make possible special short-term projects when great national issues are at stake and the Member Denominations wish to act promptly and forcefully in meeting them together through the Council;
8. To strengthen the General Program of public interpretation on behalf of the Member Bodies and for the spiritual enrichment of Protestantism and the Nation in general.

In connection with the Apportionment, collection, and distribution of the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund your Council on World Service and Finance further recommends:

A. That a new Chapter be added to Part VII, Administrative Agencies, to be called Chapter XXI, Inter-Denominational Agencies, to read as follows:

Par. 1599: The Methodist Church is a Charter Member of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America. It has borne its proportionate share of financial support, and through the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund is authorized and directed to continue its support.

The representatives of The Methodist Church to the Assembly, the General Board, and other Agencies of the National Council shall be nominated by The Council of Bishops and elected by The General Conference, due regard being given to geographical representation. When representatives must be chosen between sessions of The General Conference, The Council of Bishops is authorized and instructed to do so.

Vacancies occurring in Methodist representation in the National Council of Churches shall be filled by The Council of Bishops.

Methodist support of the World Council of Churches shall be channeled through the central Treasury, as the Council on World Service and Finance shall direct, due credit being given by the Council on World Service and Finance for Methodist gifts and contributions received by the National Council of Churches. The sources of income shall include (a) the National Council of Churches' share of the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund, as determined by The General Conference; (b) Such payments by the General Agencies of the Church as each Agency may deem its responsibility and proportionate share in the Co-operative Program of the National Council; (c) Personal group, or Local Church gifts shall be included as a part of the ratio distribution of the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund.

These gifts and contributions are to be included in the Annual Financial Report of the Council on World Service and Finance to the Church.

Par. 1600: The Methodist Church is a Charter Member of the World Council of Churches. It has borne its proportionate share of financial support, and through the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund is authorized and directed to continue its support.

The representatives of The Methodist Church to the Assembly and other Agencies of the World Council shall be nominated by The Council of Bishops and elected by The General Conference, due regard being given to geographical representation. When representatives must be chosen between sessions of The General Conference, The Council of Bishops is authorized and instructed to do so.

Vacancies occurring in Methodist representation in the World Council of Churches shall be filled by The Council of Bishops.

Methodist support of the World Council of Churches shall be channeled through the central Treasury as the Council on World Service and Finance shall direct, due credit being given by the Council on World Service and Finance for Methodist gifts and contributions received by the World Council of Churches, these gifts and contributions to be included in the Annual Financial Report to the Church.

B. That The General Conference approve:

1. That the Committee on Records, Forms, and Statistical Blanks of the Council on World Service and Finance be authorized to include two columns in the Pastors' Report to the Annual Conference, the general heading to be "Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund," the first column to indicate "Amount Apportioned" and the second column, "Amount Paid."

2. That the basis for Apportionment to each Annual Conference be a sum to 19/100ths% of the average annual amount of the Annual Conferences total giving for all purposes (not including sums paid on debts or for building and improvements) as reported in the General Minutes for the first three years of the 1952-1956 quadrennium.

3. That all Methodist Agencies, including Annual Conferences, Local Churches and individuals, contributing to either the National Council of Churches in the U.S.A. or the World Council of Churches shall channel their contributions through the Central Treasury of the Council on World Service and Finance. Gifts received by either the National Council or the World groups or Local Churches are to be reported to the Central Treasury and credited as directed by the donor. Undirected gifts shall be credited as directed by the Council on World Service and Finance.

4. That the Board of Missions, the Board of Education, M.C.O.R., the Board of Lay Activities, the Methodist Publishing House, and other Methodist Agencies as they may elect, continue to purchase services as in the past and that they continue to enter into co-operative projects as they may deem desirable or in the best interests of efficiency and economy. However, any and all contributions or payments from The Methodist Church will be channeled as above directed so that The Methodist Church may have an exact and complete record of the total Methodist participation in the work of the National Council of Churches in the U.S.A.

5. That the Council on World Service and Finance, or its Executive Committee, be authorized to make adjustments within the Fund when the same are deemed necessary and when approved by three fourths of those present and voting.

GEORGE B. MCKIBBIN (*), Secretary.

SUBJECT: UNIFICATION OF TITLES

(Paragraph 1120-3)

The 1952 Discipline, Par. 1120 (3) places upon the Council on World Service and Finance the following responsibility:

"The Council on World Service and Finance shall have authority and responsibility to . . . establish titles for the employed Executive Staff of World Service Agencies in the interest of uniformity and consistency."

In compliance with this mandate of the last General Conference an intensive study has been made of titles as now used; a conference has been held with the Executive Secretaries of the World Service Agencies, and we believe that general approval has been given by the Executive Secretaries to the following Report.

Report of Titles

Our study of the Boards and Agencies of The Methodist Church indicates that while there is a wide variety of organizational structure and of titles, there are two places in which there is general agreement. First, the term used for the Sub-division of the work which deals with a specific phase of the service to the field is in general called a Department. Second, the head of a Board or large agency is generally known as Executive Secretary. The exception to this is the Board of Missions where the top men in the Division are known as General Executive Secretaries.

There is fairly general agreement in the Boards in the sequence of Staff Officers. This is Executive Secretary (General Executive Secretary—Board of Missions), Associate Secretary, Assistant Secretary. At the Department level there is wide variation of terminology. The small Board with only one Officer above the Department level tends to call the Department head an Associate Secretary. The other terms used are Administrative Secretary by the Division of World Missions; Superintendent or Director in the Division of National Missions; Secretary or Director in the General Section of the Joint Section of Education and Cultivation; Director in the Board of Education.

There are two types of organizational structure within our World Service Agencies, namely:

1. Two or more co-equal Divisions within a Board with a General Executive Secretary or Executive Secretary at the head of each. This pattern is found in the Board of Missions, The Board of Education, and the Board of Pensions.

2. A "Board" with one Executive Secretary or Executive Director as the head. The remainder of the World Service Agencies follow this pattern.

Therefore, in the light of these findings, the Council on World Service and Finance recommends to this General Conference that

- I. Each World Service Agency, so far as possible, shall adopt the following levels in Agency Organization.

- A. Board or Division: The general organization of Staff responsibility.

- B. Section: A Board Sub-division of responsibility of a Board or Division.

- C. Department: A specific phase of service to the field.

- D. Bureau: A Sub-division of responsibility within a Department.

- II. Each World Service Agency shall adopt the following titles for the head executive at each level.

- A. General Secretary: Board or Division.

- B. Executive Secretary: Section.

- C. Director: Department.

- D. Superintendent: Bureau.

In order to implement this change it is recommended that The General Conference authorize each World Service Agency to co-operate with the Editors of the 1956 Discipline in making the changes necessary to bring the disciplinary nomenclature into harmony with the foregoing recommendations.

In making these changes the Editors of the Discipline and the World Service Agencies are directed to be guided by the following advices in so far as these may be applicable.

1. Boards may wish to organize with the Departments directly responsible to the General Secretary, rather than have an Executive Secretary in charge of a group of Departments. In this case, the heads of Departments will be known as Directors, and the General Secretary may have one or more Associate or Assistant Secretaries responsible to him. These will be in general administration, but not responsible for a group of Departments. Their title and place in a wage scale will be determined by the extent and type of responsibility, which should be similar in responsibility to analogous situations in the other Boards.

2. The Chief Executive Officer of a Council, Board, Division, Commission, Joint Section, and M.C.O.R. should be classified as General Secretary. The chief Officer of an Inter-Board Committee should be classified as an Executive Secretary.

3. An Editor is generally classified as on the level of an Executive Secretary, the head of a Section of work. The level of a Treasurer, Business Manager or Office Manager will vary according to the size of the Agency and the scope of his responsibilities.

4. THE TITLE OF ASSOCIATE SECRETARY IS USED FOR PERSONS WHO ARE SECOND IN AUTHORITY ONLY TO THE GENERAL SECRETARY, AND MAY BE ASSIGNED AUTHORITY TO SPEAK FOR THE GENERAL SECRETARY IN HIS ABSENCE. IN THE BOARD OF MISSIONS, THE TITLE OF ASSOCIATE GENERAL SECRETARY MAY BE USED TO DESIGNATE THE PERSON WHO IS ASSIGNED THIS AUTHORITY AND ALSO HAS CERTAIN EXECUTIVE SECRETARIES RESPONSIBLE TO HIM.

5. The accompanying graphs are appended so that the Staff Organization of the two types of Agencies may be visualized.

SUBJECT:—IMPROVEMENTS AND ECONOMIES

(Paragraph 782)

The Executive Secretaries have taken very seriously Paragraph 782 of the 1952 Discipline which reads:

"During the 1952-56 quadrennium these Agencies shall study their respective functions, Programs, and internal operations and institute such improvements and economies in their work as they find to be feasible and practicable. They shall co-operate with the Council on World Service and Finance in working out, in advance of these studies, the general areas to be included and methods of carrying out this objective. They shall report their accomplishments in improvements and economies at the close of each fiscal year during the 1952-56 quadrennium to the Council on World Service and Finance, which shall prepare from this information a combined Report for The General Conference of 1956."

Every Board has reported on its studies to reduce administration costs. "Economy" has been interpreted as reducing administrative costs so as to release funds for increased service to the field.

There are three ways in which improvements have taken place:

1. The reduction of administrative and promotional costs so that a larger percentage of the dollar goes into service to the field,
2. Economies in service to the field, and
3. The elimination of unnecessary service.

In each case the improvement or economy means released funds which are available for increased service to the field.

The year 1953-54 was the first in which Reports to the Council on World Service and Finance were broken down into Service, Administration and Promotion. In the comparison of the fiscal year 1953-54 and 1954-55 the increase in the disbursements of the World Service agencies amounted to $1,750,806.23. This was an increase of 10.1%. Even with this increase in total disbursements there was a decrease in the amount reported for administration amounting to $275,798.35. Promotion showed an increase of $72,117.58. Thus, the percentage of costs classified as administration dropped 2.4% and the percentage of costs classified as promotion increased 0.1%. In 1954-55 $1,954,-487.00 more went into service to the field than in the fiscal year 1953-54. This means that the percentage of funds which went into service to the field increased from 87.3% to 89.6%, an increase of 2.3%.

While this may be the largest amount of saving reported in any one year, because it is the result of Agency study during the first year of the quadrennium, it is an indication of the careful attention the Boards have been giving to administrative costs. The introduction of new equipment and new procedures, developed in recent years in the business field, have helped in reducing administration costs.

The scope of the studies of these Agencies falls into six fields.

1. Study of Policies and Procedures
2. Changes in organization and the assignment of Staff responsibility
3. Inter-Board or Inter-Denominational Co-operative activity
4. Literature and promotion materials
5. Personnel Policies and Practices
6. Office Equipment Practices and Procedures

It is to be noted that only 5 and 6 are items which would reduce the cost of administration. No. 4 would effect savings in promotion. 1, 2, and 3 relate to improved service. These savings in service are difficult to estimate. They would doubtless be as large as the savings in administration.

Some examples of savings follow:

1. Staff members have studied travel schedules with a view of avoiding overlapping of services in the field.
2. Increased use has been made of volunteer Staffs on the Annual Conference or District level.
3. Inter-Board meetings have resulted in the assignment of duties, preventing duplication of materials and the overlapping of Program, and
4. The grouping of general meetings so as to reduce Staff travel.

Other General Agencies have also studied their operations and have been able to effect savings. It is more difficult to report the amount of these savings because they do not present an annual report similar to the World Service Agencies. The reductions in administrative costs in the larger Agencies would roughly parallel the savings of the World Service Agencies.

The spirit of co-operation and goodwill among the Secretaries in the study and sharing of experiences in effecting economies and improvements has made for the welfare of the Boards and of the Church as a whole. An excellent start has been made by the World Service Agencies and the Secretaries have expressed their willingness to have the study of their operations continue.

RESOLUTION

Whereas benefits to the Church have accrued from the legislation in Paragraph 782 of the 1952 Discipline, and

Whereas the Secretaries of the Agencies receiving financial support from the World Service Fund, the General Administration Fund, or any Church appeal have expressed willingness to have this study continue,

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Editors be authorized to delete 1952-56 in the first line of Paragraph 782; the same in line 10; and of 1956 in line 13 so that the Paragraph as revised shall read:

"Paragraph 782. During the quadrennium these Agencies shall study their respective functions, Programs, and internal operations and institute such improvements and economies in their work as they find to be feasible and practicable. They shall co-operate with the Council on World Service and Finance in working out, in advance of these studies, the general Areas to be included and methods of carrying out this objective. They shall report their accomplishments in improvements and economies at the close of each fiscal year during the quadrennium to the Council on World Service and Finance, which shall prepare from this information a combined report for The General Conference."

SUBJECT:—SPECIAL DAYS

Paragraph 747 of the 1952 Discipline reads:

"The Council on World Service and Finance shall also recommend to The General Conference the days in connection with the Church-wide observance of which the taking of Special Offerings shall be authorized, and in the case of each shall recommend whether or not the receipts derived therefrom shall be credited to the contributing church as a part of its World Service Apportionment, and charged against the claims of the Board or Agency receiving the same. All such recommendations are subject to the approval of The General Conference."

In compliance with this legislation, the Council on World Service and Finance presents the following recommendations:

1. Week of Dedication: As the name implies, Methodists are called upon to observe a week of personal spiritual dedication culminating in a renewed purpose to exemplify the spirit of Christ, and to give token of this dedication in an offering presented on the closing Sunday of the Week. The date is set by the Co-ordinating Council and comes near the beginning of Lent. The Council recommends the taking of this offering to be known as "The Week of Dedication Offering." This offering shall be channeled through the Conference Treasurer to the Central Treasury. A special "Week of Dedication" voucher shall be issued. The Council further recommends that The General Conference authorize the continuance of a space in the Pastor's Report to the Annual Conference for reporting the amount of the offering. The Central Treasurer is directed, after deducting the cost of the promotion of the offering, to make distribution as authorized by the "Week of Dedication Committee."

2. Fellowship of Suffering and Service: The Council recommends that an offering be taken on World-wide Communion Sunday for the Fellowship of Suffering and Service. It further recommends that similar offerings be taken each time the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is observed and that all or a portion of these offerings be transmitted through the Conference Treasurer to the Central Treasury. A special "Fellowship of Suffering and Service" voucher shall be issued. It further recommends that The General Conference authorize the continuance of a space in the Pastor's Report to the Annual Conference for reporting the amount of the offering. Distribution of the offering shall be made by the Central Treasurer, after the costs of promotion have been deducted, on the ratio of 50% for M.C.O.R., 25% for the Commission on Chaplains, and 25% for the Commission on Camp Activities.

3. World Service Sunday: Authorized as a responsibility of the Official Board (Par. 215-3 of the 1952 Discipline) and of the Commission on Education in the Church School (Par.

233-1 of the 1952 Discipline), the Council on World Service and Finance recommends its continuance and calls attention to the fact that the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation, 740 Rush Street, Chicago 11, Illinois prepares free promotional literature each month which the Pastor may secure upon request. This offering is for World Service and Conference Benevolences and is credited on the Apportionment to the Local Church. It is recommended that line 30 "Church School offering for World Service and Conference Benevolences" in the Pastor's Report to the Annual Conference be continued.

4. Church School Rally Day: This is an annual offering taken in the Church School for the Annual Conference Board of Education. This offering receives Annual Conference credit only. It is recommended that The General Conference authorize the continuance of a space in the Pastor's Report to the Annual Conference for reporting the amount of the offering.

5. Race Relations Sunday: The observance of Race Relations Sunday on the second Sunday in February includes an offering for the benefit of the Negro Schools related to the Methodist Board of Education. The Council recommends (1) the observance of this Sunday with an offering, and (2) that The General Conference authorize the continuance of the space in the Pastor's Report to the Annual Conference for reporting the offering.

6. Methodist Student Day: The Council on World Service and Finance recommends the approval of the observance of Methodist Student Day with an offering for the support of National Methodist Scholarships and the Student Loan Fund, the receipts from such offerings to be sent through the Annual Conference Treasurer to the Treasurer of the Board of Education of The Methodist Church in Nashville, Tennessee. It further recommends the continuance of a space in the Pastor's Report to the Annual Conference for reporting the amount of the offering.

REPORT NO. 9. COUNCIL ON WORLD SERVICE AND FINANCE

Adopted May 3, 1956. See Journal, Page 624.

Specific Duties Assigned

The Council on World Service and Finance, in reporting on specific duties assigned by the 1952 General Conference, presents the following Report.

Paragraph 737—1 Budgets: The World Service budget for the Council on World Service and Finance and for the World Service Agencies are found in Report No. 1.

Paragraph 737—2 Review of Audited Budgets: The Council has reviewed annually the proposed Budgets of the World Service Agencies, including the auditor's statement. A careful study has been made of the relationship of amounts used for Administration, Service, and Promotion.

Paragraph 737—3 Unnecessary Duplication of Activities and Program: The possible duplication or overlapping of activities or Programs has been given careful study. No withholding of funds has been necessary.

Paragraph 737—4 Use of Funds for Administration, Service and Promotion: The World Service Program "outlining the General Financial Objectives of the Church for the forthcoming quadrennium, and proposing the ratio distribution of World Service Funds among the participating Agencies" has been set forth in Report No. 1. Report No. 2 recommends Apportionments to the Annual Conferences. Attention here is given to the directive—"It shall indicate the proportion of World Service Funds to be used for Administration, Service and Promotion."

Before a study could be made of expenditures by the World Service Agencies for "Administration, Service, and Promotion," uniform accounting procedures had to be determined and agreed to by the Agencies involved. To secure uniform account classifications it has not been necessary to request the Agencies to change their accounting procedures. A uniform plan, identifying whether expenditures are for Administration, Service, or Promotion has been accepted by all. This has made it possible to get a picture of the financial operations of the entire Church in a way not previously possible. The continuation of uniform account classifications for the World Service Agencies is recommended.

The setting up of uniform account classifications was pioneering a new field. The auditors were unable to give much help because they had not previously encountered these problems of definition in the field of Church accounting. Their greatest help was the giving of approval to the accounting procedures developed by Dr. J. Homer Magee, whose responsibility it has been to put these new duties into operation.

Returning to the directive to indicate the amount to be apportioned each Agency for use in Administration, Service, and Promotion, your Council reports that as of its studies to date it is unable to indicate a percentage division which is uniformly applicable to each Agency. Because of the vast difference in size of Staff and the amounts of money available for service to the field, it is improbable that uniform percentages can be given. Before the final answer is framed, further study should be made.

In this Report to The General Conference, it can be said that each Agency has made a careful study of its own functions and that the percentage for Administration and in most cases for Promotion is lower now than it was at the beginning of the quadrennium. The Agencies should now be authorized to consider their current year percentage expenditures for Administration and Promotion as maximum, and encouraged to seek to further decrease the same. It should be borne in mind that there are times when an increased Budget may involve an increase in Administration, but usually this should not result in a percentage increase for Administration. There is also a temptation to expend more for Promotion (defined as direct appeals for financial aid). This should be discouraged.

While your Council is not prepared to recommend a percentage division of allocations to the World Service Agencies, it does propose, with the approval of The General Conference, the continued study of expenditures in the fields of Administration, Promotion and Service. It is convinced that a record of each Agency, accumulated over a period of years, will be an aid in the evaluation and classifications of its expenditures.

Paragraph 737—5 Special Days: The report on Special Days involving an Offering will be found in Report No. 8.

Paragraph 737—6 Responsibilities Assigned a Comptroller: The Council reports that Dr. J. Homer Magee has been named Comptroller. Uniform accounting classifications have been described in an earlier part of this Report. The Council has checked upon the acceptability of each auditing firm employed by the World Service Agencies and is pleased to report all are highly recommended. All the General Agencies observe the fiscal year ending on May 31.

Paragraph 737—7 Investment Policies: Investment funds have been carefully studied. Some suggestions have been made and accepted with thanks by the Agencies involved. The overall quality and investment policy of the World Service Agencies is most commendable.

Paragraph 737—8 Treasury Functions for World Service Agencies: The Central Treasury is performing the Treasury functions for the Board of Social and Economic Relations.

Paragraph 737—9 Investment Services for World Service Agencies: The Central Treasury is holding a small reserve for the Board of World Peace.

Paragraph 737—10 Committee on Wills, Bequests, and Gifts: The 1948 General Conference authorized the General Commission on World Service and Finance to set up a "Committee on Wills, Bequests, and Gifts." This responsibility was rephrased in the 1952 Discipline. The Council on World Service and Finance has created a Special Committee to guide the authorized Program and a Director has been named Director.

During the 1948-52 quadrennium a special mailing list was developed of persons who might leave a legacy to one or more of the General Agencies of the Church. These have received occasional mailings. The overall response has been good.

This quadrennium additional names have been added and the mailings have been continued. Two additional features have been added.

1. A contact has been made with the Local Church Committee on "Wills and Legacies" and a list of Chairmen developed.

2. Through co-operation with the Department of Stewardship and Benevolence of the National Council of Churches, materials for use in the Local Church Chairman are being developed. These include a Local Church Committee on "Wills and Legacies" Manual, a helpful filmstrip interpreted by a long playing record, pickup folders, interest cards, lists of the corporate titles of the World Service Agencies and special folders and letters to Methodist members encouraging them to remember the Church in their wills. A sample packet has been mailed each Pastor.

Also, your Committee on Wills, Bequests, and Gifts has joined with the National Council of Churches in a nationwide emphasis upon "Remember The Church In Your Will In 1956." This has received the approval of The Council of Bishops and the Council on World Service and Finance.

Your Committee on Wills, Bequests, and Gifts now requests of The General Conference approval of this special emphasis during the year 1956 and the granting of approval of a continued emphasis throughout the quadrennium.

Paragraph 737—11 Administration of Funds: Separate Reports are being made of the General Administration Fund, the Episcopal Fund, and the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund. See Reports 3, 4, and 5.

Paragraph 737—12 Distributable Income Held By the Board of Trustees:

Paragraph 737-12 of the 1952 Discipline, in listing the responsibilities of the Council on World Service and Finance, provides:

"12. It shall receive from the Board of Trustees of The Methodist Church a Report of the distributable income from undesignated funds held by the Board of Trustees, and shall recommend to The General Conference how such income shall be distributed."

In response to a letter to the Board of Trustees of The Methodist Church, the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Arnold A. Johnson, sent the Council a letter dated January 19, 1956 which listed the following funds:

Alverson Estate	$ 62.95
Gantt Estate	147.10
Hamilton Estate	30.26
McCardle Estate	14.19
Scoville Estate	5,753.68
Total	$6,008.18

RESOLUTION

Whereas this $6,008.18 has become available as interest from the monies given by the afore listed estates, and

Whereas such income should be used for some particular need of The Methodist Church rather than lost in a large distributable fund.

Therefore your Council on World Service and Finance recommends that, for this quadrennium only, the distributable income be added to principal of the Fund by The Board of Trustees of The Methodist Church.

REPORT NO. 10. COUNCIL ON WORLD SERVICE AND FINANCE

AMENDED May 7, 1956. See Journal, Page 905.

Adopted May 3, 1956. See Journal, Page 624.

MISCELLANEOUS RECOMMENDATIONS

The Council on World Service and Finance presents the following recommendations for which it seeks the approval of this General Conference.

1. World Service and Conference Benevolences

The Council views with concern the following trends in the raising of the General Benevolences, to which it calls attention.

a. On the Local Church level, an increasing number of churches are including their World Service and Conference Benevolences in a unified or single Budget; thus limiting the amount an individual donor may direct to the General Benevolences. Attention to the last sentence of Par. 240 of the 1952 Discipline which reads: "It is recommended that the Local Church expense and Benevolence Causes be set up separately, and that the people be given opportunity to subscribe to each cause."

b. On the Conference level there is a growing tendency to include "Administrative Items" in the Conference Benevolence Budget of the World Service and Conference Benevolences. We recommend that money needed for the Administrative Program of the Annual Conference be apportioned and raised separately from World Service and Conference Benevolences.

2. Budgets of Central Office and Council

The costs of the Central Office and Treasury and The Council on World Service and Finance are charged against World Service, the Episcopal Fund, the General Administration Fund and the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund in proportion to receipts. The recommended Annual Budgets are: Central Office and Treasurer $138,216.00; The Council on World Service and Finance, $20,000.00.

3. Budget of Commission on Promotion and Cultivation

The costs of the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation are distributed to the funds promoted by the Central Office of Promotion and Cultivation. This past quadrennium these included World Service, Advance Specials, the Week of Dedication, Fellowship of Suffering and Service, the Television Ministry, the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund, and the Bishops' Appeal for Korea. The Council recommends to The General Conference that the Annual Budget for the 1956-60 quadrennium be an annual sum not to exceed $631,370.00.

4. Authority to Adjust Budgets

It is further recommended, in order to meet changing conditions or emergencies, that the Council be authorized to adjust the foregoing Budgets as the emergencies or responsibilities placed upon these Agencies by The General Conference may require.

5. General Administration Fund

We recommend that the Central Receiving Treasurer keep a record of payments of the General Administration Fund as made by each Annual Conference, and that the deficit or surplus of one or more years be added or subtracted (as the case may be) to the Apportionment of the next succeeding year, the same to be based upon the World Service fiscal year, so that each Annual Conference shall be called upon to pay in full the amount Apportioned for the quadrennium. We recommend that any credit or deficit accruing to an Annual Conference at the close of the current fiscal year, May 31, 1956, shall be credited as a surplus or deficit (as the case may be) against the Apportionment for the 1956-60 quadrennium. We further recommend that the Council on World Service and Finance through its Central Treasury, inform the Church of the items included in the General Administration Fund. The payments made to this fund by the Annual Conferences shall be reported to the Bishops, District Superintendents, members of the Conference Commissions on World Service and Finance and Conference Treasurers as may be deemed necessary by the Central Treasury.

6. The Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund

We recommend that the Central Receiving Treasury be authorized to prepare information concerning the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund and present the same and such reports of receipts for this fund to the leadership of the Church, including the Conference Lay Leaders, as may be deemed necessary by the Council on World Service and Finance.

7. Validity of Claims

We recommend that the Council on World Service and Finance be authorized to determine the validity of claims in all matters involving the World Service Fund, the Episcopal Fund, the General Administration Fund and the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund where these are not specifically set forth or determined by The General Conference.

8. World Service Manual

The 1948 and the 1952 General Conferences authorized the Council on World Service and Finance to prepare a Manual for the guidance of the Annual Conference Commission on World Service and Finance. The Council reports that such a Manual has been prepared and that certain chapters for the guidance of Local Church Commissions on Finance and Local Church Treasurers were added. The Council on World Service and Finance now recommends that this Manual be revised and made available to Local Church and Annual Conference Commissions on Finance.

9. The Methodist Fact Book

The Council on World Service and Finance for several years has printed a supplement to its Annual Report which has been called "The Statistical Review and Financial Report." This past year this Report was enlarged and printed under the title of "The Methodist Fact Book." A printing of 5,000 has been exhausted and an additional 2,500 printed. It is evident this book is desired by many Methodists. Therefore the Council on World Service and Finance recommends that The General Conference authorize that a new "Methodist Fact Book" be prepared for distribution early in 1957 and a second in the Fall of 1959.

10. Apportionments Become Effective June 1, 1956

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE, HAVING GIVEN APPROVAL TO THE SEVERAL APPORTIONMENTS RECOMMENDED BY THE COUNCIL ON WORLD SERVICE AND FINANCE, AUTHORIZES THE CENTRAL TREASURY TO MAKE IMMEDIATE REPORT TO EACH ANNUAL CONFERENCE ON THE AMOUNTS APPORTIONED AND TO ADVISE EACH ANNUAL CONFERENCE THAT THE NEW APPORTIONMENTS BECOME EFFECTIVE AS OF JUNE 1, 1956.

RECOMMENDED LEGISLATION

The Council on World Service and Finance recommends Certain changes in the present Disciplinary legislation and some additional legislation. Careful consideration has been given these recommendations, first by the Sub-committee on Legislation and second by the entire Council. All changes and additions are in the interest of clarity of statement, uniformity of legislation, and the elimination of conflicting directives.

Here follow the recommended changes which are submitted for your consideration and action.

Subject: Local Church Committee on Wills and Legacies

Amend Paragraph 145 Sub-paragraph 9 of the 1952 Discipline which now reads:

"The Committee on Wills and Legacies, whose duty it shall be to keep before Methodist people and any others, by such means as the Committee may determine, the desirability of leaving bequests to the Local Church, or to other causes and Institutions of The Methodist Church. The Committee shall seek legal counsel to the end that bequests may be made in proper legal form."

By adding at the close of the foregoing Paragraph the following sentences:

"The Committee shall report the name and address of its Chairman to the Council on World Service and Finance so the Council may provide the Local Church Committee with suggested methods, materials, and procedures. In churches having a small membership, the duty of the Committee on Wills and Legacies may be assigned by the Commission on Finance."

The Paragraph as amended will then read:

"The Committee on Wills and Legacies, whose duty it shall be to keep before Methodist people and any others, by such means as the Committee may determine, the desirability of leaving bequests to the Local Church, or to other causes and Institutions of The Methodist Church. The Committee shall seek legal counsel to the end that bequests may be made in proper legal form. The Committee shall report the name and address of its Chairman to the Council on World Service and Finance so the Council may provide the Local Church Committee with suggested methods, materials, and procedures. In churches having a small membership, the duty of the Committee on Wills and Legacies may be assigned the Commission on Finance."

Subject: Annual Conference Journals

Whereas the Council on World Service and Finance furnishes free to each Annual Conference the Pastor's Report Blanks and the General Report Blanks for the Bishop, Conference Secretary, the Statistician, and Treasurer, and

Whereas the last sentence in Paragraph 637-1 of the 1952

Discipline lacks clarity of intent as it now reads, namely:

"The Annual Conference shall also send to the Council on World Service and Finance and to the Director of Statistics (Par. 1120-5) a printed or written copy of the Annual Journal signed by the President and Secretary of the Annual Conference."

Therefore Be it Resolved, That this sentence be amended so as to read

"The Annual Conference shall send to the Council on World Service and Finance two printed or written copies of the Annual Journal signed by the President and Secretary of the Annual Conference; one copy being for the Director of Statistics and the other for the File of Pastors and Church Officials."

Subject: Naming of Funds: Not Now Included

Whereas certain new Funds have come into the Program of The Methodist Church since Paragraph 735 of the 1952 Discipline was first incorporated in the legislations, and

Whereas it is desirable to have a complete directive for the Council on World Service and Finance

Therefore it is recommended that the second sentence of Paragraph 735 of the 1952 Discipline be amended as hereinafter indicated:

Insert the words—Including World Service Special Gifts and Advance Special Gifts—immediately following the phrase: (1) The World Service Fund, and the words (5) The Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief Funds, (6) The Fellowship of Suffering and Service Fund, (7) The Week of Dedication Fund—immediately following the phrase The Inter-denominational Co-operation Fund, so that the sentence as amended shall read—

"This Council shall through its central Office receive and disburse, in accordance with the directions hereinafter set forth, all Funds raised throughout the Church for World Service Special Gifts (1) The World Service Fund, including and Advance Special gifts, (2) The General Administration Fund, (3) The Episcopal Fund (4) The Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund, (5) The Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief Funds, (6) the Fellowship of Suffering and Service Fund, (7) the Week of Dedication fund, and (8) Any other Fund or Funds as directed by the proper authority.

Subject: Corrections of Paragraph 737

Amend Paragraph 737-1 by changing the word "Commission" in the next to the last line on page 194 to the word "Council."

Amend Paragraph 737-2 by adding to the first sentence which reads:

2. "It shall require annually, one month in advance of its annual meeting, or as often as is deemed necessary, statements of proposed Budgets," the words "of all Agencies receiving General Church Funds."

Further amend paragraph 737-3 by deleting the words "WORLD SERVICE" in the last sentence of this Paragraph and substituting in their place the word "such."

Amend Paragraph 737-3 by deleting the words:

"World Service Budget which in its judgment represents unnecessary duplication of activities or Programs within a World Service Agency or between two or more of them."

and in their place substituting the words:

Budget or Budgets of Agencies receiving General Church Funds which in its judgment represents unnecessary duplication of activities or Programs within such Agency or between two or more of them." from (See Par. 783) to (See Par. 784).

Correct the reference in Paragraph 737-3. Also add to Paragraph 737-3 a reference to (see Par. 1115-1.)

Amend Paragraph 737-6 by deleting in each case the words "World Service Agencies" and substituting for the first use of these words, the words: All Agencies receiving General Church Funds and for the second use of these words the word: any such and by inserting in the second sentence following the words, "and procedures" the words for reporting.

Amend Paragraph 737-7 by deleting the words each World Service Agency and substituting therefor the words All Agencies receiving General Church Funds.

Amend Paragraph 737-8 by deleting the words "World Service" and substituting therefor the words "General"

Amend Paragraph 737-9 by deleting the words "World Service" and substituting therefor the words "General" so that Paragraph 737 with all its Sub-sections shall read:

"The Council on World Service and Finance shall have the authority and responsibility to perform the following functions:

1. It shall submit to each quadrennial session of The General Conference, for its action and determination, a Budget of Annual Expense for its own operation and for the World Service Agencies for the ensuing quadrennium. The expenses of the Council, including the expense of the Central office, shall be a first claim against the World Service Fund, the General Administration Fund, the Episcopal Fund, and the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund; and the total expense shall be prorated annually to each in proportion to the amount received on the account of each during the fiscal year. Out of funds thus provided the Treasurer shall pay the expenses of the Council, including the expense of the Central Office, and shall keep a true and accurate account thereof.

2. It shall require annually, one month in advance of its annual meeting, or as is deemed necessary, statements of proposed budgets of all Agencies receiving General Church Funds. It shall also require certified public accountant audits annually of all Treasuries receiving General Church Funds through the Central Treasury. (See Par. 781.). It shall review in each such Agency Budget the amount for Administration, Service and Promotion, with a view to maintaining a proper balance among the various parts of the Budgets.

3. It shall withhold approval of any item or items for inclusion in the Budget or Budgets receiving General Church Funds which in its judgments represents unnecessary duplication of activities or programs within such Agency or between two or more of them. (See Par. 784 and 1115-1.)

4. It shall recommend to The General Conference, for its action and determination, a World Service Program outlining the General Financial Objectives of the Church for the forthcoming quadrennium, and proposing the ratio distribution of World Service Funds among the participating Agencies. It shall indicate the proportion of World Service Funds to be used for Administration, Service, and Promotion. It shall recommend Apportionments to the Annual Conferences, subject to the approval of The General Conference.

5. It shall consult with the Co-ordinating Council and The Council of Bishops relative to the number and timing of all Special Days which are to be observed on a Church-wide basis. After such consultation the Co-ordinating Council shall make appropriate recommendations to The General Conference. Between sessions of The General Conference The Council of Bishops and the Council on World Service and Finance may, in an emergency, authorize a Financial Appeal.

6. It shall have authority to employ a Comptroller. It shall require all Agencies receiving General Church Funds to follow uniform accounting classifications and procedures for reporting and to submit a yearly audit following such auditing procedures as the Council may specify. The Council shall have the authority to pass upon the acceptability of any auditing firm proposed by any such Agency for handling its yearly audit. All General Agencies of the Church shall observe a uniform fiscal year ending on May 31.

7. It shall review the investment policies of all agencies receiving General Church Funds with respect to permanent funds and shall require that Christian as well as sound economic principles in the handling of investment funds be observed.

8. After consultation with the Agency, it shall perform or arrange facilities for handling the Treasury functions for any General Agency which is not large enough to have a full-time Treasurer and the financial policies of which are not approved by the Council. The cost of such service shall be charged to the Agency.

9. On the request of a General Agency, it shall hold and invest funds allocated to it when such funds are not intended for current expenditure by that Agency. It shall also hold and invest funds for any General Agency which does not have an Investment Program approved by the Council.

10. It is authorized to set up a Committee on Wills, Bequests, and Gifts. This Committee shall take such actions as may be deemed necessary to encourage Methodists to provide for their continued interest in World Service, or in one or more of the World Service Agencies, through bequests and gifts. The income from these sources, where the recipient Agency is not designated, shall be used as determined by the Council. The expenses of this Committee shall be a part of the prior claim for promotion of World Service causes.

11. It shall administer the General Administration Fund (Par. 765-68), the Episcopal Fund (Par. 769-76), and the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund (Par. 778).

12. It shall receive from the Board of Trustees of The Methodist Church a Report of the distributable income from undesignated funds held by the Board of Trustees, and shall recommend to The General Conference how such income should be distributed."

Subject: Committee on Wills, Bequests, and Gifts

Amend Paragraph 737-10, which authorizes the Council on World Service and Finance to set up a Committee on Wills, Bequests, and Gifts by adding at the close of the Paragraph the following sentence:

"The Committee is authorized to co-operate with the Quarterly Conference Committee on Wills and Legacies in such ways as may be deemed mutually helpful."

so that the Paragraph as amended shall read:

"Paragraph 737-10: It is authorized to set up a Committee on Wills, Bequests, and Gifts. This Committee shall take such actions as may be deemed necessary to encourage Methodists to provide for their continued interest in World Service, or in one or more of the World Service Agencies, through bequests and gifts. The income from these sources, where the recipient Agency is not designated, shall be used as determined by the Council. The expenses of this Committee shall be a part of the prior claim for promotion of World Service Causes. The Committee is authorized to co-operate with the Quarterly Conference Committee on Wills and Legacies in such ways as may be deemed mutually helpful."

Subject: Clarification and Listing of General Funds

Correct Paragraph 738 by deleting the word "Chairman" found in the last line on page 196 and substituting therefor the word: President. (See Paragraph 792 for the foregoing correction.)

Amend Paragraph 738 by deleting the last "and" used in the first sentence and by adding to the first sentence the words: and such other Funds as may have been apportioned by The General Conference.

Further amend Paragraph 738 by adding the names of the following authorized funds not now included in the legislation: the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, the Fellowship of Suffering and Service, the Week of Dedication.

So that the corrected and amended Paragraph shall read:

"Paragraph 738. The Treasurer of the Council on World Service and Finance shall, not less than thirty days prior to the session of each Annual Conference, transmit to the presiding Bishop thereof, to the President of the Conference Commission on World Service and Finance, and to the Conference Treasurer a statement of the Apportionments to the Conference for the World Service Fund, the General Administration Fund, the Episcopal Fund, the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund, and such other Funds as may have been apportioned by The General Conference. (See Par. 749, 767, 771, 778.) He shall keep an account of all funds remitted to him by the Annual Conference Treasurers and from other sources intended (1) for the World Service Fund, (2) for the General Administration Fund, (3) for the Episcopal Fund, (4) for the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund, (5) the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, (6) the Fellowship of Suffering and Service, (7) the Week of Dedication, and (8) for any other Fund so directed by the proper authority, and shall disburse the same as authorized by The General Conference and directed by the Council on World Service and Finance. A separate account shall be kept of each such Fund, and none of them shall be drawn on for the benefit of another. The fiscal year for the Council and for the several Funds, Boards, and Agencies related to it, shall be from June 1 to May 31 inclusive."

Subject: The Reporting of Special Gifts

Whereas it is important to the work of the Church to have a complete Report of all Funds received by the General Agencies of the Church.

Therefore it is recommended that Paragraph 746 be amended by adding the following at the close of the Paragraph.

"All gifts, whether for special appeals, bequests, gifts on the annuity plan AT MATURITY or gifts for property made to or administered by a General Agency of the Church, shall be acknowledged by a World Service special gift voucher, except that gifts in any of the foregoing classifications for THE DIVISIONS OF WORLD AND NATIONAL MISSIONS OF the GENERAL Board of Missions or the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief shall be acknowledged by an advance Special gift voucher."

Subject: Inclusion of Special Services in the General Administration Fund

Amend the first sentence of Paragraph 765 by adding the words, File of Pastors and Church Officials, of the Transportation Bureau, so that the Paragraph as amended shall read—

"Paragraph 765: The General Administration Fund shall provide for the expenses of the sessions of The General Conference, of The Judicial Council, of the Statistical Office (Par. 1120-5), of the File of Pastors and Church Officials, of the Transportation Bureau, (Par. 1120-7) and of such General Conference Commissions and Committees as may be constituted by The General Conference, and for such Inter-church Causes and other activities as may be authorized by The General Conference other than those provided for under the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund (Par. 778). Any Board, Agency, or Institution requiring or desiring support from the General Administration Fund shall present its case for the same to the Council on World Service and Finance at a time and place which shall be indicated by the Officers of the Council. The Council, having heard such requests, shall report the same to The General Conference with recommendations for its action and determination.

Subject: Method of Apportioning General Administration Fund

Amend the first sentence of Paragraph 767 by deleting the words by the same ratio and percentage that each Conference shares in the total World Service Budget and in their place adding the words—

“By such ratio and percentage to the total giving (not including the payment of debts or church buildings) as recorded in the General Minutes for first three years of the quadrennium closing with the current session of The General Conference, and as is necessary to raise the Approved Annual Budget.”

so the Paragraph as amended shall read:

“The Council on World Service and Finance shall apportion among the several Annual Conferences of the Church the total General Administration Budget, as approved by The General Conference, by such ratio and percentage to the total giving (not including the payment of debts or church buildings) as recorded in the General Minutes for first three years of the quadrennium closing with the current session of The General Conference, and as is necessary to raise the Approved Annual Budget. The Apportionments for the General Administration Budget shall not be subject to change or revision either by the Annual Conference or by the Charge or Local Church.”

Subject: Clarification of Legislation Relating to Apportionment of Episcopal Fund

Amend the sentence in the last half of Paragraph 771 which now reads

cash salaries paid to the Pastors and Associate Pastors serving Charges under Episcopal Appointment or as Supply Pastors, as reported at the last session of the Annual Conference."

by deleting the words "at the last" and substituting the words "To the current"

so that the sentence as amended shall read:

"The Apportionment to each Annual Conference shall be an amount equal to the approved percentage of the total cash salaries paid to the Pastors and Associate Pastors serving Charges under Episcopal Appointment or as Supply Pastors, as reported to the current session of the Annual Conference."

Subject: Listing of Funds Not Now Included in Legislation

Amend Paragraph 1120-1 to include the words set forth in capital letters so that the Paragraph as amended shall read:

"1. Receive and disburse, in accordance with Budgets approved by The General Conference, or its properly authorized Agency, the General Funds of the Church raised for the World Service Fund, including World Service Special gifts and Advance Special gifts. The General Administration Fund, the Episcopal Fund, the Inter-Denominational Cooperation Fund, the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief fund, the Fellowship of Suffering and Service fund, the Week of Dedication fund, and any other Funds as directed by the proper authority. (These responsibilities are also described in Paragraphs 737 and 740)."

Subject: Harmonize Terminology So That Each Will Be Described As A Department

Amend the first sentence in Paragraph 1120-5 so as to read:

"Maintain and supervise under the direction of its Executive Secretary a Department known as the Statistical Office of The Methodist Church."

Amend the first Sentence in Paragraph 1120-7 so as to read:

"Maintain and supervise under the direction of its Executive Secretary a department known as the Transportation Office."

Subject: Cost of Maintaining "File of Pastors and Church Officials" a Charge Against General Administration Fund

Amend Paragraph 1120-8 by deleting the word "file" and

the words "Central Treasury," as used in third sentence which reads, "The cost of maintaining such a file shall be a charge against the Central Treasury," and substituting in their place the word "service" and the words "General Administration Fund" so that the sentence as amended shall read:

"The cost of maintaining such a service shall be a charge against the General Administration Fund."

Subject: Service Department

Amend Paragraph 1120 of the 1952 "Discipline" by adding a Paragraph numbered "10" reading as follows:

10. Operate, under the supervision of its Executive Secretary, a Department known as the Shipping and Service Department. It shall be the function of this Department to maintain such addressing, packaging, mailing and duplicating service as may be deemed necessary to provide these services for the General Agencies. The Executive Secretary shall co-operate with the Executive Director of the Commission on Promotion and Cultivation in scheduling the general mailings to Pastors, this being in the interest of a proper spacing of the same. The Executive Secretary is also authorized and directed to make equitable charges to the Agencies using these services.

Amend Paragraph 148 by substituting for the last sentence the following:

These expenses when provided for shall be classified as current expenses and so reported in the Pastor's Report to the Annual Conference. See also Paragraph 829.)

Add a second sentence to Paragraph 829 as follows:

These expenses shall be distinguished from the moving expenses of a new Appointee to a Pastoral Charge which shall be reported as provided in Paragraph 148.

By adding the following words "and when deemed desirable a Financial Secretary" the same to be inserted immediately following the clause "... a Treasurer or Treasurers (Par. 242), ..." so that the amended Paragraph shall read:

"The Board shall be organized annually by the election of a Chairman, a Vice-Chairman, a Recording Secretary, a Treasurer or Treasurers (Par. 242) and when deemed desirable, a Financial Secretary, and a Church Lay Leader (Par. 262). These Officers shall be elected by the members of the Board on the nomination of a Committee on Nominations. Additional nominations may be made from the floor."

Further amend Paragraph 241 Sub-paragraph 3 by adding to the Paragraph the words If a Financial Secretary has been elected by the Official Board, these records shall be kept by the Officer.

So that the Paragraph as amended shall read:

"Paragraph 241 Sub-paragraph 3: All payments on pledges shall be credited to the donors and a proper account shall be kept of each subscriber and contributor. If a Financial Secretary has been elected by the Official Board, these records shall be kept by said Officer."

When a Financial Secretary is not elected, these reports will be made by the Treasurer or Treasurers."

The amended Sub-paragraphs of Paragraph 241 will then read:

the words "Central Treasury," as used in third sentence which reads, "The cost of maintaining such a file shall be a charge against the Central Treasury," and substituting in their place the word "service" and the words "General Administration Fund" so that the sentence as amended shall read:

"The cost of maintaining such a service shall be a charge against the General Administration Fund."

Subject: Service Department

Therefore, Be It Resolved That the following additions be made to the legislation relative to the Official Board as now appearing in the 1952 Discipline. Amend Paragraph 212 which now reads "The Board shall be organized annually by the election of a Chairman, a Vice-Chairman, a Recording Secretary, a Treasurer or Treasurers (Par. 242), and a Church Lay Leader (Par. 262). These Officers shall be elected by the members of the Board on the nomination of a Committee on Nominations. Additional nominations may be made from the floor."

By adding the following words "and when deemed desirable a Financial Secretary" the same to be inserted immediately following the clause ". . . a Treasurer or Treasurers (Par. 242), . . ." so that the amended Paragraph shall read:

"The Board shall be organized annually by the election of a Chairman, a Vice-Chairman, a Recording Secretary, a Treasurer or Treasurers (Par. 242) and when deemed desirable, a Financial Secretary, and a Church Lay Leader (Par. 262). These Officers shall be elected by the members of the Board on the nomination of a Committee on Nominations. Additional nominations may be made from the floor."

Further amend Paragraph 241 Sub-paragraph 3 by adding to the Paragraph the words If a Financial Secretary has been elected by the Official Board, these records shall be kept by the Officer.

So that the Paragraph as amended shall read:

"Paragraph 241 Sub-paragraph 3: All payments on pledges shall be credited to the donors and a proper account shall be kept of each subscriber and contributor. If a Financial Secretary has been elected by the Official Board, these records shall be kept by said Officer."

Further amend Paragraph 241 Sub-paragraph 8 of the 1952 Discipline by making it Paragraph 9. In turn Paragraph 9 will become Paragraph 10. Sub-paragraph 8 shall then read:

"A Report shall be made by the Financial Secretary to the Board each month and to the Quarterly Conference, when requested, of all receipts by the Financial Secretary and of the disbursements made to the Treasurer or Treasurers of the Board. When a Financial Secretary is not elected, these reports will be made by the Treasurer or Treasurers."

The amended Sub-paragraphs of Paragraph 241 will then read:

"8. A Report shall be made by the Financial Secretary of the Board each month and to the Quarterly Conference when requested of all receipts by the Financial Secretary and of the disbursements made to the Treasurer or Treasurers of the Board. When a Financial Secretary is not elected, these Reports will be made by the Treasurer or Treasurers.

"(9) Reports shall be made by the Treasurer or Treasurers to the Board each month and to the Quarterly Conference when requested of all receipts and disbursements and of unpaid obligations against the Budget.

"(10) It shall be the continuing duty of the Commission to inform the congregation of the financial needs of the church."

Reference to Certified Public Accountant Audit:

Whereas the last sentence in Paragraph 803 of the 1952 Discipline reads:

"The Commission shall have the accounts of the Conference Treasurer for the Conference year preceding audited by a Certified Public Accountant within ninety days after the close of each session of the Annual Conference."

And Whereas this Paragraph has not been noted in the business of the Annual Conference as given in Paragraph 651-1-3b which now reads:

(b) Have the books of said Officers or persons been audited? (Par. 637-3).

Therefore Be It Resolved, That this Paragraph be corrected by adding the statement "and 803" so that the Paragraph as corrected shall read:

(b) Have the books of said Officers or persons been audited (Par. 637-~~and~~ 803).

Funds to Be Transmitted to Central Treasury:

Amend Paragraph 804 by amending the fourth sentence line 14 which reads "He shall remit monthly to the Treasurer of the Council on World Service and Finance the total share received by him for World Service and the total received by him for the General Fund, the Episcopal Fund, and the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund, and other General Causes," and adding two more sentences so that the amended and added sentences shall read:

"He shall remit monthly to the Treasurer of the Council on World Service and Finance, the total share received by him for World Service, the World Service Special gifts, the Advance Special gifts, and the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief Funds. When the amount contributed during the year for World Service and Conference Benevolences exceeds the amount apportioned to or accepted by the Annual Conference, the entire share contributed for World Service shall be remitted in regular order to the Treasurer of the Council on World Service and Finance before the end of the fiscal year.

(Par. 241-(6). He shall transmit monthly to the Treasurer of the Council on World Service and Finance the amounts received and payable for the General Administration Fund, the Episcopal fund, the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund, the Fellowship of Suffering and Service, the Week of Dedication, the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, and all other General Causes not otherwise directed.

The remainder of the Paragraph is the same as printed in the 1952 Discipline.

Right of Treasurer to Attend Meetings of the Conference Commission on World Service and Finance.

Amend the sentence in Paragraph 792 which reads:

"The Treasurer, who is an employee of the Commission, shall not be a member of it."

by adding the words—

"but may sit with the Commission and its Executive Committee at all sessions and may have right to the floor without the privilege of voting"

so that the sentence as amended shall read:

"The Treasurer, who is an employee of the Commission, shall not be a member of it, but may sit with the Commission and its Executive Committee at all sessions and may have right to the floor without the privilege of voting."

Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund

Amend Paragraph 800 starting with the words "General Administration Fund (Par. 767)" by adding the words "and the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund" so that the Paragraph as amended shall read: "Paragraph 800. The Conference Commission on World Service and Finance on receiving from the Council on World Service and Finance a statement of the amount apportioned to the Annual Conference for the General Administration Fund (Par. 767) and the Inter-Denominational Co-operation Fund, shall apportion the same to the several Districts or Charges as the Conference may direct (Par. 769).

Deletion of the words "and the materials authorized by the Council."

Amend the last sentence in Par. 1120-5 which now reads:

"The General Minutes and the materials authorized by the Council shall be printed and published by the Methodist Publishing House."

by deleting the words and the materials so that the sentence as amended shall read:

"The General Minutes as authorized by the Council shall be printed and published by the Methodist Publishing House."

Personnel Registration Bureau.

Deletion of Par. 1120 (9)

Delete Paragraph 1120(9) which reads: "Maintain, if it so determines, a Personnel Registration Bureau, which shall serve as a clearing center for persons seeking positions with the General Agencies, and supply information about such candidates to interested Agencies."

RESOLUTION

Whereas The Fellowship of Suffering and Service, established by the Bishops near the beginning of the second World War, is rendering a very valuable service to the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, the Commission on Chaplains and the Commission on Camp Activities, and

Whereas this Fund should be continued as a Benevolence of The Methodist Church, and

Whereas the method of raising the funds for the Agencies involved has received general acceptance by the Local Churches,

Therefore Be It Resolved, That a Paragraph appropriately numbered to follow Paragraph 2035 of the 1952 "Discipline" be inserted to read as follows:

Paragraph : The Fellowship of Suffering and Service.

The General Conference of The Methodist Church recognizes the valuable service rendered through the offerings for "The Fellowship of Suffering and Service" and recommends that it be continued until such time it may be deemed no longer needed; this decision to be made either by a future

General Conference, or if between sessions of The General Conference, the decision to be made by a three-fourths vote of The Council of Bishops and the Council on World Service and Finance; each meeting separately. Each Local Church is requested to transmit to the Conference Treasurer or to the Central Treasury, 740 Rush Street, Chicago 11, Illinois, under the designation of the Fellowship of Suffering and Service ALL the Offering taken on Worldwide Communion Sunday and a portion of the Offerings taken at subsequent observances of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. The Central Treasury is authorized to distribute the receipts for the Fellowship of Suffering and Service on the basis of 50% to the Methodist Committee for Overseas Relief, 25% to the Commission on Chaplains, and 25% to the Commission on Camp Activities.

SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO. 11. COUNCIL ON WORLD SERVICE AND FINANCE

Adopted May 3, 1956. See Journal, Pages 625; 634; 648-651.

WHEN FINANCIAL STATEMENT MAY BE APPROVED

Amend Paragraph 722 of the 1952 "Discipline" by deleting in the last sentence the words following the word "annually" and substituting therefor the following—by a recognized Public or Certified Public Accountant so that the sentence will read:

"The accounts of such persons shall be audited at least annually by a recognized Public or Certified Public Accountant."

Further amend Paragraph 722 by adding the statement in the Digest of Decision number 77 of The Judicial Council which reads as follows:

A Report to an Annual Conference, containing a financial statement which the "Discipline" requires to be audited, should not be approved until the audit is made and the financial statement is shown to be correct. Other parts of the Report may be approved pending such audit.

so that the entire Paragraph number 722 shall read:

"All persons holding trust funds, securities, or moneys of any kind belonging to The General Conference or to Annual or Provisional Annual Conferences or to those Organizations under the control of The General, Annual, or Provisional Annual Conferences shall be bonded in a reliable company in such good and sufficient sum as that Conference may direct. The accounts of such persons shall be audited at least annually by a recognized Public or Certified Public Accountant. A Report to an Annual Conference, containing a financial statement which the "Discipline" requires to be audited, should not be approved until the audit is made and the financial statement is shown to be correct. Other parts of the Report may be approved pending such audit."

RESOLUTIONS OF APPRECIATION

Judicial Council Members

Dr. Walter Coleman Buckner

Rev. Doctor Walter Coleman Buckner, on September 12, 1953, suddenly left his house of clay and took up his abode in the "house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

For 45 years he was an able and effective minister in The Methodist Church, serving several of the best churches in California.

His genius for organization and administration was recognized by his Conference in being called to serve as Superintendent of three of the most important Districts of that Area, viz.: Pasadena, Long Beach, and Los Angeles.

His business acumen and good judgment commanded the attention of several educational and philanthropic institutions where he served as a Trustee or Member of the Board of Directors.

His keen mind, clear thinking and passion for fair dealing in all human relationships qualified him for membership in the National Panel of Arbitrators and the American Arbitration Association.

All these qualifications, together with a fine brotherly Christian spirit, were recognized by his Conference in his election to The General Conference in 1932, 1936, and The Uniting Conference in 1939.

His judicial mind, his wide experience in every department of Church work and his penetrating insight into the fundamental law and Discipline of the Church made him eminently qualified for membership on the Committee on Judiciary of The General Conference of The Methodist Episcopal Church and the logical choice of The Uniting Conference for Membership on The Judicial Council of The Methodist Church.

The whole Methodist Church has sustained a great loss in the death of this good minister of Jesus Christ.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by The Judicial Council of The Methodist Church, meeting in Dallas, Texas, on July 19, 1954:

1. That we record our deep sense of loss in the passing of our colleague and Vice-President, Dr. Walter Coleman Buckner;

2. That we recognize and remember gratefully his contribution to this body, his keen analysis of the cases brought to our attention, his fairness to all persons and causes involved and his ability to write his considered judgment with clarity and precision;

3. That we record especially our appreciation of the years of fine fellowship we were privileged to have with this good man, whose gracious personality, fine sense of humor and Christian brotherliness endeared him to all of us; and

4. That we express to Mrs. Buckner and family our deepest sympathy in their loss of a husband and father, and that a copy of this Resolution be sent to Mrs. Buckner and be recorded in the minutes of the Judicial Council.

Dr. John Taylor Alton

Dr. Charles B. Ketcham

The Judicial Council of The Methodist Church assembled on Thursday, June 25, 1953, in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, has a feeling of loneliness reminding us of the untimely passing of our distinguished and beloved comrade and Secretary, Dr. Charles B. Ketcham.

Dr. Ketcham was elected to membership upon The Judicial Council at the session of The General Conference held in Kansas City in 1944. He was a Member of the North-East Ohio Annual Conference and was a member of the Clerical Delegation from that Conference to the 1944 session of The General Conference. He was destined to render a distinct service to the Church during a comparatively short tenure of membership upon The Council.

Dr. Ketcham, long time President of Mt. Union College, Alliance, Ohio, served his Conference and the Church with distinction and honor in various capacities over a period of years cut short by his death. The making of a record of his achievement and service in general must be left to others. The Judicial Council of The Methodist Church takes this method of making a record of his service to the Church as a Member and Officer of The Council, and of expressing for permanent record the esteem, appreciation and affection held by each Member of The Council for our beloved and honored friend and colleague, now deceased.

From the very beginning of Dr. Ketcham's service upon The Council it was evident to the other Members that he possessed a judicial mind, an understanding heart and an unusual power of reason and judgment. His winsome personality and his cultured and gracious spirit endeared him to everyone. These with his ability and power of discernment marked him for a place of leadership in The Council.

In 1948 Dr. Ketcham was elected as Secretary of The Judicial Council, taking the place of Hon. Henry R. Van Deusen, who across a period of nine years had left a brilliant record of service. Dr. Ketcham proved himself to be a worthy successor of his illustrious predecessor, and for the succeeding five years conducted the office of Secretary of The Judicial Council with painstaking care and efficiency. The records of our proceedings were kept with accuracy. The Decisions were edited and released with dispatch. The correspondence of the office, heavy at times, was carried on with clarity and dignity. He reflected credit upon the office and distinguished himself as a great servant of the Church he loved.

At The General Conference held at San Francisco in 1952 Dr. Ketcham was re-elected to membership upon The Judicial Council for a term of eight years and was also re-elected as its Secretary. He was not destined, however, to serve out this term.

On the morning of April 2, 1953 summons to his eternal reward came.

Night slipped into dawn,
Pain merged into beauty.
Bright grew the road
His sturdy feet had trod.
He gave his salutation
To the morning
And found himself
Before the face of God.

—Goethe

On Monday, April 6, 1953, services in his memory were conducted in the First Methodist Church in Alliance, Ohio, by Bishop Hazen G. Werner and others. The Judicial Council was represented at these services by the presence of John Taylor Alton, J. Ernest Wilkins and Marvin A. Childers, Members of The Council.

We shall miss our departed friend in our meetings. Nothing was ever left undone in the preparation for our gatherings. Not the slightest detail was overlooked or neglected. His genial smile and the warmth of his greeting set the pattern for our deliberations.

Noble in spirit, firm in conviction, kind and charitable in debate, and sound in judgment—these were the qualities that distinguished him as a member of The Council and as a great servant of The Church. A Christian gentleman, an able jurist, an officer of fidelity, and an honored and beloved friend—these are the terms that express our deliberate appraisal of our departed brother and associate in the work of the Church.

Dr. Walter Albert Stanbury

Walter Albert Stanbury was born in Boone, North Carolina, on January 27, 1884. He died on March 20, 1954. The years between were filled with a life rich in faithful service to his fellowmen whom he recognized to be the children of God, to whom his life was dedicated in love and effectiveness.

Dr. Stanbury received his A.B. degree from Trinity College, now a department of Duke University, in 1908. He did graduate study in Columbia University. Duke University and the University of North Carolina both conferred upon him the merited Doctor of Divinity degree in the year of 1928. He was married to Zula Virginia Bruton on December 29, 1909 and to this happy union there were born two sons and one daughter. His wife and children survived him.

Dr. Stanbury began his service to humanity as a teacher in 1908, the year of his graduation from Trinity. He was ordained in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South in 1910; and from that time throughout a full and fruitful ministry he held important pastorates in his Conference including the University Church at Chapel Hill, Edenton Street Church at Raleigh, Central Church at Asheville, and Duke Memorial Church at Durham, and also served a term of six years as Gastonia District Superintendent. He was Professor of Practical Theology, Duke University, from 1929 to 1933.

Beyond the duties of his pastorates, he served as a Trustee of Duke University, as a member of the North Carolina Conference Board of Christian Education, and on the Conference Board of Missions. He was a Delegate to The General Conference in 1930 in The Methodist Episcopal Church, South; a Member of The Uniting Conference in 1939; and a Member of The General Conferences of our reunited Methodism in 1940, 1944 and 1948. He also wrote books and articles, being a contributor to leading Church publications.

His vision of the Kingdom embraced those Christians other than Methodists, and his Inter-Denominational services included membership in the Commission on Inter-Denominational Relations of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; membership in the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, and for a term he was President of the North Carolina Council of Churches of Christ.

Services to his State include the Vice-Chairmanship of the North Carolina State Board of Correction and Training and the Vice-Presidency of the North Carolina Commission on Inter-Racial Relations, on which Commission he served from 1931 to 1948.

In 1948 he was elected to The Judicial Council of The Methodist Church and died as an effective and beloved Member of this body in 1954.

He was one of our number whose wisdom was highly esteemed, whose brotherly love has been deeply impressed within our hearts, whose character was genuinely Christian with its unquestionable influence upon those with whom he came in contact. His departure for the Heavenly Home leaves a void in the lives of friends and loved ones which can never be filled.

The Judicial Council of The Methodist Church meeting in Dallas, Texas, on Monday, July 19, 1954, herewith expresses sorrow in Dr. Stanbury's loss from our membership and sincere regret at his departure from the midst of numerous friends and loved ones but yields in loving obedience to the Divine will in calling him home where sorrows and regrets no longer abound, and where Christian living somehow appears to mature in sweetness and purity not dreamed possible in earthly abodes.

Be It Resolved by The Judicial Council of The Methodist Church in session this date that we spread on our minutes the above statement and send a copy to members of the bereaved family.
